INTRODUCTION

The purpose of this book is to identify the most common trouble spots for English language learners, to provide a basis for understanding why these trouble spots cause difficulties, and to offer guidance and practice for avoiding potential errors.

Many errors commonly made by speakers and learners of a second language are caused by transferring patterns and features of the native language to the new language. This happens in all aspects of language from pronunciation to word formation to sentence structure:

Difficulty saying an English sound arises because the first language does not have such a sound.

Double letters are omitted from English words because the first language's spelling system does not have double letters.

Verb endings to show tense or noun endings to show plurals are omitted because the first language does not add such suffixes to these words.

Adjectives are placed after, rather than before, nouns because the first language follows that pattern.

"Taller from" is said instead of "taller than" because that's the pattern in the first language.

Another source of error is the learning process itself. That is, learners tend to overapply or misapply patterns and rules in the new language, do not learn exceptions to the rules, or do not apply the rules fully. Here are examples of these kinds of errors:

Applying the regular -ed past-tense ending to irregular verbs: I goed home early yesterday.

Using more with the adjective heavy (which requires the -er ending) because the rule that two-syllable adjectives ending in -y use -er, not more, was not fully learned.

Using asleep in front of a noun because the rule that a certain small group of adjectives, including asleep, are used only after a linking verb was not fully learned.

In this book, you will find help with these and many more common errors through explanation and example. You will become aware of potential trouble spots and learn how to break the habits, learn the necessary rules, and correct your mistakes. Several examples are given for each topic, followed by exercises that test your understanding and help you avoid the pitfalls.

This book is divided into two parts: Pronunciation and Spelling and Grammar. The largest section is Grammar, which identifies the various parts of speech in traditional terminology for ease of comprehension. Each term is explained and illustrated with multiple examples, providing necessary review or clarification.

Throughout this book, all errors are presented in red type and marked by an X. For maximum clarity, all errors are corrected, and each corrected version is presented with a  $\checkmark$ .

The guidelines in this book are based on current standard usage in North America. However, usage varies according to region and other variables, and language is constantly changing. In cases where variants exist for formal and informal situations, details are provided.

Because individual words of a language are used in connection with other words, you will find that many topics are mentioned in more than one place. Extensive cross-referencing will help you find connections between related topics. Topics and lists are presented in logical order. For example, irregular verbs are presented in groups of verbs that follow similar patterns. Comparative and superlative forms of adjectives are presented in logical groupings according to how they are formed and spelled. Verb tenses are presented in order from the present tense to modal verbs. Complex syntactic patterns, such as the passive voice, are presented at the end of the volume, after all the prerequisite knowledge has been presented. In addition, the back of the book includes a comprehensive and detailed index, which serves as a guide to locating all the references to each topic, as well as a key with the answers to all the exercises.

I hope that the materials presented in this book will help you improve your proficiency in English and avoid the most common and vexing errors in English.

USING THIS BOOK

There are many ways to use this book:

Take the Pretest at the start of the book (new to this second edition) and use the Answer Key study plan on pages ix-xxii to find the topics and sections that are the most difficult for you. Work through those sections in order.

Examine the "Avoid the Error" headings in each section. Read the examples and then the related explanations.

- Use the index to find specific topics, as you need them.
- Use the table of contents to find the specific chapters you want to study.

Work through the book in sequence from beginning to end for a complete overview or review of English grammar and the most common and vexing errors that learners make.

This book contains exercises at the end of each section, and review exercises at the end of the book. Follow these suggestions.

Complete the exercises at the end of each section and use the Answer Key to check your work. Then review any areas that were difficult for you, and complete the exercises again.

Use the review exercises (new to this edition) at the end of the book to review major topics. You can complete the review exercises at the end of each group of sections, or complete them all at once after you finish the book. Use the Answer Key to check your work. Then review any areas that were difficult for you, and complete the exercises again.

Use the "Catch the Errors" section at the end of the book as a final check of your understanding of the major topics in the book.

Pretest Answer Key Study Plan

Use these answers to check your work on the Pretest. As you check, circle in the Answer Key the number or letter of each incorrect answer. Then look over your results. Use the results to figure out the sections of the book most important to you.

You can work through those sections in order, start with the sections most difficult to you, or start with the sections that are most important to you. After that, review the remaining sections of the book.

Pronunciation is not assessed in this test. We recommend that all users consider completing the Pronunciation section of the book first.

PRONUNCIATION AND SPELLING

PRONUNCIATION

English Sounds

The English language has about forty sounds, twenty-four consonants, and sixteen vowels. Knowing these sounds can help you improve your pronunciation. Special phonetic symbols are used to represent sounds. Key places in this book use phonetic symbols to clarify pronunciation. They are written between slash marks, such as /b/, to indicate that they are symbols. You do not need to memorize these symbols to learn English—just use them as references. Many learners' dictionaries use these symbols, so being familiar with them will help you when you look up words. Each of these sounds can be spelled in many ways. For information on spelling, see page 9.

Consonants

This table shows the consonant sounds of English:

VOICELESS

/p/ /t/ /k/ /f/ /s/ /ʃ/ /tʃ/	pop, puppy time, hotel, hot kill, Mike find, leaf seat, insect, bass sheep, ship, finish church
/0/	think, either, faith
/h/	happy
VOICED
/b/	boy, babble, blab
/d/	done, dad
/g/	get, sagging, hug
/v/	volume, leaves, of
/z/	zebra, buzzard, as 14
/3/	azure, vision

/dʒ/	judge
/ð/	though, although
/1/	long, follow, lull
/m/	much, summer, come
/n/	Nancy, sunny, moon
/ŋ/	ring, sing
/r/	rest, rear
/w/	wow, queen
/y/	yes, beyond, Europe

Voiced and Voiceless Sounds

Consonants fall into two groups, voiced and voiceless. When you say a voiced sound, your vocal chords vibrate. When you say a voiceless sound, your vocal chords do not vibrate. To feel your vocal chords vibrate, place your hand on your throat and say word pairs such as fan/van, pill/bill, or Sue/zoo. Your vocal chords should not vibrate when you say the first consonant in each pair.

Many learners have difficulty with the sounds  $\theta$  and  $\delta$ . The sound  $\theta$  is not voiced (i.e., it is voiceless), which means the vocal chords do not vibrate when you say it. The sound  $\delta$  is voiced. The chords should vibrate when you say this consonant. Practice saying the following groups of words:

/0/	think, thought, threw
/ð/	this, that, those

AVOID THE Error

To pronounce  $/\theta$ / and  $/\delta$ /, your tongue must be between the upper and lower teeth. Instead, people may make the mistake of saying /d/, /f/, or another sound:

🗶 dis

✓ this

🗶 fink

✓ think

The sounds  $\theta$  and  $\delta$  may be difficult for individuals from a culture where it is not polite to show your tongue. Keep in mind that when speaking English, showing one's tongue to pronounce these sounds is perfectly normal. Nevertheless, if you are shy, you might cover your mouth when you say these sounds, until you become comfortable saying them.

To learn /r/, listen to native speakers and practice saying words with many /r/ sounds, such as refrigerator. Saying tongue twisters is also a good way to practice this sound.

Around the rough rocks the angry rascal ran.

The sounds /l/ and /r/ are often difficult for speakers of Chinese, Japanese, Korean, and other Asian languages. In fact, their listeners can become confused by the wrong sound:

right	🗶 /l/ light	✓ /r/ right
lock	X/r/ rock	✓ /l/ lock grass	🗶 /l/ glass	✓ /r/ grass

Word pairs that can be confused in this way include: right/light, lock/rock, grass/glass, lamp/ramp, raw/law, row/low.

The sound /l/ is produced by the tip of the tongue touching the roof of the mouth. The sound /r/ involves no contact between the tongue and the roof of the mouth.

The spelling of words in English is a reliable clue for when to pronounce each sound. The letter l is always pronounced /l/, and the letter r is always pronounced /r/. However, some words have a silent l: would, could, should, half, chalk, talk, walk, Lincoln, almond, and salmon.

Vowels

This table shows the vowel sounds of English:

/i/	eat, meet, sea, need	/1/	bit, hit, him, sit
/e/	bait, name	121	bet, bed, peck

- /ai/ fine, bite, kite, might /a/ not, bottle, father, hot
  - /æ/ bat, cat, black
- /u/ boot, food, shoe

boat, go, show

/v/ book, put

- /oy/ boy, toy
- /ɔ/ bought, coffee, dog
- /au/ house
- $/\Lambda$  but, none, sun, cup (stressed syllables only)
- /ə/ about, focus, cinema (unstressed syllables only)

/er/ bird

The  $/\epsilon r/$  sound is particularly hard to say. To learn it, practice saying words with vowel + r combinations.

bird third heard absurd

Stress

Stress is the loudness with which we say a word or syllable. (A syllable is a part of a word that consists of at least one vowel and can have one or more consonants. A word can consist of one or more syllables.) A word can have one or more stressed syllables. A one- or two-syllable word can have one stressed syllable.

'din ner 'sci ence 'food

A word of two or more syllables can have primary stress and secondary stress. Primary stress is marked with ', secondary stress with ,.

math e 'ma tics un der 'stand ing

Some words, such as articles and one-syllable prepositions, are not stressed at all.

of a an in

In English, unstressed vowels usually become  $/ \breve{a} /.$

of /əv/ the /thə/ but /bət/

AVOID THE Error

Sometimes the meaning of a word depends on which syllable is stressed.

- He is a main suspect.
- ✓ He is the main suspect.

on

- The police suspect he is the criminal.
- The police suspect he is the criminal.

In suspect/suspect and many other pairs of words, the first syllable is stressed if the word is a noun, but the second syllable is stressed if the word is a verb.

	FIRST SYLLABLE STRESSED	SECOND SYLLABLE STRESSED addict	a person who is addicted to drugs (noun)	to be addicted to drugs (verb)
defect	a shortcoming in a product (noun)	to give up your citizenship (verb)
convert	a person who changes religions (noun)	to change into another, as in changing religion (verb)
suspect	a person you suspect (noun)	to suspect someone (verb)
conflict	a disagreement or clash (noun)	to disagree or clash (verb)
record	a record of something (noun)	to record information (verb)

Contrastive Stress

In English, we can stress any word, even one that normally is not stressed, to express a special meaning. Look at how the meaning of this sentence changes depending on the stress:

We will finish work at 1:00. (Others will finish at another time.)
We will finish work at 1:00. (We won't finish at another time.)
We will finish work at 1:00. (We won't start or do something else at that time.)
We will finish work at 1:00. (We won't work after that time.)
We will finish work at 1:00. (We will finish at exactly that time.)
We will finish work at 1:00. (We will not finish at 2:00.)

Listen carefully when English speakers give special stress to a certain word. It means that the person is using contrastive stress.

Rising Intonation for Questions

Intonation is the pitch, higher or lower, of sound. English uses rising intonation for yes/no questions. With rising intonation, the pitch goes up at the end of the sentence. The rising intonation signals that the person is asking a question. Usually, intonation begins rising with the last stressed syllable in the question.

Are you finished using the computer? Do you want fries with that? Can you give me a hand? Are you going to the supermarket later this morning? Did you do your homework last night? Have you seen Lance today? Chris, were you sick yesterday?

AVOID THE Error

Do not use rising intonation with wh- questions. Use falling intonation.

- When does the movie begin? (rising intonation)
- ✓ When does the movie begin? (falling intonation)

In wh- questions, the question word signals that the person is asking a question. Rising intonation is not necessary with wh- questions.

SPELLING

English spelling often seems difficult, but many common spelling patterns can help us spell better.

Vowels

Short Vowels

Spell short vowels / $\mathbf{I}$ ,  $\varepsilon$ ,  $\mathfrak{a}$ ,  $\mathfrak{I}$ ,  $\mathfrak{U}$ / with only one letter.

red it pot pen mad

Long Vowels

To spell long vowels /i, e, o, u/, use two letters.

SHORT	LONG
mat	mate
rid	ride
mad	maid

Usually, the second vowel is silent. To remember this rule, children use a simple rhyme. You can use it, too: "When two vowels go walking, the first one does the talking."

A vowel that comes at the end of a word or syllable also is long.

pony

music

i Before e

When the letters i and e are together, they are usually spelled ie.

relief friend believe view

There are some exceptions to this rule:

After c, e usually comes before i.

deceive receive

When the combination sounds like /a/, e comes before i. neighbor weigh weight freight eight However, not all words follow this pattern:

foreign weird leisure

A children's rhyme makes this rule memorable: "I before e, except after c or when sounded as /a/, as in neighbor and weigh."

Consonants

The sound /f/ can be spelled with f, ph-, -ough, or -augh.

find	phone	enough	laugh
effort	photo	rough	laughter
golf	alphabet	tough	laughed
chef	graph	cough

There are some exceptions to these rules. The letter group -ough also represents /o/.

bough dough

The letter group -augh represents the sounds / **)/.

daughter haughty caught

AVOID THE Error

The initial /f/ sound in Philippines (an island nation in Asia) is spelled Ph-, but Filipino (an individual from that country) is spelled with F.

- X Filippines Philippines ✓ Filipino
- X Philipino

The sound /k/ can be spelled c, cc, k, or ck.

back cake occur

The letter q is always followed by u.

q u ick	quiet	quit	question
quality	qualification	quiz

The /s/ sound can be spelled with c or s. Usually c + i or e is pronounced /s/. Otherwise, c is usually pronounced /k/.

/s/	said	usually	cede	excellent	cider
/k/	company	computer	cucumber	calculate

The /ds/ sound can be spelled with q or j. Usually, q + i or e is pronounced /ds/. Otherwise, q is usually pronounced /g/.

/3/	judge	Jones	joke	jack	gel	genuine	giant
/g/	go	golf	gum	grumpy	glum	gap

AVOID THE Error

Don't forget the double consonant letters in English words.

🗶 leter	✓ letter
🗶 ful	✔ full
🗶 litle	✓ little
🗶 suces	✓ success

Silent Letters

Many words have silent letters.

The $k$ is silent in the initial $kn$
knight	knife	knee	know	knowledge
The letter	The letters gh are silent in the final -ght .
hei gh t	eight	flight	light	might	right
The letter	b is silent	before t in wo	ords such as:
debt	doubt
The letter	s h and w a	re silent in th	ese combinat	ions: rh - and wr-	•
r h yme rhythm rhino	wrestle write wrap	wrong
An initial	h is silent i	n many word	s.
honor	herb	hour	heir
The letter should	l is silent i could	n these words would	3:
Many words end with a silent final -e .
rake	take	make	stake	brake

AVOID THE Error

]	Take care not to forget a final silent	-е.
2	lik lik	~	like
2	bik	•	bike

Adding Prefixes

A prefix is a word part added to the beginning of a word to change its meaning. Common prefixes include mis-, over-, pre-, and re-. Adding a prefix to a word does not change the spelling of the word.

AVOID THE Error

If the last letter of a prefix and the first letter of a word are the same, the letter will appear double when the prefix and word are combined. Do not forget the double letter.

mis + state	×	mistate	1	mi ss tate
un + necessary	×	unecessary	1	unnecessary
mis + spell	×	mispell	1	mi ss pell pre + eminent	×	preminent	1	preeminent

Adding Suffixes

Suffixes are word parts that are added to the ends of words. Common suffixes include -ed, -ing, -er, est, -s, -ful, -ly, and so on. Adding suffixes to words involves many spelling changes. Here are some simple rules.

When adding a suffix that ends in a vowel to a one-syllable word that ends in a vowel and a single consonant (hot), double the final consonant: hotter.

hot + -er	hotter	big + -est	biggest hit + -ing	hitting	stop + -ed	stopped

This is often called the 1 + 1 + 1 rule. If a word has a one-syllable word, one short vowel, and one consonant at the end, then double the consonant when adding a suffix.

If a word has more than one syllable, double the final consonant only if the final syllable is stressed.

FIRST SYLLABL	E IS STRESSED	FINAL SYLLABLE IS STRESSED travel + er	traveler	begin + ing	begi nn ing
open $+$ ed	opened

When adding a suffix to a word that ends in consonant + -y, change the final -y to -i.

cry + ed cried fry + es fries lady + s ladies

When adding a suffix to a word that ends in a vowel + -y, do not change the final -y to -i.

stay + -ed stayed play + -ful playful stay + -s stays

When adding a suffix to a word that ends in a vowel, drop the final vowel if the suffix begins with a vowel.

nice + -est nicest bore + -ed bored make + -ing making
```

AVOID THE Error

Do not drop the final -e when it comes before c or g and the suffix begins in a, o, or u.

manage + -able	×	managable	1	manageable courage + -ous	×	couragous	1	courageous
notice + -able	×	noticable	1	noticeable

When adding -able to like or love, dropping the -e is optional:

likeable	loveable
likable	lovable

When adding a suffix to a word that ends in a vowel, keep the final vowel if the suffix begins with a consonant.

love + -ly lovely

For details on adding

- -s to nouns, see page 47.
- -s to verbs, see page 132.
- ing to verbs, see page 139.
- ed to verbs, see page 151.
- er/-est to adjectives, see page 106.
- ly to adjectives, see page 224.
- er/-est to adverbs, see page 234.

Contractions

Contractions are short forms for two words written together. Use an apostrophe to spell a contraction. The apostrophe replaces the letters that have been deleted from the contraction.

do + not	don't	will + not	won't	does + not	doesn't he + is	he's	they + are	they're	he + had	he'd

AVOID THE Error

Don't confuse the common contractions they're, it's, and you're with other words:

They're is the contraction of they are. Writers often confuse they're with the possessive adjective their or the adverb there.

- X There busy today.
- They're busy today.

X Their busy today.

It's is the contraction of it is. Writers often confuse it's with the possessive adjective its.

X Its sunny today.

You're is the contraction of you are. Writers often confuse you're with the possessive adjective your.

It's sunny today.

Your at work so early today, Margaret.
 You're at work so early today, Margaret.

Compound Words

Compound words are two words that come together to form a new word. Compound words can be spelled as single words, with hyphens, or as two separate words.

news + paper second + hand	newspaper secondhand	butter + fly	butterfly
six + pack son + in + law	six-pack son-in-law	mass + produced	mass-produced
post + office park + bench	post office park bench	real + estate	real estate

AVOID THE Error

Thank you is written as two words.

When compound words are pronounced, the first word is always stressed.

mailbox post office postage stamp postmark

To spell a compound word, say the parts aloud. If the first word is not stressed, it's not a compound. Spell it as two words without a hyphen. If the first word is stressed, then the entire word is a compound. Check a dictionary to see if a space or a hyphen is needed.

Homonyms

Homonyms are words that sound the same but have different spellings and meanings. Using an incorrect homonym is very confusing to readers. The following table shows some common homonyms:

accept	except
ad	add affect	effect
be	bee
bear	bare
by	buy
fair	fare
here	hear
hour	our
in	inn
its	it's know	no
meet	meat
principal	principle
right	write
there	their	they're to	too	two weather	whether who's	whose whole	hole
you're	your

AVOID THE Error

Be careful to use the correct homonym. Using the wrong homonym is very confusing to readers.

X Our car wouldn't start. It Our car wouldn't start. It needed a toe. needed a tow. X That car should break That car should brake down. down. X Phyllis is my favorite ant. Phyllis is my favorite aunt. X The wind blue down The wind blew down several trees. several trees. X I love you, deer. ✓ I love you, dear. X The facts machine is not The fax machine is not working. working. ✓ He knows. X He nose. X The team one the game. ✓ The team won the game. X She cooked a stake for ✓ She cooked a steak for dinner. dinner. We saw a bare in the woods. ✓ We saw a bear in the woods. Hour clock is fast. ✓ Our clock is fast.

If you type on a computer, the spell-checker can help you catch many spelling errors. However, it will not always catch errors when you type one homonym instead of another.

Give me a stake.

Give me a steak.

Make sure you use the word you really mean.

AVOID THE Error

Some common spelling errors are the result of quick or careless keyboarding. Instead of typing one word, such as or, we type a similar word by mistake, such as of. The spell check on your computer does not always catch these errors, so proofread your work carefully.

- X Do you want cake of pie?
- This pie is made or fresh pumpkin.
- ✓ Do you want cake or pie?
- This pie is made of fresh pumpkin.

Watch for errors such as:

🗶 form	✓ from	🗶 from	✓ form
🗶 of	🗸 or	🗶 or	✓ of
🗶 read	🗸 red	🗶 red	✓ read
🗶 then	🗸 than	🗶 than	✓ then
🗶 loose	🗸 lose	🗶 lose	✓ loose

Good spelling takes careful proofreading. Ideally, you should check your writing for errors several times. Always double-check your writing for correct spelling.

AVOID THE Error

Avoid these common spelling errors when you proofread.

🗶 adres, addres, adress	✓ address
🗶 alot	🗸 a lot
🗶 alright	✓ all right
🗶 can not	🗸 cannot
🗶 carear	✓ career
🗶 Febuary	✓ February
🗶 libary	🗸 library
X licence	✓ license
🗶 mispell	🗸 misspell
🗶 ninty	🗸 ninety
🗶 potatoe	🗸 potato
X preceed	✓ precede
✗ sanwich, sanwitch, sandwitch	✓ sandwich
🗶 suprise	✓ surprise
🗶 thier	✓ their
🗶 vacume	🗸 vacuum
🗶 Wensday	✓ Wednesday
X writting	✓ writing

Internet Spellings

The Internet has resulted in the creation of many new words and spelling problems. Because the Internet is so new and new ideas emerge so quickly, many terms have several spellings. Here are some common Internet terms:

Internet or internet	e-mail or email
web site or Web site	online
URL	blog

You should, however, capitalize technology tools that are brand names.

Twitter Facebook Google

Some of these brand names have related nouns and verbs. There is not complete agreement on the capitalization of these words, though the tendency is to capitalize nouns but not verbs.

The president tweets many	The president Tweets many times a day.	times a day. (equally common)
Many people read his Tweets.
I googled that online.	I Googled that on line.
(common)	(less common)

Check with your teacher, coworker, or boss about exactly how you should spell these terms if you need to use them.

AVOID THE Error

People use many abbreviations on the Internet. These abbreviations are fine for informal communication online, but not for work or school settings. Use the full forms for work and school.

X	@	1	at
X	How RU?	1	How are you?
×	I 8 dinner.	1	I ate dinner.
×	K8 is a friend of mine.	1	Kate is a friend of mine.

Of course, English has many more rules and each rule has exceptions. Some of the most difficult words to spell are summarized in the table on page 299. To help you improve your spelling, keep a spelling notebook. Note the spellings of words that you need to use often. You will be surprised how quickly your spelling improves.

10. His spelling is so bad that he could mispell his own name.

CAPITALIZATION

English has a number of rules for capitalization. In English you should capitalize:

The first letter of the first word of a sentence. Always capitalize the first letter of the first word of a sentence.

His phone rang several times during the meeting. Everyone should eat more vegetables.

The pronoun I. Always capitalize the pronoun I.

In general, I try to get to work early. I always pay my bills on time.

Proper nouns. Proper nouns refer to a specific person, place, event, or group. Always capitalize proper nouns.

Anne and Irene just got new jobs. (Anne and Irene are the names of two people.)

Let's go swimming at Lake Park. (Lake Park is the name of a specific place.)

Many children in our neighborhood are in the Boy Scouts. (Boy Scouts is the name of a specific group.)

In 2008, the Olympics were in China. (Olympics is the name of a specific event.)

AVOID THE Error

Capitalize words such as bank, church, library, and so on only when they name a specific place.

- I need to go to the Bank.
- ✓ I need to go to North Community Bank.
- She goes to Church regularly.
- She goes to Parkville Community Church regularly.

Company names are proper nouns.

AVOID THE Error

Capitalize brand names.

- X Do you want a coke?
- ✓ Do you want a Coke?
- X Please buy me a hershey bar.

 Please buy me a Hershey bar.

To avoid using brand names, use another word.

Do you want a soda?

Please buy me a chocolate bar.

In a few cases, a brand name has become the main way people refer to certain products. With these words, some people may find the equivalents unclear.

Kleenex (tissue)

Capitalize special events.

January is African American History Month.

Capitalize holidays.

I am going camping over Labor Day weekend. Our town always has a parade on Memorial Day.

AVOID THE Error

The United States has a number of special days to recognize people's and group's special interests. These days are capitalized, but are not considered actual holidays.

 National pig day is March 1 of each year.
 January is frozen food month.
 National Pig Day is March 1 of each year.
 January is Frozen Food Month.

Internet is considered a proper noun.

Elizabeth met her latest boyfriend on the Internet.

Proper Adjectives

Proper adjectives are adjectives that are formed from proper nouns. Always capitalize proper adjectives. Here are some proper adjectives and the proper nouns they come from.

PROPER NOUN	PROPER ADJECTIVE
America	American
France	French
Shakespeare	Shakespearean

Let's buy some French bread to have with dinner. He read a beautiful Shakespearean poem.

Some people do not capitalize French when it's a part of a compound word, such as French fries. They write french fries.

I want some French fries, please. I want some french fries, please.

Nouns Formed from Proper Nouns

Some nouns are formed from proper nouns. These words are often related to places. Always capitalize nouns formed from proper nouns.

Chicago Chicagoan Texas Texan

Many Chicagoans enjoy its annual food festival, Taste of Chicago.

People's Titles

Capitalize people's titles when they are used with a name. People's titles include Mr., Mrs., Miss, Ms., Professor, and Dr.

Let's ask Professor Ragan our question.

Right now Sam is getting a checkup at Dr. Chow's office.

Do not confuse Mrs., Miss, and Ms. Use Mrs. for married women and Miss for single women.

Miss Tate is getting married next week. Soon she'll be Mrs. Schwartzenbach.

AVOID THE Error

When writing Miss, do not use a period.

- Miss. Appleby was my best teacher in elementary school.
- Miss Appleby was my best teacher in elementary school.

Use Ms. for either single or married women. If you do not know whether a woman is single or married, use Ms. This title is useful in business settings.

Ms. North is in charge of telephone sales at this company.

AVOID THE Error

Do not capitalize a title when it is used without a name.

- He needs to see a Doctor about that cough.
- He needs to see a doctor about that cough.
- X I hate going to the Dentist.
- That Professor's classes are very difficult.
- That professor's classes are very difficult.

✓ I hate going to the dentist.

Always capitalize the title President when it refers to the U.S. President, whether it's used with or without a name.

The President gave a speech on TV last night. President Kennedy was the greatest President in recent history.

AVOID THE Error

Do not capitalize the word president when it refers to the president of a company and is used without a name.

- All expenses greater than $10,000 must be approved by the President of the company.
- All expenses greater than $10,000 must be approved by the president of the company.

Capitalize job titles when they are at the end of a letter.

Sincerely,	Yours truly,
Frank Sloan	Mary Pierce
Senior Vice-President	President

Titles of Books, Movies, and TV Shows

Capitalize the first word, last word, and the important words (nouns, verbs, adjectives, and adverbs) of the titles of books, articles, plays, TV shows, songs, and movies. Do not capitalize unimportant words, such as articles (a, the) or prepositions (in, on), unless they are the first or last word in the title.

Her favorite TV show is "Friends." "Dust in the Wind" (a song) Love Story (a movie)

If a word such as a preposition or article is the first, last, or main word in a title, then capitalize it.

Ms. Phillip's favorite soap opera is "The Young and the Restless." My favorite book is Of Mice and Men. "Up, Up, and Away!" (a song)

AVOID THE Error

In a title, if a preposition is part of a two-word verb, then capitalize it.

🗶 "Get up, Stand up"

"Get Up, Stand Up"

For information on two-word verbs, see page 201.

Days of the Week and Months of the Year

Capitalize days of the week and months of the year.

Your appointment is on Thursday, July 5, at 5:00. My birthday is July 15. In August, Lance is moving to Moscow.

AVOID THE Error

Do not capitalize words such as week, month, day, or year, unless they are part of a specific day.

- Friday is my favorite Day of the Week.
- ✗ Thanksgiving day is always ✓ T on a Thursday. ✓ O
- Friday is my favorite day of the week.
  - Thanksgiving Day is always on a Thursday.

AVOID THE Error

Do not capitalize seasons.

- X My favorite season is Spring. V My favorite season is spring.
- X I need a Winter jacket.
- ✓ I need a winter jacket.

School Subjects

Capitalize names of specific courses at school.

I am taking U.S. History this year. I really like Advanced Biology.

AVOID THE Error

Do not capitalize subjects in school unless they are the title of a specific class.

- X Marta's favorite subject is Math.
- ✓ Marta's favorite subject is math.
- She is taking advanced math 3 this year.
  - She is taking Advanced Math 3 this year.

Always capitalize U.S., American, and English, whether they refer to a class, a language, or a country.

- I am taking English Grammar 2 this year.
- I am good at English.
- I am enjoying American History 101 this semester.
- British English and American English are very similar.

Geography

Capitalize geographic regions of countries, continents, and the world.

The North and the South fought a civil war beginning in 1861.

Illinois, Iowa, and Indiana are all in the Midwest.

Cowboys were a vital part of the American West.

Germany, Belgium, and France are located in Western Europe.

The United States, Canada, and Europe are part of the industrialized West.

AVOID THE Error

Do not capitalize north, south, east, or west when they do not refer to a specific region in a #### country or continent.

- I live on the North side of town.
- The north won the U.S. Civil War.
- ✓ I live on the north side of town.
- ✓ The North won the U.S. Civil War.

Capitalize earth when it refers to the planet. When it refers to soil, use lowercase.

We need to protect the Earth. Cover the seeds with earth and water them daily.

Exercises

A Rewrite the names and titles, using correct capital letters.

- 1. indiana jones and the temple of doom
- 2. dr. william a. white

3. miss mary applebee

4. on the waterfront

5. sinclair county public schools

6. burbleson air force base

7. advanced biology

8. victory on the high seas

9. harry potter and the order of the phoenix

10. president john f. kennedy

B Rewrite the sentences, using correct capital letters.

1. John and i went to century Park for a Picnic Lunch.

2. Your next appointment with the Doctor is Tuesday, july 26, at 11:30 in the Morning.

3. Next Summer we want to go on Vacation in texas.

4. Let's go to the Movies. We can see Detectives and robbers.

5. "I love lucy" is a famous TV show starring Lucille ball.

6. In the Fall, I am going to take English grammar 2.

7. I like reading Books about American History.

8. My state's Senator is running for president.

PUNCTUATION

We use punctuation to make the meaning of words and sentences clear. The most important punctuation marks are the period, comma, question mark, exclamation mark, colon, semicolon, and quotation marks.

period
comma	,
question mark	?
exclamation mark	!
colon	:
semicolon	;
quotation marks	" "

Period

Use a period in these situations:

At the end of a sentence. Use a period to end a sentence that is not an exclamation or a question.

My car needs new tires. Rhonda is an excellent driver. He's watching TV in the living room. I need a new cell phone.

AVOID THE Error

A complete sentence has a subject and a verb. Ensure each sentence and question has a complete subject and verb.

- My two best friends, Bob and Sue, going to the concert with me.
- My two best friends, Bob and Sue, are going to the concert with me.

At the end of an abbreviation

I have an appointment with Dr. Sawlani.

We need 20 lbs. of potatoes.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use periods with acronyms. Acronyms are abbreviations formed from the first letters of a name or title. Acronyms are usually pronounced as words.

- X N.A.S.A. stands for "National V NASA stands for "National Aeronautics and Space Administration."
- Aeronautics and Space Administration." (NASA is pronounced "NA-suh.")

Many organizations whose shortened names are not pronounced as words but as individual letters do not use periods after the letters in the shortened names.

- X A.M.A. stands for "American Medical Association."
- X You need to file your tax return with the I.R.S. no later than April 15.
- ✓ AMA stands for "American Medical Association." (AMA is pronounced A-M-A.)
- You need to file your tax return with the IRS no later than April 15. (IRS is pronounced I-R-S.)

If an abbreviation is at the end of a question or exclamation, it's followed by a question mark or exclamation mark.

Did it weigh 20 lbs.?

AVOID THE Error

If an abbreviation is at the end of a sentence, you do not need two periods.

- X He bought apples, oranges, grapes, etc..
- He bought apples, oranges, grapes, etc.

The titles Mr. and Mrs. are abbreviations for full forms that are no longer used. Always use a period after these abbreviations. Ms. is not an abbreviation, but it uses a period.

AVOID THE Error

With Miss, do not use a period.

Periods are used in Internet addresses. If an Internet address is at the end of a sentence, use a period at the end. The reader should know not to include that period when using the address online.

My favorite source for news is www.cnn.com.

AVOID THE Error

When periods are used in an Internet address (a URL) or an e-mail address, we say dot, not period.

"w-w-w period c-n-n period  "w-w-w dot c-n-n dot c-o-m"
```

Exclamation Mark

Exclamation marks show emotion and excitement. We often use exclamation marks in imperatives.

Watch out! I love my new SUV! Be careful! I just won $20 million in the lottery!

For more information on imperatives, see page 143.

Sometimes a writer will use a question mark and exclamation mark together to show surprise and wonder.

Did you really win the lottery?!

AVOID THE Error

Avoid multiple punctuation marks in formal and informal writing, though they are acceptable in friendly, informal communication, such as a message in a greeting card.

X Really!?!?!?!?

- Really? (in an informal email)
- Congratulations on your new job!!!! (in a greeting card)

AVOID THE Error

Avoid excessive exclamation marks, especially in more formal kinds of writing, such as business letters. Do not use multiple exclamation marks, except in very informal kinds of writing, such as a letter to a good friend or a message in a greeting card.

- Spex Optical is happy to receive your application for employment! You have exactly the qualifications we are looking for! We'd like to set up an interview soon! Please call us right away!
- I really miss you!!! I can't wait for you to get back from your trip!!! See you soon!!!!!
- Spex Optical is happy to receive your application for employment. You have exactly the qualifications we are looking for. We'd like to set up an interview soon. Please call us right away.
- I really miss you. I can't wait for you to get back from your trip. See you soon!

We can use an exclamation point at the end of an imperative or a sentence if it's said with emotion.

You're getting married! Congratulations!

AVOID THE Error

An exclamation mark is not required at the end of every imperative. Use an exclamation mark only when the words are said with emotion.

- Hand in your test paper when you are finished!
- Hand in your test paper when you are finished.

Question Mark

Use a question mark at the end of a direct question.

Who left the door open? Are you ready to leave yet?

AVOID THE Error

Do not use a question mark at the end of an indirect question, which is a question inside of a statement. An indirect question is a part of a statement, so use a period.

- I wonder who will win the race?
  I wonder who will win the race.
- The boss asked who could work late?
- The boss asked who could work late.

Comma

We use commas with words, phrases, or clauses that come in a series. Use commas:

With three or more items in a series joined by and or or. Use a comma when a sentence contains a series of items (nouns, phrases, or clauses) joined by and.

He served broccoli, mashed potatoes, and carrots with dinner.

They went to the mall, shopped for new clothes, and went to the movies.

Alison vacuumed the living room, Tim washed the dishes, Diane cleaned the bathroom, and Liz shouted instructions to all of them.

The last comma in the series (before and) is optional.

He served broccoli, mashed potatoes and carrots with dinner.

AVOID THE Error

Avoid excess commas with items in a series. Do not use a comma:

- With only two items in a series
- He applied for the job last week, and has an interview on Monday.
- Before the first item in a series
- You cannot, smoke, chew gum, eat, or drink in the auditorium.
- After the last item in a series
- You cannot smoke, chew gum, eat, or drink, in the auditorium.

- He applied for the job last week and has an interview on Monday.
- You cannot smoke, chew gum, eat, or drink in the auditorium.
- You cannot smoke, chew gum, eat, or drink in the auditorium.

After and or or

They met, dated for two years, got engaged, and, got married two years ago.

With such as. Such as can be used to introduce an example or examples. Use a comma before such as.

This summer, I want to learn to cook Italian food, such as lasagna, spaghetti, and linguine.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use a comma after such as.

- There are many nice people in my apartment building, such as, Mr. Williams.
- There are many nice people in my apartment building, such as Mr. Williams.

Between two or more adjectives in a series. Use a comma between two or more coordinate adjectives in a series. (Coordinate adjectives can have their order changed and can be joined with and.)

- He bought some ugly red T-shirts. (You cannot say "red ugly T-shirts," so a comma is not needed.)
- The intelligent, hardworking students got high grades. (You can say "hardworking, intelligent," so a comma is needed.)

Between two independent clauses in a sentence. Use a comma when two independent clauses are joined into a single sentence with and, but, or, nor, for, yet, or so. An independent clause has a complete subject and verb and can stand alone as a sentence.

My dog likes to go outside, and my cat likes to sleep in front of the fireplace.

He went to the supermarket, but he forgot to buy milk.

The mechanic will fix the problem, or I will have to buy a new car.

She was locked out of her apartment, for she lost her keys on the bus.

He spent the whole day at the water park, yet he never got wet.

They didn't check a map before leaving, so they got lost almost right away.

AVOID THE Error

Do not join two independent clauses with only a comma. This error is often called a "comma splice."

X Franklin cut the lawn in the morning, his brother cleaned the garage.

Correct a comma splice by joining the clauses with a semicolon or with a comma and and, but, or, nor, for, yet, or so.

✓ Franklin cut the lawn in the morning, and his brother cleaned the garage.

✓ Franklin cut the lawn in the morning; his brother cleaned the garage.

A comma is not needed when the clauses are very short.

She got up and he made breakfast.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use a comma to join only two compound elements, such as compound subjects or predicates, or compound objects of prepositions. Compound elements are joined with words such as and, but, and or.

- My job involves training salespeople, and observing them in the field.
- I am afraid that there is a disagreement between Mary, and Jane.
- At work today, I mailed some letters, and made some phone calls.

- My job involves training salespeople and observing them in the field. (compound direct objects)
- I am afraid that there is a disagreement between Mary and Jane. (compound objects of a preposition)
- At work today, I mailed some letters and made some phone calls. (compound predicates)

Between a dependent clause and an independent clause. Use a comma to join a dependent clause followed by an independent clause. A clause has a complete subject and a complete verb. An independent clause can stand alone. A dependent clause cannot stand alone as a sentence. A subordinating conjunction (such as when, if, though, while, etc.) joins the two clauses.

If I win the grand prize in the lottery, I'll buy a new house and a new car. Though she wasn't hungry, Mavis ate a slice of pizza.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use a comma to join an independent clause followed by a dependent clause.

Other subordinating conjunctions include so that, that, and in order that.

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse so with so that. So introduces an independent clause. A comma is needed before so.

- X He won a million dollars in the lottery so he quit his job and moved to Hawaii.
- He won a million dollars in the lottery, so he quit his job and moved to Hawaii.

So that means "in order that" and introduces a dependent clause. A comma is not needed before so that, because a comma is not needed when an independent clause is followed by a dependent clause.

- X He put his backpack near the front door, so that he could find it easily leaving for work.
- He put his backpack near the front door so that he could find it easily leaving for work.

A comma is needed when the clause with so that begins the sentence.

- X So that he wouldn't forget he 🖌 So that he wouldn't forget, put his backpack near the front door.
- he put his backpack near the front door.

Before and after an appositive. An appositive is a noun or noun phrase that uses other words to restate the noun just before it. Commas always come before and after an appositive.

George Washington, the first president of the United States, was elected in 1789. I'd like to introduce my uncle, Don Mantle. He owns a used bicycle shop, Don's Bikes.

For more information on appositives, see page 57.

After an introductory prepositional phrase. A prepositional phrase is formed with a preposition and a noun. Prepositional phrases can modify nouns, verbs, or a whole sentence. An introductory prepositional phrase is at the beginning of a sentence and modifies the whole sentence. Use a comma after an introductory prepositional phrase, unless the phrase is very short.

At the beginning of the winter driving season, motorists should check their radiator fluid. In summer check your coolant. (no comma necessary)

For more information on prepositions and prepositional phrases, see page 239.

After an introductory participial phrase. A present participle is a verb + -ing. A past participle is a verb + -ed. Participles are used with forms of be or have to form various tenses. Participles can also be used as modifiers. An introductory participial phrase is formed with a present or past participle and its objects and modifiers. An introductory participial phrase is followed by a comma.

Quickly running downstairs, Dale tripped and fell down. Bored by the long speeches, Laura and Julie dozed off.

AVOID THE Error

A comma is not needed after but or although when one of these words begins a sentence.

- 🗱 But, he was not able to finish. 🖌 Bu
- But he was not able to finish.
- Although, he speaks English exceptionally well, he sometimes misunderstands people.
- Although he speaks English exceptionally well, he sometimes misunderstands people.

After an introductory adverb. When an adverb begins a sentence and modifies the whole sentence, it is set off with a comma.

Exceptionally, employees may be granted time off if they make up the time.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use a comma after an adverb at the beginning of the sentence if it modifies only one part of the sentence, such as an adjective that follows it.

- Exceptionally, delicious Christmas cookies are easy to make.
- Exceptionally delicious Christmas cookies are easy to make.

Before and after an interrupting phrase. Use commas before and after a word or phrase that interrupts a sentence.

John wants to go to Florida on vacation. Mary, however, wants to go to California.

Before and after words in direct address. Use commas before and after a word that is said in direct address (i.e., said directly to the listener).

Lucy, what did you do to your hair?

I think, Dale, that your suggestion is a good one. Let's go, everybody!

In dates. Use a comma between the day and the year in dates.

Today is April 13, 2018. The United States declared independence from Britain on July 4, 1776.

In locations. Use a comma before and after the state when both city and state appear together.

The Declaration of Independence was signed in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania. Washington, DC, is the capital of the United States.

AVOID THE Error

Avoid unnecessary commas. Do not use a comma between:

- The subject and the verb
- The most careful drivers, always drive defensively.
- A preposition and its object
- He tried to fix the drainpipe with, an old pipe wrench.
- An adjective and the noun it modifies
- We bought some delicious, watermelon for dessert.

- The most careful drivers always drive defensively.
- He tried to fix the drainpipe with an old pipe wrench.
- ✓ We bought some delicious watermelon for dessert.

Colon

Use a colon after an independent clause to introduce a list.

This box contains your new computer equipment: a keyboard, a monitor, a printer, and a mouse.

Trace needs these ingredients to make banana bread: bananas, flour, oil, sugar, salt, and baking powder.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use a colon to separate a verb and its objects.

- Please buy: apples, oranges, and grapes.
- Please buy apples oranges, and grapes.

Use a colon after an independent clause to introduce an idea.

After wandering for hours, they could reach only one conclusion: they were lost. I have a great suggestion: let's go to the beach on Sunday.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use a colon between a preposition and its object or objects.

- Tomorrow, I'm going to see a baseball game between: Chicago and St. Louis.
- Tomorrow, I'm going to see a baseball game between Chicago and St. Louis.

For more information on prepositions, see page 239.

Semicolon

Use a semicolon to link independent clauses without a coordinating conjunction.

Margo graduated from college; however, she decided to travel for a year before getting a job. Some people deny that global warming is a problem; most scientists disagree with them.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use a semicolon in place of a colon.

- Please order these supplies; a box of copier paper, three dozen pens, and ten boxes of paper clips.
- Please order these supplies: a box of copier paper, three dozen pens, and ten boxes of paper clips.

Quotation Marks

Use quotation marks for titles of books, movies, stories, TV shows, and so on.

I love watching "Friends."

AVOID THE Error

In formal writing, writers use quotation marks for short works (such as stories) and italics or underlining for longer works.

- The Ransom of Red Chief is a famous story by O. Henry.
- The Ransom of Red Chief is a famous story by O. Henry.
- Star Wars is my favorite movie. (a longer work)

 "The Ransom of Red Chief" is a famous story by O. Henry.

- ✓ Star Wars is my favorite movie.
- ✓ Star Wars is my favorite movie.

In informal writing, quotation marks are acceptable.

"Star Wars" is my favorite movie.

Use quotation marks to show a speaker's exact words.

The bride quietly answered, "I do."

Lincoln's most famous speech begins with the words, "Four score and seven years ago."

AVOID THE Error Always put a period or comma inside the quotation marks. ✗ The groom said, "I do", too. ✓ The groom said, "I do," too. Place a question mark or exclamation mark inside the quotation marks if it's part of the quotation. If not, place the punctuation mark outside the quotation marks.

- X "You're late"! she shouted. ✓
- ✓ "You're late!" she shouted.
- Did you watch "The Tonight Show?"
- Did you watch "The Tonight Show"?

Use a comma before and after a quotation.

He said, "It's time for lunch."

"Flight 291 for Chicago is ready for passenger boarding," she announced.

NOUNS

A noun is a word that names a person, place, animal, thing, event, idea, quality, action, or state. Here are examples of each kind of noun:

Person	boy, girl, Bob, Grace, driver
Place	park, Disneyland, supermarket, house, classroom
Animal	dog, cat, robin, elephant, snake
Thing	pencil, computer, bicycle, car, book
Event	World Series, concert, festival
Idea	love, freedom, equality, truth, justice
Quality	excellence, purity, cleanliness
Action	running, eating, working, playing, reading, watching, cooking
State or feeling	happiness, depression, anxiety, boredom, excitement, interest

Singular and Plural

A noun that refers to one thing is singular. A noun that refers to two or more things is plural.

one window	two windows
one book	several books

Spelling Plural Nouns

To form most plurals, add -s or -es to the end of the noun.

-S	-ES
pens	bus es
cars	churches
play s	countries movies	parties

AVOID THE Error

Do not use an apostrophe (') when forming a plural noun.

- X We need some pen's.
- ✓ We need some pens.
- X We need some pens'.

You can use an apostrophe to form the plural of single letters.

Make sure you dot all the i's and cross all the t's.

This table sums up the rules for spelling plural nouns:

FORMING PLURAL NOUNS

SINGULAR	PLURAL
For most nouns, add -s to form the plapple car dog cookie book	lural: apples cars dogs cookies books
For nouns that end in a consonant + -	-y, change the y to i and add -es:

For nouns that end in -fe, change f to v, and add s:

knife	kni v e s
life	lives
wife	wives
For nouns that end in -f , cha	ange f to v , and add - es :
half	halves
leaf	leaves
thief	thieves
loaf	loaves

AVOID THE Error

There are some exceptions to these rules:

kilo	🗶 kiloes	🗸 kilos
piano	🗶 pianoes	✓ pianos
safe	🗶 saves	✓ safes (safe is a noun)
belief	🗶 believes	✓ beliefs

Only a few nouns end in -z. Double the final consonant and add -es:

quizzes

For acronyms and numbers, add -s:

I bought two DVDs. I lived here in the 1990s. Several VIPs attended the meeting.

AVOID THE Error

Avoid common spelling errors with regular plurals.

- 🗶 tomatos
- X potatos
- 🗶 babys

X knifes

potatoes babies knives

tomatoes

A few nouns only occur in the plural form:

trousers savings	pants accommodations	jeans arms (weapons)	(eye)glasses stairs
AVOID TH	E Error
Do not use words such as trousers , pants , jeans , and so on in the singular. He bought a new jean.  He bought some new jeans.
Some plural n	ouns are irregular:
man	men
wom a n child	women child ren
tooth	teeth
foot	feet
mouse	mice
AVOID THE Error
Use irregular plurals correctly.
🗶 He lost t	wo tooth s .	✓ He lost two tee	eth.

✗ Her foots hurt.
✓ Her feet hurt.

A few nouns have the same form for the singular and the plural:

fish sheep aircraft

I bought a new fish for my fish tank.

I bought some new fish for my fish tank.

AVOID THE Error

Fish can be made plural only when it refers to many varieties of fishes, especially in science.

Of all the fish, the shark is the most feared.Of all the fishes, the shark is the most feared.

Pronouncing Plural Nouns

The plural ending of nouns is pronounced in one of three ways: / Jz/, /s/, or /z/. Pronounce the plural ending as:

Image: A start and the start of the star churches judges houses faces quizzes boxes

For information on these phonetic symbols, see pages 3 and 4.

/s/ after a voiceless consonant such as /f, t, k, p/ (The vocal chords do not vibrate when you say voiceless sounds.)

bats books chips boats banks stamps

/z/ after a vowel or a voiced consonant such as /v, d, g, n, m, l/ (The vocal chords vibrate when saying vowels and voiced consonants.)

parties	boys	chairs	shelves
cars	apples	tables	tomatoes

For more information on voiced and voiceless sounds, see pages 3 and 4.

Countable and Uncountable Nouns

In English, nouns can be divided into two groups: nouns you can count (countable nouns) and nouns you can't count (uncountable nouns).

Countable Nouns

You can count countable nouns. They have plural forms. You can use the indefinite articles a and some with countable nouns.

a dog	two dogs	some dogs
a cat	seven cats	some cats

Uncountable Nouns

Uncountable nouns include things such as water, meat, cheese, and so on. They are called uncountable because you usually can't count them. You can use the article the with uncountable nouns. You can also use the indefinite article some with uncountable nouns. But you cannot use the indefinite article a with uncountable nouns.

water	rice	wood	information
money	cement	bread

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the indefinite article a with uncountable nouns.

X Let's buy a bread for dinner.

- Let's buy some bread for dinner.
- X A milk is good to drink.
- Milk is good to drink.

Do not use another, every, few, or many with uncountable nouns.

- Many water would be good right now.
- Some water would be good right now.
- I need another flour to make the cake.
- ✓ I need more flour to make the cake.

Uncountable nouns do not have plural forms.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use plural forms with uncountable nouns.

- We bought some breads for dinner.
- We bought some bread for dinner.
- They washed their hands with soaps and waters.
- They washed their hands with soap and water.

A few words are both countable and uncountable nouns.

I ate some pizza for lunch.	I ordered a pizza for my family's dinner.
Fried chicken is tasty.	Baby chickens are called chicks.
I am tired of reading email.	He sent 25 emails this morning.
She doesn't have time to do her homework tonight.	She has visited Washington, DC, three times .
Please put some paper in the printer.	He wrote a paper for her history class.

A few words have the same form for countable and uncountable meanings.

I saw three deer on the road. I saw some deer on the road.

AVOID THE Error

The words clothes and clothing have the same meaning, but different usage. Clothes is a plural count noun. It does not have a singular form.

I bought a new clothes today. My new clothes looks great.	1	I bought some new clothes today. My new clothes look great.
The related word cloth refers to fait the singular form of clothes .	bric,	, the material clothing is made from. This word is not
I wore my new cloth today.	1	I wore my new clothes today.
Cloth is an uncountable noun. Therefore, it doesn't have a plural form.
I bought some nice cloths to make new kitchen curtains.	1	I bought some nice cloth to make new kitchen curtains.
Clothing is an uncountable noun.
I am shopping for some clothings. Clothings are too expensive.	1	I am shopping for some clothing . Clothing is too expensive.

Using Partitives with Uncountable Nouns

We can use partitive expressions to make uncountable nouns countable. Partitives are words that express containers or units, such as bottle, box, loaf, and so on. Partitives usually are followed by a phrase beginning with of, such as "a bottle of mineral water." Here are some common partitives:

water	a bottle of water	two bottles of water bread	a loaf of bread	some loaves of bread
candy	a box of candy	several boxes of candy

Questions with How Much and How Many

We use how much to ask questions about uncountable nouns.

How much flour do you need for that bread recipe?

We use how many to ask questions about countable nouns.

How many loaves of bread do you want to make?

Possessive Nouns

A possessive noun shows who or what another noun belongs to.

Megan's book (Megan owns the book.) the car's door (The door belongs to the car.)

We use an -s and an apostrophe (') to form possessive nouns. Follow these rules:

Add an apostrophe and an -s to singular-count nouns.

John's book the school's new building the dog's collar

AVOID THE Error

To make a singular noun that ends in -s or -es possessive, do not add only an apostrophe (')—add 's.

X the bass' voice

✓ the bass's voice

A few words that end in -s can add only an apostrophe to form the possessive, such as Jesus or a few Greek writers, to avoid an unpleasant repeating of the /s/ sound.

- ✗ Jesus's teachings
  ✓ Jesus' teachings
- X Sophocles's plays

✓ Sophocles' plays

Add an apostrophe to regular plural count nouns.

the girls' backpacks (two girls have backpacks) the wheels' new hubcaps

AVOID THE Error

Do not add 's to regular plural nouns to make them possessive.

- X the dogs's water bowls
- ✓ the dogs' water bowls
- X the boys's baseball game
- ✓ the boys' baseball game

Add 's to irregular plurals that do not end in -s.

the women's room

the men's room

AVOID THE Error

Do not add the before a possessive proper noun.

- I want to see the Mary's new car.
- The Thrifty Bank's new drive-through window is open seven days a week.
- ✓ I want to see Mary's new car.
- Thrifty Bank's new drivethrough window is open seven days a week.

You can use the with a possessive proper noun when the is part of the noun.

✓ This year, the Boy Scouts' annual holiday wreath sale will be December 10–23.

We can also form possessives with an of phrase and a possessive noun.

Raymond is a neighbor of Tim's.

AVOID THE Error

When we use possessives with a phrase with of, use a possessive noun.

X A book of Allen is lost. ✓ A book of Allen's is lost.

However, when we use an of phrase following a person, the object of of can be a noun or a possessive.

✓ A friend of John is coming to the party.

✓ A friend of John's is coming to the party.

Use whose to ask questions about possessive nouns.

Whose car is parked in front of the house?Whose phone rang in the middle of the wedding?Whose keys are these?

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse whose (question word) with who's (abbreviation of question word who + is).

- Who's book is this?
- ✓ Whose book is this?
- X Whose your favorite singer? V Who's your favorite singer?

Comparing Nouns

We use fewer ... than, the fewest, less ... than, and the least to compare quantities of nouns. Use fewer ... than and the fewest with countable nouns.

We have fewer apples than oranges. We have the fewest grapefruit.

Use less ... than and the least with uncountable nouns.

We have less salt than sugar. We have the least pepper.

Appositives

An appositive is a noun that restates another noun in new or different words.

Abraham Lincoln, the sixteenth president, ended the Civil War. My best friend, Ray, works downtown.

AVOID THE Error

An appositive must refer to the noun it precedes or follows.

X A talented singer, they hired Susan Alexander to perform in the opera.

To correct a misplaced appositive, move it nearer to the noun or rewrite the sentence.

✓ They hired Susan Alexander, a talented singer, to perform in the opera.

Writing and Saying Cardinal Numbers

We use cardinal numbers to count. Most numbers are written in the same way around the world.

AVOID THE Error

There are several differences in how North Americans and Europeans write numbers:

North Americans write 1 with a single stroke. In many other places, this number has an additional stroke.

In other places, people write the number 7 with an additional stroke. North Americans do not use this stroke.

Do not use extra strokes with the numbers 1 and 7 in North America.

- North America: 17
- Other parts of the world: 1 7

Zero

For the number zero, people say "zero" or "oh." In ordinary speech, people usually say "oh" for zero.

Odd and Even Numbers

Odd numbers are numbers that cannot be divided evenly by two. Even numbers can be divided evenly by two.

Even: 0, 2, 4, 6, 8 Odd: 1, 3, 5, 7

So when an English speaker mentions an odd number, he or she doesn't mean the number is strange or unusual. The person means that the number can't be divided evenly by two.

Dozen

Dozen means "twelve." Baker's dozen means "thirteen." This comes from a common practice of bakers giving a free item when the customer buys twelve. English speakers often use dozen to describe an approximate number.

Dozens of people were inconvenienced when the bus broke down.

Tens and Teens

To clearly say numbers such as thirteen and thirty, stress the last syllable of numbers ending in - teen (such as thirteen), but stress the first syllable of numbers ending in -ty (such as thirty).

thirteen	thirty fourteen	forty fifteen	fifty

In general, we say numbers in groups of hundreds, tens, and ones.

145	one hundred forty-five
76	seventy-six

We can shorten numbers from 101–999 by leaving off the word hundred.

101	one-oh-one
145	one forty-five
913	nine thirteen

AVOID THE Error

Do not use and before the last word of a number.

- 🗱 two hundred twenty and nine 🖌 two hundred twenty-nine
- 🗱 two hundred and twenty-nine 🖌 two twenty-nine

Using Numbers and Number Words

In informal writing, such as notes and e-mails, use numbers for all numbers. In formal writing, such as reports for school or business letters, use number words for numbers you can write in one or two words. Use numbers for larger or more complicated numbers.

This table shows when to use numbers or number words in more formal kinds of writing:

USE NUMBER WORDS	USE NUMBERS
twenty books	151 books
forty-five boxes	314 boxes
thirty pounds	35.2 pounds
one-half	$1\frac{1}{5}$
six percent	6.25%

AVOID THE Error

In formal writing, always use number words when a number is first in a sentence. If the number is very long, rewrite the sentence so the number is not at the beginning of the sentence.

Writing and Saying Larger Numbers

Say longer numbers in groups of ten thousands, thousands, hundreds, and so on. When you write longer numbers, use commas to separate groups of three numbers.

WRITESAY19,245nineteen thousand two hundred forty-five

AVOID THE Error

Do not use a period to separate groups of numbers in a larger number—use a comma.

✗ 1.204.196 ✓ 1,204,196

The largest numbers frequently used in everyday speech are million (1,000,000) and billion (1,000,000,000). A millionaire is a person who has at least a million dollars. A billionaire has at least a billion dollars. Larger numbers, such as trillion (1,000,000,000), are rarely used.

AVOID THE Error

You may hear English speakers use words such as zillion or gazillion to refer to very large numbers or amounts. These words express a large quantity or number, but they are not actual numbers. Do not use these numbers in formal speech or writing.

- The federal budget deficit is more than a zillion dollars.
- The federal budget deficit is in the billions of dollars.

Write and say very large approximate numbers this way:

WRITE	SAY
20 million	twenty million
110 billion	one hundred ten billion

AVOID THE Error

Do not make the words million and billion plural when they are accompanied by a number.

✗ 20 millions people
✓ 20 million people

You can use millions and billions when they are not accompanied by a specific number:

- Each year, millions of people visit Disney World.
- McDonald's has served billions of hamburgers worldwide over the years.

Decimals and Fractions

We use decimals and fractions for numbers smaller than one and greater than zero.

<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>
0.5
Follow these rules for writing and saying decimals and fractions:
When saying numbers with a fraction, we say and before the fraction.
You see: <sup>2<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub></sup>
You say: two and three-fourths
When a number includes the fraction <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>, we say a or one.
You see: <sup>5<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub></sup>
You say: five and a half or five and one-half
For decimals (except money), we can use and or the word point.
You see: 2.2
You say: two and two-tenths or two point two
For numbers less than one, we can say point or omit it. We can also say oh (for zero) or omit it.

You see: 0.3 You say: oh point three, point three, or three-tenths

AVOID THE Error

When writing decimal fractions, use a decimal point (.), not a comma.

¥ 98,6

✔ 98.6

In the United States, people express temperature in Fahrenheit, except in scientific contexts, when Celsius is used. Use the degree symbol (°) with F or C to indicate the temperature scale.

Water boils at 212°F or 100°C.

Amounts of Money

In general, people say amounts of money in groups indicating dollars and cents. Join the dollars and cents groups with and.

WRITE	SAY
$525	five hundred twenty-five dollars
$719.90	seven hundred nineteen dollars and ninety cents

However, people sometimes leave off the words dollars and cents and some of the number words, especially when it's clear they are talking about money.

$19.95	nineteen ninety-five
$27.13	twenty-seven thirteen

When the amount of cents is less than ten, we can say the number of cents in two ways:

Twenty-nine dollars and three cents Twenty-nine oh three

The value of U.S. coins in numbers does not appear on all coins. U.S. coins have special names, but they appear only on some coins. The size of a coin does not indicate relative value, either. Nickels are bigger than dimes, but they are worth less. Dimes are slightly smaller than pennies, but they are worth more. The following table gives the value of each coin:

COIN NAME	VALUE
penny	one cent
nickel	five cents
dime	ten cents
quarter	twenty-five cents

In everyday speech, a popular slang expression for dollar is buck. People use this word in friendly, casual conversation.

Hey, you owe me five bucks for lunch!

I just won fifty bucks in the lottery! Let's go out for pizza!

Telephone Numbers

In general, people say telephone numbers as single numbers, with a very short pause after each group of numbers,

(773) 555-4175	seven-seven-three (pause) five-five-five (pause)
	four-one-seven-five

Phone numbers with many zeros may be pronounced differently, especially if the number is for a large company.

1-800-555-2300	one eight hundred (pause) five-five (pause)
	two three hundred
1-800-555-8000	one eight hundred (pause) five-five-five (pause) eight thousand

In general, in the United States, always give the area code with your phone number. Americans write the area code in several ways.

(800) 555-1212 1-800-555-1212

In text messages and emails, people may omit punctuation marks from phone numbers. This is acceptable only in very informal messages and communications. In North America, you will see phone numbers written with and without the initial 1. That initial number is always dialed, however.

Addresses

In general, people say addresses as follows:

NUMBERS	WRITE	SAY
1-99	12 State Street	Twelve State Street
100	100 North Avenue	One hundred North Avenue
101-999	113 Hill Street	One-one-three Hill Street
		One thirteen Hill Street
hundreds	900 Michigan Avenue	Nine hundred Michigan Avenue
thousands	1000 Broadway	One thousand Broadway
over 1000	1005 Evergreen Terrace	One-oh-oh-five Evergreen
		Terrace
	1110 Alabama Avenue	Eleven-ten Alabama Avenue
	4250 Ocean Boulevard	Forty-two fifty Ocean
		Boulevard

You may occasionally hear small differences in larger numbers:

One-oh-oh-five Evergreen Terrace One thousand five Evergreen Terrace

AVOID THE Error

In street addresses, write the building number before the street name, not after it. Do not use a comma between the building number and street name.

🗶 26, Fifth Avenue

✗ Fifth Avenue, 26

26 Fifth Avenue

Time

In general, you can spell out the time in whole hours (e.g., five o'clock) or use numbers (5:00) when you are writing sentences. Write the time in numbers when you want to emphasize a specific time.

I always get up at 5 o'clock in the morning. I always get up at five o'clock in the morning. The first bus leaves at 5:41 in the morning.

AVOID THE Error

When we state in a sentence the time of an appointment or a departure, we use at, not to.

✗ The train leaves to 12:20. ✓ The train leaves at 12:20.

In date books and schedules, always write the time in numbers.

SCHEDULE FOR SATURDAY

9:30 Dentist10:30 Go to bank, post office, and supermarket12:00 Meet David for lunch

In informal writing, you can express time in whole hours with or without ":00". If the meaning is clear, you can also omit o'clock.

Let's leave at 9. Let's leave at 9:00. Let's leave at 9 o'clock.

AVOID THE Error

When saying the time written with ":00", you do not need to say anything for ":00". Just state the hour and o'clock if it's needed for clarity.

You see: 9:00

You say:

- You guys might hurt yourselfs if you jump off the train before it stops.
- You guys might hurt yourself if you jump off the train before it stops.
- You guys might hurt yourselves if you jump off the train before it stops.

Here are some common ways of saying the time:

TIME	WE SAY
10:00	ten o'clock
10:10	ten ten, ten after ten
10:15	(a) quarter past ten, (a) quarter after ten; ten fifteen
10:30	ten thirty, half past ten
10:45	(a) quarter to eleven, (a) quarter 'til eleven,
12:00 (P.M.)	ten forty-five noon, twelve noon, 12 o'clock
12:00 (A.M.)	midnight, twelve midnight, 12 o'clock midnight

AVOID THE Error

O'clock is always written with an apostrophe. It's a contraction of of the clock, but no one says the full form.

✗ It's 10 oclock.
✓ It's ten o'clock.

Use o'clock with the time only when the time is a full hour.

📕 It's 3:30 o'clock.	1	It's 3:30.
	<ul> <li>✓</li> </ul>	It's three o'clock.

Use A.M. for times from 12:00 midnight to 11:59 in the morning. Use P.M. for times from 12:00 noon to 11:59 at night.

Please be at work at 9:30 A.M. sharp! The restaurant opens at 11 A.M. and closes at 11 P.M.

AVOID THE Error

Unlike many countries, the United States does not use a twenty-four-hour system to write the time. For example, in many parts of the world "4 P.M." is written "16:00". Always write the hours in numbers from 1 to 12, and use A.M. and P.M. to clarify whether the time is before or after noon.

✗ Please be here at 21:00.
✓ Please be here at 9:00 P.M.

You will see the A.M. written with and without periods. Both styles are correct.

Your appointment is at 9:00 AM tomorrow.

Your appointment is at 9:00 A.M. tomorrow.

English speakers use morning to describe times from midnight (12:00 A.M. to 11:59 A.M.), afternoon to describe times from 12:00 P.M. to 6:00 P.M., evening from 6:00 P.M. to about 10:00 P.M., and night from 8:00 P.M. to midnight.

She came home from the party at 2:00 A.M. in the morning! We always eat dinner at 7:00 in the evening. The kids go to bed at 8:30 at night.

AVOID THE Error

Many English speakers confuse 12:00 A.M. (midnight) and 12:00 P.M. (noon).

- He ate lunch at 12:00 A.M.
- Cinderella stayed out dancing until 12:00 P.M.
- ✓ He ate lunch at 12:00 P.M.
- ✓ Cinderella stayed out dancing until 12:00 A.M.

To tell the difference, remember that we eat lunch in the afternoon (P.M.).

To say approximate times, use about, almost, around, or nearly.

It's nearly 8 o'clock. Let's eat dinner at about 6:00.

AVOID THE Error

Almost and nearly can be used only after the verb be or the preposition until.

- We left at almost 8:00.
- ✓ We left at about 8:00.
- We didn't leave until almost 8:00.
- He came home at nearly midnight.
- ✓ It was nearly midnight when he came home.
- He didn't come home until nearly midnight.

Using Ordinal Numbers

We use ordinal numbers to show order. We usually write ordinal numbers in number words when we talk about the order of events.

Megan finished first in the marathon.

In casual writing, we can use numbers.

She won 2nd place in the contest!

Dates

We use a mixture of ordinal and cardinal numbers to write and say dates. Use cardinal numbers to write the day. Use ordinal numbers to say the day. This table shows how to write and say dates:

WRITE	SAY
February 19	February nineteenth
July 15	July fifteenth
December 25	December twenty-fifth

AVOID THE Error

Do not use ordinal numbers to write the date.

 I arrived in the United States on May 20th, 2015.
 I arrived in the United States on May 20, 2015.

When writing the complete date, write:

The day in cardinal numbers

📕 A comma

The year in cardinal numbers

July 15, 2018 February 19, 2020

Say years in two groups of numbers.

1958	nineteen fifty-eight
1999	nineteen ninety-nine
1776	seventeen seventy-six

People say years in the twenty-first century in two ways:

2001 two thousand one or twenty oh-one

This table shows how to write and say dates:

write July 4, 1776 July 8, 2009 July 15, 1958 SAY July fourth, seventeen seventy-six July eighth, two thousand nine July fifteenth, nineteen fifty-eight

AVOID THE Error

In the United States, people do not write the day before the month when writing dates. Take care to write dates in this order: the month, the day, a comma, and the year.

X 20 July 2009

✓ July 20, 2009

You can also write the date with slashes and numbers: 7/20/2009. You can leave off the first two digits of the year, as long as the meaning is clear: 7/20/09. When filling our official forms, it's best to use the complete year: 3/6/2017.

In the United States, Independence Day is written in words or number words when it refers to the holiday. To save space, often the ordinal number is used in posters and announcements of holiday events.

People love to watch fireworks on the Fourth of July. People love to watch fireworks on the 4th of July.

Centuries

Use ordinal numbers to say centuries.

We live in the twenty-first century. George W. Bush was elected president at the end of the twentieth century.

Exercises

A How do you say the numbers? Write each number in words.

. 16 children
. 235 Redfield Court

B Write the sentences correctly.

1. 10% of the workers were absent yesterday.

2. Income tax is due on fifteenth April of each year.

3. My address is 336, Rose Avenue.

4. The total cost for your new car is $26.419,45.

5. Please be at the train station at exactly six-sixteen o'clock in the morning.

6. You need six and three-quarter cups of flour for this bread recipe.

7. Please remember to buy one hundred forty-six new books to use as graduation presents.

8. 5:30 is very early to get up every day.

9. She won 1 prize in the cooking contest.

10. 31 October is the date of Halloween.

11. A normal temperature is 98,6°F.

12. Please call Mr. Culp at 8005551212.

DETERMINERS

Determiners are words that come before adjectives and nouns. They include a/an, some, the, this, that, these, and those. Determiners tell whether we are talking about a specific noun or a kind of noun in general.

He wiped the badly cracked windshield with a grimy, old rag.

We cooked some delicious vegetarian fried rice this morning.

That handsome young gentleman is my nephew.

Please put these new wooden chairs with those old reading tables at the other end of the room.

For more information on the order of words before a noun, see page 104.

A/An

A/An means "one thing or person." You can use a or an before a singular countable noun.

I just bought a new car. Mrs. Wallace is a very nice neighbor. I received a nice birthday present from my sister. I'd like a double cheeseburger, please. Look! An elephant!

For more information on countable and uncountable nouns, see page 51.

AVOID THE Error

Use the after a second reference to the same noun. Do not repeat a.

I saw a car drive down the street. A car was driving very quickly.  I saw a car drive down the street. The car was driving very quickly.

Use a/an to say what something or someone is.

A Porsche is an expensive car.

A Lhasa Apso is a kind of dog from Tibet.

Morocco is a country in Africa. Sue is a professor.

AVOID THE Error

Do not omit a or an when stating someone's profession.

He's cab driver.

He's a cab driver.

Use a or one interchangeably before the numbers hundred, thousand, hundred thousand, million, and billion when referring to either those exact amounts or a number that is near (approximately) one of these numbers.

That company lost more than a/one hundred thousand dollars in the stock market yesterday. That watch costs over a/one thousand dollars.

We need a/one hundred more boxes of cookies for the cookie sale.

AVOID THE Error

In situations other than numbers such as hundred and so on, do not substitute one for a.

- ✗ He is one teacher.
  ✓ He is a teacher.
- Please bring me one doughnut. Please bring me a doughnut.

Use one only to give emphasis to the number.

Please bring me one doughnut, not two.

If you give special stress (loudness) to the word one, you can say:

Please bring me one doughnut.

A is usually pronounced /)/.

Give me a hand, please.

When a is stressed to show special importance, it is pronounced /e/.

Please give me a pencil, not two.

Use a + day to talk about the day.

Today is a beautiful late September day.

Use one day to talk about an indeterminate day in the past.

- A day last September, it rained for ten hours without stopping.
- One day last September, it rained for ten hours without stopping.

Use a to talk about prices by weight, such as per-pound prices.

Cheddar cheese is on sale for $2 a pound. Bananas are only 33 cents per pound this week.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the to talk about prices per pound, ounce, and so on. Use a.

X Peas are 69 cents the pound.
 Peas are 69 cents a pound.

Choosing Between A and An

Follow these rules for choosing between a and an.

In general, use a before a consonant and an before a vowel.

I'd like a salad and a large orange juice, please. Please give me an apple and an orange.

Use an before a silent initial h. Words with silent h include hour, honor, herb, and honest.

Please be ready to leave in an hour.

It's an honor to meet you.

Use a before certain vowels that sound like the consonant sound /y/.

He graduated from a university in California. She is from a European country.

AVOID THE Error

Another is one word, not two. It means "a different."

- This CD-ROM won't work. Please give me an other CD-ROM.
- This CD-ROM won't work. Please give me another CD-ROM.

Some

Some means "an amount of something." Use some with uncountable nouns and plural countable nouns.

I'd like some orange juice.

John sent his wife some flowers on Valentine's Day.

AVOID THE Error

Never use a or an with uncountable nouns. Use some.

✗ I bought a flour.✓ I bought some flour.

We can use some to mean "a few" or "not all."

I like some cats. (I don't like all cats.)

With plural countable nouns, we can use a number instead of some:

I bought some bottles of soda. I bought three bottles of soda.

With uncountable nouns, we can use a number plus a partitive:

I bought some flour. I bought two bags of flour.

AVOID THE Error

In casual speech, you may hear speakers use some with a singular count noun, especially a person. They do this to show dislike. Avoid using some with a person to prevent misunderstanding.

Some kid threw towels in the swimming pool.

 A child threw towels in the swimming pool.

AVOID THE Error

The following nouns are uncountable in English but not in many other languages: bread, news, information, furniture, work, research, and spaghetti. Do not use a with these nouns. Use some, and do not make these nouns plural.

- Please buy a bread when you are at the supermarket.
- Please buy some breads when you are at the supermarket.

Do not confuse job and work. Job is a countable noun that means "an employment" or "a task." Work is an uncountable noun. When we use work with an article such as some or this, this word refers to tasks we have to do. We can use work without an article to mean "a job."

supermarket.

Please buy some bread

when you are at the

I need to find a work.
I need to find work.
I need to find a job.
We need to get a work done before lunch.
My boss just gave me some more work to do.

To ask questions about a word preceded by some, use any in place of some.

Do you have any pens?

Do we need any apples?

In informal English, we can use some in these questions, usually with the idea that the answer is affirmative.

Do we have some apples?

The

We use the to refer to one unique person, place, or thing.

I need to go to the bank, the post office, and the library.

The cashier gave me too much change.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the with names of people.

- X The Mr. Smith is my boss.
- ✓ Mr. Smith is my boss.
- The Evelyn is a very hard worker.
- ✓ Evelyn is a very hard worker.

Use the with doctor and dentist when referring to a certain doctor or dentist but not using his or her name.

The doctor will see you now.

The doctor says I should get more rest.

```
      AVOID THE Error

      Do not use the with Dr. + name.

      ➤ I have an appointment with the Dr. Alford tomorrow.

      ✓ I have an appointment with Dr. Alford tomorrow.

Use the with kinds of entertainment.

Tim loves to go to the opera and the movies.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the with TV when TV refers to entertainment or to TV programs. Use the only when referring to the electrical appliance.

I'm tired of watching the TV.Please turn off TV.Please turn off the TV.

Use the with organizations.

Tom went camping with the Boy Scouts this weekend. She joined the army when she graduated from high school.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the when referring to organizations' acronyms. An acronym is an abbreviation that is said as a word.

He works for the UNESCO. He works for UNESCO.

Use the with rivers, seas, and oceans.

The Mississippi is the longest river in the United States. I've never seen the Pacific Ocean.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the with lakes.

- The Lake Michigan is in North America.
- Lake Michigan is in North America.

Do not use the for most countries.

He lives in England. Vietnam is in Southeast Asia.

AVOID THE Error

Use the with countries that have words such as kingdom, republic, or states in them.

- X I am from United States.
- ✓ I am from the United States.
- "People's Republic of China" is the official name of China.
- "The People's Republic of China" is the official name of China.

Use the with plural countries.

He lives in the Bahamas. I am from the Netherlands.

The is part of the name of a few countries. In these cases, the is capitalized.

He is from The Gambia.

AVOID THE Error

Barbados ends with an -s, but does not use the.

✗ She is from the Barbados. ✓ ✓ She is from Barbados.

Use the when talking about mountain ranges.

The highest peaks in the Rocky Mountains are often covered in snow, even in summer.

Do not use the to talk about individual mountains.

- Her dream is to climb the Mt. Everest.
- Her dream is to climb Mt. Everest.

Use the to talk about something that is one of a kind in our solar system.

The sun is behind a cloud right now.

The moon will rise at 8:51 tonight.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the for planets. Use the for galaxies.

- 🔰 Earth is in Milky Way.
- ✓ Earth is in the Milky Way.
- The Uranus is the eighth planet.
- ✓ Uranus is the eighth planet.

Some English speakers use the with Earth.

- Earth is the third planet from the sun.
- The Earth is the third planet from the sun.

Use the with superlatives.

This is the most expensive perfume in the world.

For more information on superlatives, see page 106.

AVOID THE Error

Use the with the word same when two things are similar or identical.

- I can't tell the difference between regular and extra spicy fried chicken. They taste same to me.
- ✓ I can't tell the difference between regular and extra spicy fried chicken. They taste the same to me.

Use the to make a general statement about a singular countable noun.

The rose is a beautiful flower.

When country means "rural area," we use the, not a.

- I spent the holidays in a country.
- I spent the holidays in the country.

Use the with specific foods and drinks.

The tea smells delicious. The butter is near the salt.

AVOID THE Error Do not use the with meals. ✗ The breakfast was delicious. ✓ Breakfast was delicious.

Use the with nationalities.

The British settled North America.

The French are famous for excellent cooking.

The ancient Greeks invented democratic government.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the with languages.

- The Spanish is an easy language to learn.
- Spanish is an easy language to learn.

Zero Article

A noun with a zero article has no article.

He ordered ham and eggs.

I smell roses.

Do you want coffee or tea?

He has lots of luggage.

Use the zero article with an uncountable noun or a plural countable noun when the noun has a general meaning.

Fresh bread smells delicious.

Flowers grow in spring.

Let's make cookies tomorrow.

Use the zero article with meals, sports and games, cities, countries, and towns.

What do you want for breakfast? I like to watch baseball and play basketball. He lives in Paris, France. Let's play cards tonight.

The is used with a few countries. For information, see page 82.

Use the zero article with languages.

He speaks Spanish. Joe knows Chinese.

Use the zero article with prepositions and places such as church, school, bed, prison, and home when the meaning of the sentence implies the person is there to pray, study, sleep, and so on.

He is at school all day.	They are playing basketball at the school.
	the school.
He is in bed asleep.	Don't put your dirty shoes on the bed.
He is at home watching TV.	He sold the home for $100,000.

Use the zero article with days, months, or expressions such as last week.

Next week we will have a test. Your appointment is on Monday.

AVOID THE Error

Articles with the names of sicknesses are complicated.

- Use a/an with cold, headache, and fever.
- 🗶 I have fever.

✓ I have a fever.

- Use the with flu.
- X He's sick in bed with flu.
- Use the zero article with serious maladies such as diabetes, high blood pressure, cancer, arthritis, and hepatitis.

He's sick in bed with the flu.

The high blood pressure can be a life-threatening condition.High blood pressure can be a life-threatening condition.

This, That, These, and Those

Use this, that, these, and those + noun to talk about specific objects or people that are near or far. This and that are singular; these and those are plural. Use this and these for nearby objects or people; use that and those for distant people or objects. This table summarizes the meaning of this, that, these, and those:

	NEAR	FAR
Singular	this	that
Plural	these	those

AVOID THE Error

You may hear some people use the improper form them in place of these and those. The correct forms are these and those.

X	Please put them boxes over here.	~	Please put those boxes over here.
×	Them green beans are delicious.	1	These green beans are delicious.

Here are some examples of this, that, these, and those.

Would you like this baked potato? These French fries are too salty. I never want to visit that town again! Please take those shirts to the laundromat.

AVOID THE Error

This, that, these, and those should agree in number with the nouns they go with. If the noun is singular or uncountable, use this or that. If the noun is plural, use these or those. Be careful to use the correct form when modifiers come between the demonstrative adjective and the noun.

- Please give me some of that barbecue potato chips.
- Please give me some of those barbecue potato chips.

This, that, these, and those are also used as pronouns. See page 98 for more information.

PRONOUNS

Pronouns take the place of nouns. Pronouns include I, you, he, she, it, we, they, me, him, her, us, and them. We use pronouns such as he, she, it, and them to avoid repeating nouns. We use the pronouns I, you, we, me, and us to refer directly to people who are present in a place or situation. A pronoun has the same meaning as the noun it replaces or refers to.

I think that we are ready to begin. Are you ready, too? (I, we, and you refer to people who are present while the speaker is talking.)

Chuck is a good friend of mine. He lives in Chicago.

Tom visited Barcelona. It's a beautiful city.

Mary Jane likes these shoes. She wants to buy them.

Mark only has a little cut. Mark didn't hurt himself badly.

These are the subject, object, and reflexive pronouns in English:

SUBJECT	OBJECT	REFLEXIVE
I	me	myself
you	you	yourself, yourselves
he	him	himself
she	her	herself
it	it	itself
we	us	ourselves
they	them	themselves

One is an indefinite subject pronoun. Oneself is an indefinite reflexive pronoun. They are used for making general statements that are used in more formal contexts.

One needs to be careful going out late at night.

It's easy to hurt oneself on a large waterslide.

In most settings, especially informal ones, English speakers use you to make general statements. In these statements, you refers to people in general, not to the listener.

You need to be careful going out late at night.

It's easy to hurt yourself on a large waterslide.

AVOID THE Error

Usually, you is not acceptable in formal writing, such as essays for school. One is too formal for essays or business letters. In these types of writing, avoid using you and one by paraphrasing.

You need to be careful going out late at night. (too informal for essay)

X It's easy to hurt yourself on a large waterslide. (too informal for essays)

- People need to be careful going out late at night.
- It's easy to get hurt on a large waterslide.
- It's easy to hurt oneself on a large waterslide. (too formal for most essays or business letters)

For information on possessive pronouns, see page 112. For demonstrative pronouns, see page 98.

Subject Pronouns

Here are all the subject pronouns:

I	am hungry.
You	are hungry.
He	is hungry.
She	is hungry.
It	is hungry.
We	are hungry.
They	are hungry.

Subject pronouns refer to another noun or person in the situation who is the subject of the sentence.

He lives here.

I am a construction worker.

We use it to form impersonal expressions. In impersonal expressions, it is not a pronoun and does not replace or refer to another word.

It's raining. It's ten o'clock.

For information on expressions with the impersonal it, see page 267.

Some languages have only one pronoun for singular nouns. English has three separate pronouns for singular nouns:

he	male
she	female
it	object

AVOID THE Error

Do not change pronouns when referring to the same person.

- I talked to Luke. He told me that she's happy in his new home. She lives in an apartment on the third floor. It says he has a great view of the city from the living room window.
- I talked to Luke. He told me that he's happy in his new home. He lives in an apartment on the third floor. He says he has a great view of the city from the living room window.

In addition to gender (he, she, or it), English pronouns have number (singular or plural). He, she, and it are singular. They is plural.

AVOID THE Error

Subject pronouns should agree in gender with the words they replace.

Anne works in this office. He is a very hard worker.Anne works in this office.She is a very hard worker.

Subject pronouns should agree in number with the words they replace.

- ✗ I bought some apples at the market. It cost $2 a pound.
- I bought some apples at the market. They cost $2 a pound.

In general, use it and they to refer to people and animals. Use he and she to refer to people.

Many Americans have a special fondness for their pet dogs and cats, and refer to them with he and she.

My dog is a Lhasa Apso. She is a really nice dog.

Lassie is a very famous dog. She was featured in several movies and TV shows.

Do not use he and she to refer to objects or things. It's possible to use he and she to refer to animals, especially pets. (Many people say he or she to refer to pets.)

- ✗ I love Paris. She is a very beautiful city.
   ✓ I love Paris. It is a very beautiful city.
  - I love my pet cat Irene. She is a long-haired Persian.

We use object pronouns after the verb be.

It was me who spilled coffee all over the break room floor.

English speakers no longer use subject pronouns after the verb be, though some very traditional grammar books may tell you differently.

It was I who spilled coffee all over the break room floor.It was me who spilled coffee all over the break room floor.

A subject is required in all English sentences.

Compound Subjects

A compound subject consists of two or more nouns or pronouns.

Phil and Erica are getting married next year. He and she met each other three years ago.

AVOID THE Error

For the sake of politeness, people usually mention themselves last in a compound subject.

Subject Pronouns with Than and As

In comparative sentences with than and as, use a subject pronoun when the pronoun is the subject of the comparison.

He is nicer than she. He is as nice as she.

AVOID THE Error

In informal speech and writing, native speakers often use an object pronoun after than and as. This is acceptable in everyday speech, but should be avoided in more formal kinds of writing, such as papers for school.

- 📕 Formal English
- He is nicer than her.
- ✓ He is nicer than she.

- Informal English
- ✓ He is nicer than her.

Object Pronouns

Object pronouns receive the action of the verb.

He knows	me.
He knows	you.
He knows	him.
He knows	her.
He knows	it.
He knows	us.
He knows	them.

Object pronouns can also be the object of a preposition.

The salad is near	me.
The salad is near	you.
The salad is near	him.
The salad is near	her.
The salad is near	it.
The salad is near	us.
The salad is near	them.

Indirect Objects

An indirect object tells who or what the action was done for. We can express an indirect object in two ways:

For or to and the indirect object or pronoun

Sam moved to Chicago last month, so we gave a going-away party for him.

We gave presents to them.

The verb followed by the indirect and direct objects

Sam moved to Chicago last month, so we gave him a going-away party. We gave them presents.

With some verbs, we state the indirect object with for or to. Usually, the preposition for implies that someone is being helped.

We sent it to them. (They received it.) We sent it for them. (We helped them by mailing it.) I wrote a letter for him. (I helped by writing the letter.) I wrote a letter to him. (I sent him the letter.)

Compound Objects

A compound object consists of two or more nouns or pronouns.

He gave Mary and him a thoughtful wedding gift.

For the sake of politeness, people usually mention themselves last in a compound object.

The boss gave Vickie and me a difficult assignment.

Do not use subject pronouns in compound objects.

Please bring John and I some
 Please bring John and me some water.

Indefinite Pronouns

English has a number of indefinite pronouns, such as all, neither, several, everybody, oneself, both, and so on.

Everyone loves ice cream!

Do you want chocolate or vanilla? I don't want either. I want strawberry.

Some indefinite pronouns are singular; others are plural.

Singular: another, anybody, anyone, anything, each, either, everybody, everything, nobody, no one, neither, nothing, one, oneself, somebody, someone, somethingPlural: both, few, many, others, several

A few indefinite pronouns are singular or plural, depending on the use: all, any, more, most, none, some.

All the neighbors are invited to the block party. (Neighbors is plural.)

All the furniture was covered in dust. (Furniture is an uncountable noun.)

English speakers use you and they to make general statements.

You should always stop completely at a red light.

I wonder if the train is late. I hope they make an announcement.

English speakers often use they and them in place of he or she when they do not know if the person is male or female.

Who's knocking at the door? I don't know, but don't let them in.

If an employee loses their ID badge, they have to go to the security office to request a new one.

AVOID THE Error

In very formal writing, avoid using they, their, and them to refer to unknown or indefinite singular nouns. Use he or she, or rewrite the sentence.

- If an employee loses their ID badge, they have to go to the security office to request a new one.
- If an employee loses his or her ID badge, he or she has to go to the security office to request a new one.

We can use it to refer to conditions in general. This it is impersonal and does not refer to a specific noun.

I like it here.

Reflexive Pronouns

A reflexive pronoun is an object pronoun that refers to the same person as the subject of the verb. A reflexive pronoun can be a direct or indirect object.

He cut himself. (direct object)
I bought myself a new car. (indirect object)

AVOID THE Error

You may hear some people use the improper forms hisself, themself, and theirselves. The correct forms are himself and themselves.

He cut hisself.

- ✓ He cut himself.
- People need to take good care of theirselves.
- People need to take good care of themselves.

Reflexive pronouns are: myself, yourself, himself, yourself, yourselves, and themselves.

The reflexive pronouns are the only pronouns in English that have singular and plural forms for you: yourself and yourselves.

Laura, did you hurt yourself when you slipped? You kids need to stop running around, or you'll hurt yourselves.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use yourself or yourselfs in place of yourselves.

- You guys might hurt yourselfs if you jump off the train before it stops.
- You guys might hurt yourselves if you jump off the train before it stops.
- You guys might hurt yourself if you jump off the train before it stops.

English speakers use reflexive pronouns to emphasize that they are doing the action. In these cases, the word is not a true reflexive.

I cleaned the whole house myself. Mary Lou knitted this sweater herself.

AVOID THE Error

Avoid pronoun shift. Pronoun shift happens when you refer to a noun with pronouns of a different person, number, or gender. For example, you first refer to a person with you, and then switch to they. When you refer to a noun with a pronoun, all of the pronouns that refer to that noun should be in the same person, gender, and number.

- If you practice a sport like roller-skating, it's easy to hurt oneself if you're not careful.
- If you practice a sport like roller-skating, it's easy to hurt yourself if you're not careful.

Do not use a reflexive pronoun in place of a subject pronoun.

- My husband and myself disagree with you.
- My husband and I disagree with you.

Reflexive verbs often use reflexive pronouns. Common reflexive verbs include cut, hurt, look at, and admire. For more information on reflexive verbs, see page 204.

AVOID THE Error

In English, reflexive pronouns are used less frequently than in many other languages.

He washed himself before leaving work.

In English, it's unusual to have a reflexive pronoun and a direct object, unlike other languages.

X He washed himself his hands. ✓ He washed his hands.

Demonstrative Pronouns

This, that, these, and those can be used as pronouns. This and that are singular; these and those are plural. Use this and these for nearby objects or people; use that and those for distant objects or people.

	NEAR	FAR
Singular	this	that
Plural	these	those

This is delicious. Please hand me that. I don't like these. Please give me one of those.

AVOID THE Error

Avoid unclear reference with pronouns. Unclear reference happens when a pronoun can refer to more than one word or has no clear reference.

- Laura told Crystal that she looks great today. (She can refer to Laura or Crystal.)
- When Mark put the new disk drive in the computer, he broke it. (It can refer to the disk drive or computer.)
- Laura told Crystal, "You look great today."
- When Mark put the new disk drive in the computer, he broke the computer.

Interrogative Pronouns

We use the interrogative pronouns to form questions. The main interrogative pronouns include who, what, where, when, why, and how.

Who did you call?What did you order?Where did you go on vacation?

When did you arrive?Why did you sell your car?How did you know?

Use the interrogative pronoun what to ask for the definition of a job or role.

What is an ambassador? (a country's representative to a foreign government)

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the pronoun who to ask for the definition of a job or position.

X Who is an ambassador? Vhat is an ambassador?

Exercises

A Rewrite the sentences by replacing the crossed-out words with a pronoun.

- 1. Please tell Mrs. Lynch to come to my office.
- 2. Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds live in this house.

3. Please put the clean coffee cups in the cupboard.

4. Jennie is a really good teacher.

5. These photocopies are for Mary and Elizabeth.

6. I opened the letter at once.

7. You and I need to work as a team to get this work done on time.

8. Mr. Williams is the manager of this office.

- 9. John and Susan lost John and Susan's ID cards.
- 10. Larissa hit Larissa in the foot when she dropped the dictionary.

B Complete the sentences by writing for or to.

- 1. I made some coffee _____ her.
- 2. John, I need to talk _____ you.
- 3. My father bought a new car _____ me.
- 4. You should always tell the truth ______ a judge.
- 5. Let's buy a birthday cake ______ her.
- C Read the sentences. There is one pronoun error in each sentence. Rewrite the sentences, correcting the errors.
- 1. Me and Larry are going to Las Vegas next month.
- 2. Everyone are here.
- 3. Her is one of my best friends.
- 4. New York is a huge, busy city. He's a fascinating place to live.
- 5. Jonathan and I hurt myself at work yesterday.
- 6. Dmitri and myself inspected the site of the accident personally.
- 7. They brought there books with them.
- 8. Please hang you're coats in the closet.

ADJECTIVES

An adjective is a word that modifies, or describes, a noun or a pronoun. Adjectives usually come before the noun.

The clouds are heavy and dark.

For information on nouns, see page 47.

AVOID THE Error

In general, adjectives do not appear after nouns in English.

X I'd like some licorice red. I'd like some red licorice.

In a few cases, however, adjectives appear after the noun. Adjectives go after:

Indefinite words

Let's go someplace warm.

- Measurement words
  - The pool is six feet deep.
- Direct objects
  - She painted her car purple.
- Linking verbs
  - She is busy in the kitchen.

For more information on linking verbs, see page 122.

AVOID THE Error

Some adjectives do not appear before a noun. They appear only after a linking verb. These verbs include afraid, alive, alone, asleep, ready, sorry, sure, and unable.

Don't wake up the asleep baby.	<ul> <li>The baby is asleep in the other room.</li> </ul>
X She is an alone woman.	✓ The woman is alone .
Some of these errors can be corrected by using a different adjective.
Don't wake up the asleep baby.	<ul> <li>Don't wake up the sleeping baby.</li> </ul>

Common linking verbs include be, become, appear, smell, taste, and look. Smell, taste, and look can be action verbs or linking verbs.

He tasted the ice cream. (action verb) The ice cream tasted delicious. (linking verb)

AVOID THE Error

Use an adjective, not an adverb, after verbs such as feel, taste, and smell, when they are linking verbs.

X I feel badly.

✓ I feel bad.

For more information on adverbs, see page 222.

Formation of Adjectives

We can use a number of suffixes to form adjectives from verbs and nouns. The following table shows some of these suffixes and the adjectives they form:

SUFFIX	ADJECTIVE
-able/-ible	adorable, visible
-ful	beautiful, wonderful
-ous	humorous
-у	funny
-ly	friendly, neighborly
-ic	democratic
-ive	attractive, attentive

AVOID THE Error

Adjectives do not have plural forms in English.

-ed and -ing Adjectives

A number of adjective pairs are formed by adding -ed or -ing to a verb.

fascinating	fascinated interesting	interested
stimulating	stimulated

Each adjective in the pair has a different meaning. Adjectives ending in -ing describe the feeling produced by an object or person. Adjectives ending in -ed describe the feelings of a person.

This class is interesting.	All the students are interested in this class.
I hate this boring movie.	I was bored during the entire movie.

AVOID THE Error

Not all adjectives that end in -ed are formed from verbs. Some are formed from nouns. These adjectives do not have -ing forms.

- Cleveland is a skill carpenter and electrician.
- Cleveland is a skilling carpenter and electrician.
- Her daughter is in a special math class for gift children.
- Her daughter is in a special math class for gifting children.

- Cleveland is a skilled carpenter and electrician.
- Her daughter is in a special math class for gifted children.

Nouns as Modifiers

Sometimes, a noun can modify another noun.

beef hamburgers silk scarf

diamond ring

AVOID THE Error

When a noun modifies another noun, the first noun is usually singular.

✓ bee hive
✓ ant colony
If a noun is usually plural or refers to people, it can be plural when modifying another noun.
✓ sports drink
✓ sports car
✓ women golfers

Order of Adjectives

When more than one adjective comes before a noun, the adjectives often are ordered according to the following table:

UALITY	PHYSICAL	DESCRIPTIO	N	ORIGIN	MATERIAL	NOUN
SIZE	SHAPE	AGE	COLOR
beautiful		ancient	green	Chinese	porcelain	vase
delicious		fresh		Italian		noodles interesting	short story
valuable larg	e oval		white			diamono tall	thin	old		foreign		teacher
sleek		new	red	French		van hideous			yellow		plastic	flowers
large		new			neoprene	bottle

If the noun has a purpose (a word that says what the noun is used for or used to do), the adjective that describes the purpose goes right before the noun.

a beautiful flower vase

- a red delivery van
- a large neoprene water bottle
- a small plastic drinking bottle

Put possessive nouns, possessive adjectives, determiners, and numbers before the first adjective.

Mike's brand-new SUV looks great.

He took several beautiful photographs of the parade.

I'd like four fresh loaves of Italian whole wheat bread, please.

Mack wants to see an exciting action movie, but Sienna wants to see a romantic love story.

When adjectives come after a linking verb, we usually put and before the last adjective.

- Judy is blond, beautiful.
- ✓ Judy is blond and beautiful.
- X The juice is cool, refreshing.
- ✓ The juice is cool and refreshing.

When adjectives come before a noun, we usually leave out and.

- A short and bossy clerk checked the forms for accuracy.
- A short, bossy clerk checked the forms for accuracy.
- A smart and hardworking student will usually get good grades.
- A smart, hardworking student will usually get good grades.

For information on using commas with adjectives, see page 36.

An intensifier such as really or very can come before an adjective or group of adjectives.

This chocolate cake is really delicious.

He bought a very expensive new imported bicycle last year.

An intensifier is a kind of adverb. For information on adverbs, see page 222.

Comparison of Adjectives

We use comparatives and superlatives to compare two or more things. We can talk about which person or thing is bigger, smaller, taller, older, more expensive, and so on. Comparatives are formed with ... -er than and more ... than. We use comparatives to talk about two things. Superlatives are formed with the ... -est and the most. ... We use superlatives to talk about three or more things.

This new bicycle is cheap.	This used car is expensive.
That new bicycle is cheaper.	The new car is more expensive.
This used bicycle is the	That sports car is the most
cheapest.	expensive.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the comparative to compare three or more things; use the superlative.

- China is the more populous country in the world.
- China is the most populous country in the world.

... -er than and the ... -est

Use ... -er than and the ... -est with one-syllable adjectives and two-syllable adjectives that end in -y.

Chicago's John Hancock Center is taller than New York's Empire State Building.

Taipei 101 is the tallest building in the world.

This box is heavier than that box.

The red box is the heaviest.

AVOID THE Error

Do not say taller from. Use taller than.

John is taller from Mike.
John is taller than Mike.

To spell comparatives with -er and -est, follow these rules:

Add -er or -est to most adjectives.

hard harder hardest

When an adjective ends in a consonant + y, change the y to i and add -er or -est.

heavy heavier heaviest

When an adjective ends in a vowel + consonant, double the final consonant and add -er or - est.

fat fatter fattest

When an adjective ends in a vowel, add -r or -st.

More ... Than and The Most ...

Use more ... than and the most ... with most adjectives of two or more syllables.

English is more difficult than Spanish. Arabic is the most difficult language.

AVOID THE Error

A few two-syllable adjectives use -er: simple, quiet, narrow, and shallow.

- The other end of the pool is more shallow than this one.
- The other end of the pool is shallower than this one.

- A few adjectives have two forms, such as handsome and angry.
- ✓ Joel is more handsome than Conroy.
- ✓ Joel is handsomer than Conroy.

AVOID THE Error

Avoid double comparatives and superlatives.

- X Ms. Lin is the most nicest Ms. Lin is the nicest teacher teacher at our school. at our school.

Do not use then in place of than.

- X Today is cooler then vesterday.
- Today is cooler than vesterday.

Irregular Comparatives and Superlatives

Some adjectives do not follow the regular pattern. The following table shows some important irregular comparatives and superlatives:

ADJECTIVE	COMPARATIVE	SUPERLATIVE
good	better	best
bad	worse	worst

AVOID THE Error

Do not use more good for better or the most good for the best.

X The most good Chinese The best Chinese restaurant restaurant in this town is the in this town is the Jade Jade House. House.

Here are some sentences with examples of adjectives that do not follow the regular pattern.

His grades this year are much worse than last year's. He wore his best suit to the party.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use best in place of an adjective such as great, excellent, or another positive adjective.

Use best only when you are comparing three or more things.

✗ I hope you have a best vacation.

 I hope you have a great vacation.

When the comparison is equal, we use as ... as. ...

John is as nice as Mary.

Expressions with So + Adjective + That

We can use so + adjective + that to talk about extreme conditions and their consequences.

She is so intelligent that she graduated from high school when she was sixteen.

I'm so tired that I need to take a nap.

Expressions with Too ... To

Too ... to can be used to talk about extreme conditions and their consequences.

I am too tired to work. John's son is still too young to talk.

We can say too + adjective in shortened versions of too ... to expressions, especially in informal settings.

It's too hot. (meaning that it's too hot to be comfortable, to do anything, etc.)

Expressions with So ... To ...

So ... to can be used to describe our feelings about doing something.

I am so excited to meet her. I am so happy to have passed that test.

AVOID THE Error

Be careful about substituting too for very, so, or really. Sometimes doing so changes the meaning.

He is very proud to meet her. (He is extremely proud.)

He is too proud to meet her. (Because of his pride, he won't meet her.)

Sometimes, the substitution does not make sense.

✓ I am very happy to meet you. ✗ I am too happy to meet you.

We can also use so + adjective to express a strong feeling. This is especially common in informal language. Usually speakers say so with special emphasis.

This yogurt is so good! Allen is so cute!

AVOID THE Error

In formal English, use very, extremely, or another qualifier instead of so.

I am so busy today.I am very busy today.

Adjectives + Infinitives and Adjectives + That Clauses

These adjectives can be followed with an infinitive or a that clause to tell how someone feels about a situation:

afraid proud sad happy surprised delighted sorry unhappy

Use a that clause if the subjects are different.

I am happy that you came.

I was surprised that we won.

Use a that clause or an infinitive if the subjects are the same.

I am happy to come.	I am happy that I came .
I am happy to be here.	I am happy that I am here.

These adjectives are often used with an infinitive that gives more information:

able ready likely

We are ready to leave.

I'm sorry. I'm not able to go to your party.

Exercises

A Write the words in parentheses in the correct order. Use commas as necessary.

1. Let's order some (warm/garlic/nice) bread to eat with the spaghetti.

2. (green/favorite/cotton/John's) T-shirt is lying on the floor.

- 3. Those (rain/dark/heavy) clouds make me think a thunderstorm is coming.
- 4. She bought a (yellow/hybrid/new) car this year.
- 5. She bought an (expensive/Chinese/antique) teapot.
- 6. Here is a (jelly/warm/fresh) doughnut.

7. In Egypt, a/an (huge/stone/carved/ancient) head was recently discovered buried in sand.

- 8. Please throw away those (plastic/ugly/yellow) flowers.
- B Using the word in parentheses, complete the sentences by writing an adjective with -ed or ing on the line.
- 1. This book is really _____ (interest).
- 2. I felt _____ (bore) during Professor Smith's class.
- 3. We were _____ (excite) to receive your letter.
- 4. Jean felt _____ (frighten), so she locked the front door.
- 5. Working in a factory can be a _____ (bore) job.
- 6. This novel is ______ (fascinate). I can't stop reading!
- Write the comparative or superlative form of the adjective in parentheses. Use ... -er than, the ... -est, more ... than, or the most. ...
- 1. The Mississippi is _____ (long) river in the United States.
- 2. The diving pool is _____ (deep) the swimming pool.
- 3. A Lexus is _____ (expensive) a Volkswagen.
- 4. I think that Kelly is _____ (good) player on the team.
- 5. This is the _____ (delicious) soup I've ever tried.
- 6. I think that yellow roses are _____ (beautiful) red roses.

7. The anaconda is one of ______ (dangerous) snakes in the world.

- 8. Today is _____ (warm) yesterday.
- 9. This is the _____ (boring) movie I've ever seen.
- 10. John's test score is _____ (high) Frank's.

POSSESSIVE WORDS

Possessive words show who owns something. These words also show who or what something belongs to. We use possessive words in place of possessive nouns. There are two kinds of possessives: possessive adjectives and possessive pronouns. For information on possessive nouns, see page 54.

We use possessive adjectives in front of nouns. The possessive adjective shows who or what the noun belongs to.

His computer isn't working today.

Marianne parked her car down the street.

We use possessive pronouns in place of nouns. A possessive pronoun can be the subject of a sentence, be the object, or follow a verb such as be.

My coat is blue. (subject) Please help her find her coat. (object) Those coats are Chuck's and Nancy's. (follows be) Mine is blue. Please help me find hers.

Those coats are theirs.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use apostrophes with possessive adjectives or pronouns.

- X I think that he lost his' pens.
- I think that these packages are our's.
- ✓ I think that these packages are ours.

✓ I think that he lost his pens.

This table shows all the possessive adjectives and possessive pronouns:

POSSESSIVE ADJECTIVE	POSSESSIVE PRONOUN
my	mine
your	yours
his	his her	hers its our	ours
their	theirs

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the + possessive adjective. Use	the or the possessive adjective.
---	---

Look at the her new car.	✓ Look at her new car.
	✓ Look at the new car.
Do not use the + possessive pronoun. Use only the possessive pronoun.
X That new car is the hers .	✓ That new car is hers .

Your and yours are both singular and plural.

John, I love your new hat.John, is this hat yours?John and Mary, I love yournew car.John and Mary, is that new caryours?

AVOID THE Error

There is no possessive pronoun its.

- X That water bowl is its.
- ✓ That water bowl is the dog's.

His and her agree with the possessor.

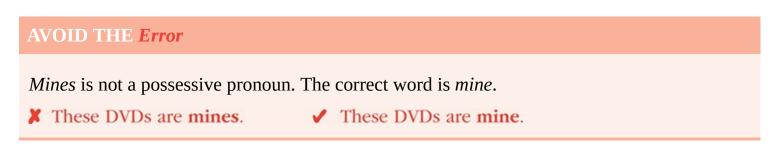

I heard that Mary has a new boyfriend. Her new boyfriend is really cute!

AVOID THE Error

His and her should agree with the possessor, not with the thing possessed.

I heard that Mary has a new boyfriend. His new boyfriend is really cute!  I heard that Mary has a new boyfriend. Her new boyfriend is really cute! His is both a possessive pronoun and a possessive adjective.

His name is Max. (possessive adjective) That car is his. (possessive pronoun)

In many languages, speakers use possessive adjectives less frequently than English speakers do. English tends to use these words where other languages use the.

Use possessive adjectives to talk about parts of our bodies.

I need to wash my hands.

I hurt my knee while I was rock climbing.

In English, we use possessive adjectives to talk about our serving of food.

I'd like some ice cream with my pie, please.

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse the possessive adjective:

Their with there or they're > Please tell the guests to leave Please tell the guests to they're hats and coats in the leave their hats and coats in bedroom. the bedroom. X Please tell the guests to leave there hats and coats in the bedroom. Its with the contraction it's (it is) X The dog is thirsty. Please put The dog is thirsty. Please put some water in it's bowl. some water in its bowl. Your with the contraction you're (you are) X You're cooking is delicious, ✓ Your cooking is delicious, Jennifer. Jennifer.

Possessive adjectives and possessive pronouns should agree with the words they replace.

This book is Mary's.This book is hers.You had a good idea.Your idea is a good one.

AVOID THE Error

Avoid pronoun shift.

- If you leave your apartment, make sure you lock their doors.
- If you leave your apartment, make sure you lock your doors.

When a noun has adjectives before it, the possessive adjective goes before the adjectives.

What is your favorite food? I lost my new green pen.

Do not use the before a possessive adjective or pronoun.

- X That computer is the hers.
- That computer is hers.
- X This is the her office.
- ✓ This is her office.

We can use possessive pronouns in expressions with of.

Raymond is a good friend of mine.

Do you know Ron Pope? A friend of his can get us tickets to the big basketball game! Some relatives of mine will be visiting me next month.

AVOID THE Error

Avoid unclear references with pronouns. An unclear reference happens when a pronoun can refer to more than one word or has no clear reference.

- Laura told Ellen that she found her book. (Her can refer to either Laura or Ellen.)
- Laura told Ellen, "I found my book."

We can use own and of (my) own to emphasize possessive adjectives.

I have my own car now. I just	I have a car of my own. I am bought a new convertible!	no longer using my parent's car.

AVOID THE Error

Avoid overusing own. Use own only when necessary to clarify that something belongs to oneself and not another person, or is separate from another's.

- Type your answers on your own keyboard. (Own is not necessary; it's implied you will use your keyboard.)
- Type your answers on your keyboard.
- Write your answers on your own paper. (Do not write on another's paper, or do not write in the book but rather on other paper.)
- Write your answers on your paper. (Write your answers on the paper you have.)

Own is also a verb.

John owns that apartment building.

I saw a good friend of mine yesterday.

AVOID THE Error

Use a possessive pronoun, not a possessive adjective, after of.

- I met some friends of him at the meeting.
- I met some friends of his at the meeting.

We use whose to ask questions about who owns something. The answer to a question with whose is a possessive word.

Whose book is this? It's mine. Whose is this? It's hers.

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse who's and whose. Who's is the abbreviation for who is.

- Whose on first base?
- Who's on first base?
- Who's book is this?
- ✓ Whose book is this?

Exercises

A Complete the sentences by circling the correct word.

- 1. This book is (my/mine).
- 2. It's a shame that he wrecked (her/hers) car in the accident.

- 3. (They're/Their/There) vacation begins next Thursday.
- 4. Which car is (their/theirs)?
- 5. John, please don't leave (your/you're/yours) shoes in the middle of the living room floor.
- 6. Which desks are (our/ours)?
- 7. This jacket is (him/his).
- 8. She bought (her/hers) house in 2006.
- 9. You can play games using the mouse and screen on (your/yours/you're) computer.
- 10. Listen! (My/Mine) favorite song is playing on the radio.
- 11. Remember to look people in (there/their) eyes.
- 12. I think that this jacket is (your/yours).
- B Complete the sentences with a possessive adjective or pronoun by giving the correct form of the word in parentheses, following the example.
- 1. I think that this pen is _____. (I)
- 2. Where did you put _____ coat? (you)
- 3. We need to be more careful with _____ money. (us)
- 4. Our neighbor always parks _____ car in front of our house. (he)
- 5. Be careful with those antique plates. They're not _____. (you)
- 6. Mr. and Mrs. Benny are very careful with _____ money. (they)
- 7. Make sure you lock ______ apartment door at night. (you)
- 8. The airline lost ______ luggage, so I had to buy new clothes during my vacation. (I)
- 9. This isn't my notebook. ______ is dark red. (I)
- 10. My birthday is July 15. When is _____? (you)
- 11. I helped a neighbor of ______ to start his car yesterday. (I)
- 12. That student left ______ homework at home. (she)

VERBS

Verbs are words that indicate an action or a state.

He is running. (action) He feels tired. (state)

A sentence can have a single verb or a verb phrase.

Rabbits love carrots. The rabbit is eating a carrot now.

A verb phrase is formed with an auxiliary verb (be or have) plus a present or past participle.

He is eating now. He has eaten dinner already.

For information on present participles, see page 137. For information on past participles, see page 162–164.

A verb phrase can also be formed with a modal verb and a verb.

He will arrive soon. He might bring a present.

For information on modal verbs, see page 175.

Verb Tense

Verbs change forms to show different tenses. A tense tells when the action happened.

She loves her new home. (present) He shopped at the supermarket yesterday. (past) They will arrive tomorrow. (future)

Verb forms also show whether the action is always true, completed, or in progress.

Giraffes have long necks. (always true)She is running. (in progress)He's been a teacher for three years. (began in the past and is true now)

Many verbs are related to nouns or adjectives and have the same forms.

We raced each other. She won the race.

The room is clean. Let's clean the room.

They put the juice in bottles. They bottled the juice.

Sometimes, a suffix will change a word into a verb.

He lowered the shades to darken the room.. He will authorize the employees to leave early.

This table shows suffixes that can change words to verbs:

SUFFIX	FUNCTION	WORD	VERB
-fy	changes a noun to a verb	glory	glorify
-ize	changes a noun to a verb	author	authorize
-en	changes an adjective to a verb	dark	darken
-ate	changes an adjective to a verb	active	activate

AVOID THE Error

Do not make new verbs from nouns or adjectives.

- X She colded the juice.
- ✓ She chilled the juice.
- The mechanic lubrified the car.
- ✓ The mechanic lubricated the car.

Transitive and Intransitive Verbs

Verbs can be transitive or intransitive. Transitive and intransitive verbs are all action verbs—they show actions. Transitive verbs can have a direct object.

He ate an apple.

An intransitive verb cannot have a direct object.

He swims every morning.

In the last sentence, with her is a prepositional phrase that modifies the verb. It is not a direct object.

Linking Verbs

A linking verb connects the subject of a sentence to information about the subject. Linking verbs are not action verbs. Linking verbs show a state. Common linking verbs include be, become, and seem.

Rhonda is a teacher. Marylou is sick today. Jane became a teacher in 2007. Mark seems tired today.

A linking verb can be followed by an adjective, adverb, or noun.

The book is expensive. (adjective) The book is on the table. (prepositional phrase that functions as an adverb) The book is a masterpiece. (noun)

A noun can follow a verb such as be or become, but these nouns are not direct objects. These nouns are complements of verbs. A complement refers to the subject of the sentence.

He became a teacher in 2008. (Teacher refers to he.) She is our neighbor. (Neighbor refers to her.)

AVOID THE Error

Even though complements are not objects of the verb, speakers normally do not use subject pronouns for them. They use object pronouns.

Who's at the door? 🗱 It's I, Tim. 🖌 It's me, Tim.

For more information about pronouns, see page 88.

Some verbs, such as feel, taste, smell, look, and turn, can be linking verbs or action verbs with different but related meanings. This table shows related linking and action verbs:

LINKING VERB	ACTION VERB
This cheese tastes terrible.	Tim tasted the cheese.
Magda turned red.	Magda turned the page.
You look tired.	Please look at page 21.
She appears tired.	Harry Potter suddenly appeared out of nowhere.

The following chapters will give more detail on each verb tense.

VERBS Be: Simple Present Tense

We use the present tense of be to show a state or a quality of something at present.

I am happy to meet you. He's very sleepy this morning. She is sick today. The sky is gray today. Are you ready to order? They're very busy today.

We also use the present tense of be to show a state or quality that is always true.

The sky is blue. Marge is a very nice person.

We can follow the verb be with a noun, an adjective, or an adverb.

She's an engineer. (noun) She's happy today. (adjective) He's in his office. (prepositional phrase that functions as an adverb)

AVOID THE Error

Do not use have with adjectives or nouns such as hot, cold, hunger/hungry, or thirst/thirsty. Use be + adjective.

X I have cold.

✓ I am cold.

Do not use have or having to state one's age. Use be + the age.

- I have twenty years.
- ✓ I am twenty years old.
- X I having 39 years.
- ✓ I am 39 years old.

Formation

This table shows the affirmative forms of the verb be:

I	am ('m)	١
He She It	is ('s)	cold.
We You They	are ('re)

AVOID THE Error

Do not use be in place of am, is, are, and so on.

✗ He be tired.
✓ He is tired.
```

This table shows the negative forms of the simple present tense of be:

AVOID THE Error

Do not insert no into a sentence to make it negative. Use not or a contraction of not.

In everyday speech and writing, we use contractions. In formal writing, avoid contractions.

INFORMAL	FORMAL
He's a teacher	He is a teacher.
They're experts in their fields.	They are experts in their fields.

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse homonyms such as its and it's, we're and were, or they're, their, and there. Pronoun + verb contractions (such as it's and they're) always have an apostrophe. The possessive its never has an apostrophe.

- 🗶 I just got a new dog. Its very 🛛 🖌 I just got a new dog. It's friendly and good with children.
- very friendly and good with children.
- Were ready to leave.
- X I think that their lost.
- X I think there lost.

- ✓ We're ready to leave.
- ✓ I think that they're lost.

For more information on homonyms, see page 15.

He, she, it, we, you, and they + be + not all have two contracted forms. The two forms can be used interchangeably.

They're not here. They aren't here.

I am not has only one contracted form: I'm not.

I'm not in my car. I'm on the bus.

AVOID THE Error
Do not omit the verb be .
🗶 I sleepy.	✓ I'm sleepy.
X She a teacher.	✓ She's a teacher.
Do not use amn't or ain't . Use I am not or I'm not .
X I ain't late.	✓ I am not late.
X I amn't late.	✓ I'm not late.

Forms of be can also be in contractions with nouns, proper nouns, and question words in speech and informal writing.

Where's the bathroom? When's the meeting? How's the salad? Pat's the boss The door's open. Please close it.

AVOID THE Error

In a contraction, an apostrophe replaces the deleted letter or letters.

- He is'nt at work today. ✓ He isn't at work today.
- X Theyr'e at the supermarket. ✓ They're at the supermarket.

Questions with Be in the Simple Present Tense

Yes/No Questions

To form yes/no questions (questions that can be answered with either yes or no), invert the subject and the verb and add a question mark:

They are ready to leave.

- - → Are they ready to leave?

AVOID THE Error

In informal speech and writing, you may indicate a yes/no question with rising intonation only (that is, without the inversion of subject and verb) and a question mark—often when expressing surprise. In formal writing, always invert the subject and verb and use a question mark.

- She's married? I thought she was single! (formal)
- She's married? I thought she was single! (informal)
- X Many participants have signed up for the workshop? (formal)
- Have many participants signed up for the workshop? (formal)

Wh- Questions

To form wh- questions, add a wh- word (question word) and invert the subject and verb.

Where's the bathroom? How's the weather today?  When who is the subject of a question, the subject and verb are not inverted. Who is the first word in the question.

X Is who ready to leave?

✓ Who is ready to leave?

Normally, when speaking, people do not say am I not in questions. They usually say aren't I.

Why aren't I getting a raise? Aren't I a good student?

Exercises

A Write the contraction on the line.

1.	l am
2.	he is
3.	she is
4.	it is
5.	you are
6.	we are
7.	they are
8.	they are not
9.	it is not
10.	we are not

B Complete the sentences by writing am, is, or are on the line.

1. I _____ tired today.

- 2. She _____ a good student.
- 3. They _____ very nice neighbors.

- 4. He _____ at the mall.
- 5. I think that you _____ wrong about that.
- 6. You _____ late to work all the time.
- 7. We _____ ready to leave for the movies.
- 8. I _____ at work right now.
- 9. These grapes _____ delicious.
- 10. Tom and Susan _____ married.
- 11. Mr. Quigley _____ a very nice neighbor.
- 12. Look! Some deer _____ in the garden.

C Write the affirmative or negative form of be on the line.

- 1. Carlos is happy today. He ______ sad.
- 2. Sally isn't a librarian. She ______ a teacher.
- 3. That car is new. It _____ used.
- 4. These books ______ expensive. They're cheap.

- 6. The house ______ dirty. It's clean.
- 7. Potato chips ______ salty. They aren't sweet.
- 8. This book isn't boring. It ______ interesting.
- 9. The water isn't cold. It _____ warm.
- 10. The girls ______ busy. They're studying for a big test.
- 11. These towels ______ dry. Please put them in the dryer.
- 12. John ______ at his desk. He's at lunch right now, I think.

VERBS Simple Present Tense

We use the simple present tense to talk about:

- Things that are always true
  - Cats hate water.
- Things that happen regularly
  - School starts in fall.
- Habits and routines
  - I always get up at 5:00 A.M.
- Future actions that are part of a schedule
  - My train leaves at 5:21 P.M.

AVOID THE Error

Verbs such as believe, hate, know, like, and love are never used in the progressive tenses. Use the simple present tense to talk about these actions in the present.

- X Tom is knowing French.
  - . Tom knows French.
- Rhonda is really liking her new apartment.
- Rhonda really likes her new apartment.

Verbs that are usually not used in the progressive tenses include:

believe feel forget hate have (possess) know like love mean need own prefer remember seem want

We also use the simple present tense in simple conditional sentences. See page 259 for more information about these sentences. For more information on the present progressive, see page 137. For more information on the past progressive tense, see page 159.

Formation

This table shows the affirmative forms of the simple present tense:

I We You They	live	in Chicago.
He She It	lives

AVOID THE Error

Don't forget to add -s (or -es) to the base form of simple present-tense verbs with he, she, and it.

He like that restaurant.
He likes that restaurant.
Do not add -s (or -es) to simple present-tense verbs with I, you, we, and they.
I likes that restaurant.
I like that restaurant.

This table shows the negative forms of the simple present tense:

I We You They	do not (don't)	live in Chicago.
He She It	does not (doesn't)

AVOID THE Error

Do not add -s (or -es) to the main verb in negative sentences.

X I don't likes that restaurant. I don't like that restaurant.

Spelling the Simple Present Tense

To spell the he, she, and it forms of simple present tense verbs, follow these rules:

Add -s to the base forms of most verbs.
learn—learns	read—reads	eat—eats	sleep—sleeps
Add - e s to the bas	e forms of verbs t	hat end in -s, -sh, -c	h, -z, or -o.
buzz-buzzes	kiss—kisses	miss-misses	do-does
For verbs that end	l in consonant + y,	change the $y$ to $i$ and	d add -es to the verb.
try—tries	fly—flies	study-studies	reply-replies
For verbs that end in vowel + $y$ , add - $s$ .
buy—buys	stay—stay s	play—plays
Have is irregular: has .
He has a brand-new car.

Pronouncing Simple Present-Tense Verbs

To pronounce the he, she, and it forms of simple present-tense verbs, follow these rules:

With verbs that end in /s, z,  $\int$ , t $\int$ , and /ds/, pronounce the ending / $\Im$ z/.

kisses buzzes washes teaches fixes judges

Pronounce the ending as /s/ with verbs that end in a voiceless consonant such as /f, t, k, p/. (The vocal chords do not vibrate when you say voiceless sounds.)

stops kicks laughs writes

Pronounce the ending as /z/ with verbs ending in a vowel or a voiced consonant such as /v, d, g, n, m, l/. (The vocal chords vibrate when you say vowels and voiced consonants.)

rides drives smiles flies mines does pays

For more information on voiced and voiceless sounds, see page 4.

Adverbs with the Simple Present Tense

We often use adverbs such as always, sometimes, never, usually, and rarely with the simple present tense.

He always arrives late. She never gets sick. Sometimes, traffic to the beach is backed up for miles.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the present tense of use to to talk about habits in the present. Use the simple present tense. Use to is used in the past tense (used to).

X I use to live in Texas.

I live in Texas.

Use be + used to + gerund to talk about things you are accustomed to.

A gerund is a verb ending in -ing that functions as a noun. For more information on gerunds, see page 211.

I am used to getting up at 5:00 A.M. every day.

Questions in the Simple Present Tense

To form questions with the simple present tense, we use the auxiliary verb do.

Yes/No Questions

For yes/no questions, delete the ending from the verb, if any, and add do or does and a question mark.

He likes action movies.

Does he like action movies?

I like broccoli.

- Do you like broccoli?

AVOID THE Error

When you form a question where the main verb is do, do not omit the word do.

- Does he do any work?
- X Do they well in school?
- Do they do well in school?

Wh- Questions

To form wh- questions, add a question word, delete the ending from the verb (if any), and add a form of do and a question mark.

He lives in China. Where does he live? ->

AVOID THE Error

Delete -s from the main verb in questions in the simple present tense, and add it to do (does). Do not repeat -s (or -es) with the main verb in questions.

- X Do she likes Italian food?
- ✓ Does she like Italian food?
- begins?
- What time do the party V What time does the party begin?

When the question word is the subject of the question, do not use do. Add a question word and a question mark.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott live in this house.

Who lives in this house?

Exercises

A Complete the sentences by writing the verb in parentheses in the simple present tense.

- 1. Tom (live) in California.
- 2. Every day, my children _____ (play) in the park.
- 3. Mrs. Williams _____ (leave) for work at seven o'clock every day.
- 4. Every day Mary _____ (send) a lot of e-mails to her friends.
- 5. My manager always _____ (check) my work carefully.
- 6. Francisco (have) a new car.
- 7. They _____ (work) at Discount Shoes.
- 8. Ted never _____ (watch) reality shows on TV.
- 9. She always ______ (study) English at night, after her children go to sleep.

B Write questions for which the underlined words are the answers, following the example.

1. He lives in Chicago.

Where does he live?

- 2. They usually eat dinner at six o'clock.
- 3. Mary works in this office.

4. David studies English at night.

5. Christine has two children.

6. He always closes the door with a loud slam.

7. We usually buy bread at the farmers' market.

8. I usually sit with Chris in class.

- 9. Patricia knows the manager of this office.
- 10. We keep the cleaning supplies under the sink.

C Rewrite the sentences in the negative, using don't or doesn't.

1. Mary likes Italian food.

2. Frank and Mark drive to work together every day.

- 3. Maria watches TV at night after work.
- 4. I like to go to the movies on Friday nights.

5. He studies English at Dyson Community College.

6. Mrs. Fisher cooks dinner on Saturdays.

7. Fred and Amanda live next door to us.

8. That restaurant opens on Monday.

9. Olga works on weekends.

10. Mr. Khomsi works downtown.

VERBS Present Progressive Tense

We use the present progressive tense to talk about:

Actions that are happening right now

He's cooking dinner.

They're walking to the park.

Future plans

After work I'm going to a concert. In an hour, I am driving to the supermarket.

Formation

We form the present progressive tense with a form of the verb be and a present participle (a verb + -ing).

I am getting ready for work. John is driving to work. Bill and Mary are watching TV.

AVOID THE Error

Use a complete verb phrase in the present progressive tense. Do not omit the form of the verb be.

X He driving home.

✓ He is driving home.

Do not use the base form be.

- He be driving home.
- ✓ He is driving home.

This table shows the affirmative and negative forms of the present progressive tense:

Ι	am ('m)	(not)	1
He She It	is ('s)	(not/isn't)	going to the store.
We You They	are ('re)	(not/aren't)

AVOID THE Error

Verbs such as believe, hate, know, like, and love are not normally used in the progressive tenses. Use the simple present tense to talk about them in the present tense.

X Tom is hating his ex-wife.	✓ Tom hates his ex-wife.
Sam is believing that the world is flat.	✓ Sam believes that the world is flat.

For a list of verbs normally not used in the progressive tenses, see pages 130–131.

Verbs that refer to the senses, such as taste, smell, and so on, have slightly different meanings in the present progressive and simple present tenses. In the simple present tense, they refer to the feeling or sensation that something causes. In the present progressive tense, they refer to the action of smelling, tasting, and so on.

That cheese tastes terrible! He is tasting the cheese.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the simple present tense to talk about an action that is in progress in the present. Use the present progressive.

- X Watch out! A car comes.
- ✓ Watch out! A car is coming.

Spelling Present Participles

A few simple spelling rules help you write present participles correctly.

Add -ing to most base verbs.

eateat ing sleep buy	sleep ing buy ing
If a verb ends in -ie , change -ie to y	and add - ing .
die	dying
If a verb ends in a consonant and - e ,	drop the -e and add -ing .
come	coming
write	writing
dance	dancing
If a one-syllable verb ends in a vowel and a consonant, double the consonant and add -ing.
run	run n ing
get	getting stopping

If a two-syllable verb is stressed on the last syllable and ends in a vowel and a consonant, double the consonant and add -ing.

beginning

AVOID THE Error

When adding -ing, do not double the final consonant of a two-syllable verb if the first syllable of the verb is stressed.

- ✗ happenning
  ✓ happening
  ✗ visitting ✓ visiting
- X openning ✓ opening
- 🗶 listenning 🖌 🖌 listening

When adding -ing, do not double the final consonant if the verb ends in two consonants.

🗶 startted 🖌 🖌 started

When adding -ing, do not double the final -w, -x, or -y.

- X snowwing ✓ snowing
- ✗ boxxing
  ✓ boxing
- 🗶 playying 🗸 playing

Questions in the Present Progressive Tense

Yes/No Questions

To form yes/no questions in the present progressive tense, invert the subject and the verb be (is/are) and add a question mark.

He is driving to work today  $\rightarrow$  Is he driving to work today?

Wh- Questions

To form wh- questions, add a wh- word, invert the subject and the verb be (is/are), and add a question mark.

AVOID THE Error

If the question word is the subject of the sentence, do not invert the subject and be. Who is the first word in the question.

✗ Is who using the computer? ✓ Who is using the computer?

Exercises

- A What are they doing? Write sentences using the present progressive tense and following the example.
  - 1. Robert/cook/dinner.

Robert is cooking dinner.

- 2. Jean/set/the table.
- 3. Bob and Larry/watch TV/in the living room.
- 4. I/not/talk/on the phone.
- 5. We/play/cards after dinner.
- 6. David/talk to/a friend in Japan.

7. Vickie and Joanne/study/in the library.

8. Alan/drive/home.

9. We/clean/the bathrooms.

10. They/take/the ten o'clock train tomorrow.

11. I/read/news on my new smart phone.

12. They/shop/at the farmers' market.

B For each sentence, write a matching yes/no question.

- 1. Phil and Cathy are exercising in the park.
- 2. Frank is playing computer games.
- 3. I am listening to music.
- 4. The children are playing a game.
- 5. We are having fun.
- 6. Tim is studying in his room.
- C Complete the sentences by writing the verb in parentheses in the simple present tense or present progressive tense.
- 1. Tom _____ (wash) his new car every Sunday.

- 2. Right now, Tom ______ (wash) his car at the car wash.
- 3. In summer, Mrs. William ______ (play) tennis every day after work.
- 4. Today Mrs. Williams ______ (play) tennis with her best friend, Betty Mahaffey.
- 5. My dog usually______ (sleep) most of the time.
- 6. Right now, my dog ______ (sleep) near the fireplace.
- 7. Pedro and Allen ______ (do) their English homework every night after dinner.
- 8. At the moment, they ______ (not study). They _____ (work).
- 9. Tina _____ (talk) on the phone with her mother now.
- 10. She _____ (call) her mother every night at 9:30.
- 11. We _____ (make) cookies every year during the holidays.
- 12. Right now, we ______ (make) gingerbread cookies.

VERBS Imperatives

We use imperatives to give commands, make offers or invitations, give directions, and give warnings.

Formation

Form imperatives using the base form of the verb.

Be quiet! (command) Stop talking! (command) Have a can of soda! (offer) Turn left at the fountain. (directions) Watch out! A bus is coming. (warning)

For negative imperatives, use do not or don't.

Don't walk on the grass. Do not drink coffee at bedtime.

AVOID THE Error

We use exclamation marks with imperatives to express strong emotion. If the imperative is a simple instruction or explanation, an exclamation mark is not needed.

Watch out for the car.
 Watch out for the car! (said when a car is about to hit someone)
 Turn left at Green Street!
 Turn left at Green Street. (said as a simple instruction)

For more information on exclamation marks, see pages 32–33.

Use let's to make suggestions and give commands that include the speaker. Let's is short for let us.

Let's go shopping. Let's hurry up.

The negative form of let's is let's not:

Let's not forget our umbrellas today. It looks like rain.

AVOID THE Error

Let's is almost always used as a contraction.

Let us go shopping.Let's go shopping.

Let us may be used in highly formal settings, such as speeches.

On this holiday, let us remember the life and work of Dr. Martin Luther King.

Let's is always spelled with an apostrophe.

✗ Lets leave soon.
✓ Let's leave soon.

We can add you to an imperative to soften the imperative or to get the listener's attention.

You sit here for the present.

Making Polite Requests

Imperatives are not always the best way to make a suggestion or a polite request. To make polite requests, you can add the word please to an imperative. Please can come at the beginning or end of a sentence.

Please hang your coat in the hall closet.

Hang your coat in the hall closet, please.

English speakers can also use let's to soften the imperative.

Let's hang your coat in the hall closet.

In addition, English speakers can use sentences and questions with modal verbs such as can or could as a kind of polite request or imperative.

You can hang your coat in the closet.

Can you hang your coat in the closet?

Could you hang your coat in the closet?

English speakers may also make polite requests in the form of advice with the modal verb should.

You should hang your coat in the closet.

For more information on modal verbs, see page 175.

We can also form polite requests with I'd like and we'd like.

I'd like you to hang your coat in the closet. (In this situation, I'd like is stronger than can or could.)

I'd like is common in restaurants and other situations when you are ordering.

I'd like a large orange juice, please.

AVOID THE Error

In polite situations, use polite requests, not imperatives.

Give us a table for two.
We'd like a table for two.

Imperatives with Have and Enjoy

English uses have and enjoy in many expressions in the imperative. We use these expressions to offer invitations and express hopes and wishes.

Have a seat.
Have some more vegetables.
Have a good day!
We hope you have happy holidays!
Have fun on your vacation!
Enjoy your dinner!
Enjoy the movie!

AVOID THE Error

Avoid these translated expressions. Use expressions with have and enjoy instead.

- X Good appetite!
- X Safe travels!

Enjoy your dinner!Have a safe trip!

Exercise

- A Read each situation, and write an imperative or a polite request.
- 1. There is a bowl of fruit near your friend. You want him to pass you an orange.
- 2. A child is hitting his sister. You want him to stop hitting his sister.
- 3. You're in a friend's car. The friend is speeding. You don't want her to speed.
- 4. You and a friend are going to go to the movies. You want to see Transformers 3.

VERBS Be: Simple Past Tense

We use the simple past tense of be to show a state or a quality of something in the past.

I was happy at the news.

They were late yesterday.

Formation

These tables show the affirmative and negative forms of the simple past tense of be:

AFFIRMATIVE

NEGATIVE

AVOID THE Error

Do not use was with we, you, and they; use were.

Questions with Be in the Simple Past Tense

Form questions with be in the simple past tense in the same way you form questions with be in the simple present tense.

You were at work today. They were from China. → Wei → Whei

Were you at work today? Where were they from?

For more information on the formation of questions with be, see page 127.

- 14. _____ you sick yesterday, Svetlana?
- 15. We ________ at the art museum all morning today.

VERBS Simple Past Tense

We use the simple past tense to talk about actions that happened in the past and are completed or finished.

She called me this morning. We talked for an hour. We finished our call at 11:00. Then I walked to work.

We also use the simple past tense to talk about habitual or repeated actions in the past.

When I was in high school, I walked to school every day.

We often use an adverb of time with a simple past-tense verb, such as yesterday, last night, two weeks ago, and so on.

I washed the car last Sunday. She bought her new car three weeks ago. Yesterday they went to the beach.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the simple present tense in place of the simple past tense.

- They go to the beach yesterday.
- They went to the beach yesterday.

Formation

This table shows how to form the simple past tense of affirmative regular verbs:

I
You
He She
It
We
They
```

This table shows how to form the simple past tense of affirmative irregular verbs:

I
You
He ran
She ate
It slept
We
They
```

This table shows how to form the simple past tense of negative regular and irregular verbs:

I You He She It We They

Use the past tense of the verb do (did) + not to form negatives. Add did not or didn't, and change the verb to the base form.

He cooked dinner. He didn't cook dinner.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the simple past-tense form of the main verb in negative sentences. Use the base form.

- X Marty didn't sent the e-mail. Marty didn't send the e-mail.
- ✗ He didn't went to the store. ✓ He didn't go to the store.

Spelling Regular Simple-Past Verbs

Most English verbs are regular and follow these patterns in the simple past tense.

Add -d to verbs that end in a vowel.

dance	→	danced
move	->	moved
believe	->	believed
live	->	lived

If a verb ends in a consonant + stressed vowel + consonant, double the consonant and add -ed.

✓ visit—visited

✓ iron—ironed

listen—listened

stop	→	stopped
slip	->	slipped
plan	→	planned

AVOID THE Error

Do not double a final consonant if the last syllable is not stressed.

X	visit-	-vi	isit	ted
~	VIOIC		iore	uu

X	listen_	listenned
~	insten-	instermed

X iron—ironned

Don't double a final w or x. Just add -ed.

allow	->	allowed
snow	->	snowed
box	->	boxed

If a verb ends in a consonant + y, drop the y and add -ied.

study	→	studied
worry	$\rightarrow$	worried carry	→	carried
try	$\rightarrow$	tried

If a verb ends in a vowel + y, add -ed.

play	→	played
stay	→	stayed

Add -ed to all other verbs.

walk 🔶		walked
accept	->	accepted
need	->	needed
mail	->	mailed
count	→	counted
rain	->	rained

AVOID THE Error

Do not double a final consonant when there are two vowels before it.

X need—needded

Do not drop a final y if a verb ends in vowel + y; just add -ed.

✗ stay—staied

✓ stay—stayed

✓ need—needed

Pronouncing Regular Simple Past-Tense Verbs

The -ed ending is pronounced:

/t/ after voiceless consonants such as /p, t, k, f, j, tj/ (Your vocal chords do not vibrate when you say voiceless sounds.)

cooked	danced	finished	liked stopped	talked	walked	washed

/d/ after vowels and voiced consonants such as /b, v, g, , z/ (Your vocal chords vibrate when you say vowels and voiced consonants.)

allowed	cleaned	listened	lived	loved mailed	moved	planned	played	snowed
📕 /Əd/ after /t/ a	nd /d/
accepted	added	counted recommended	decided	ended
exited	needed		started	tasted

For more information on voiced and voiceless consonants, see page 4.

Irregular Simple Past Verbs

Many verbs are irregular in the simple past tense, though some verbs fall into broad groups with similar changes. The following table summarizes the most common patterns:

BASE	SIMPLE PAST

speak	spoke steal	stole
wake	woke ring	rang
sing	sang
run	ran
come	came
become	became

For an alphabetical list of irregular verbs, see the section "Irregular Verb List" at the end of the book.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the regular simple-past tense ending with irregular verbs.

- His car hitted the other car at five miles per hour.
- His car hit the other car at five miles per hour.
- I waked up very early this morning.
- I woke up very early this morning.

Questions in the Simple Past Tense

Yes/No Questions

To form yes/no questions in the simple past, insert did before the subject, change the verb to the base form, and add a question mark:

Wh- Questions

To form wh- questions in the simple past, insert a question word, insert did before the subject, change the verb to the base form, and add a question mark:

I bought this hat at the → Where did you buy this hat? flea market.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the simple past-tense form of the main verb in questions. Use the base form.

- X Did Mary sent the e-mail?
- ✓ Did Mary send the e-mail?
- When did he went to the store?
- ✓ When did he go to the store?

Do not use did in questions with who.

- X Who did sent the email?
- ✓ Who sent the email?

Used to

We can use the simple past tense with used to to describe past habits or actions that we no longer do.

He used to smoke, but he quit more than seven years ago. I used to live on Mulberry Street.

Simple Past Tense for Politeness

Sometimes, English speakers will use the simple past tense instead of the present tense to show politeness or respect:

Did you want me to hand in my paper? We were wondering if you are ready.

AVOID THE Error

Avoid shifts in tense. A shift in tense happens when a sentence or paragraph begins in one tense and then changes tense for no reason.

After we arrived at Disney World last year, we checked into our hotel. Later, we will go to the park and see the rides.  After we arrived at Disney World last year, we checked into our hotel. Later, we went to the park and saw the rides.

A: I was sick.

VERBS Past Progressive Tense

We use the past progressive tense to talk about actions that were in progress in the past.

Last night I was watching old movies on TV.

We also use the past progressive tense to stress that an action took place for an extended period of time.

Last Thanksgiving, we were cooking all morning.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the past progressive tense for habitual actions in the past. Use the simple past tense.

- Joanne was watching TV every night.
- ✓ Joanne watched TV every night last week.

Formation

The past progressive tense is formed with the past tense of be (was or were) and the present participle (verb + -ing). For information on spelling present participles, see page 139.

This table shows how to form affirmative and negative statements in the past progressive tense:

I He She It	was (not/wasn't)
We You They	were (not/weren't) going to the store.

When and While and the Past Progressive Tense

We often use the past progressive tense with the simple past tense. The past progressive tense describes a longer action, while the simple past tense describes a shorter action. The shorter action interrupts or occurs during the longer action. We often use a clause with while to introduce the longer action. The clauses can come in any order.

While I was cooking dinner, the phone rang.

The phone rang while I was cooking dinner.

We can also use a clause with when to introduce the shorter action. The clauses can come in any order.

I was cooking dinner when the phone rang.

When the phone rang, I was cooking dinner.

AVOID THE Error

In sentences with a when or while clause, a comma is needed only if the clause with when or while is first in the sentence.

- While Anita was on the phone I sent a fax.
- ✓ While Anita was on the phone, I sent a fax.
- I sent a fax, while Anita was on the phone.
- I sent a fax while Anita was on the phone.

Questions in the Past Progressive Tense

Yes/No Questions

To form yes/no questions, invert was or were and the subject and add a question mark.

I was cooking all day on → Were you cooking all day Thanksgiving. → On Thanksgiving?

Wh- Questions

To form wh- questions, add a question word, invert was or were and the subject and add a question mark.

I was cooking dinner → What were you doing when you called. when I called?

Exercises

A Look at Joanne's schedule, and answer the questions.

9:00	Get	ready	for	work

- 9:30 Drive to work
- 10:00 Work

12:00 Eat lunch

5:00 Drive home

1. What was Joanne doing at 9:00?

2. What was she doing at 9:30?

3. What was she doing at 10:00?

4. What was she doing at 12:00?

5. What was she doing at 5:00?

B Complete the sentences by writing the verb in parentheses in the simple past tense or past progressive tense.

1. While I ______ (wash) the dishes, I ______ (broke) a glass.

2. She ______ (drive) home when she ______ (have) an accident.

3. When they _____ (hear) the news, they _____ (listen) to the radio.

4. We _____ (study) English when Frank _____ (call).

5. We _____ (ate) popcorn while we _____ (watch) the movie.

6. I ______ (read) a newspaper online when the electricity ______ (go) out.

VERBS Present Perfect Tense

We use the present perfect tense to talk about actions that began in the past and continue to the present.

I have lived in Chicago for seven years.

We also use the present perfect tense to talk about actions that have taken place from some indefinite time in the past up to the present.

I've been to Paris three times.

And we use the present perfect tense to describe actions that have been recently completed. We often use just to indicate that an action recently happened.

We've just arrived.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the present perfect tense in place of the simple past tense. The present perfect is a present tense that describes actions that have continued to the present or are important now. The simple past tense describes actions that were completed and finished in the past.

The Civil War has ended in 1865.

✓ The Civil War ended in 1865.

Formation

The present perfect tense is formed with the verb have (have or has) and the past participle.

AVOID THE Error

The verb have is irregular. Remember to use has when the subject is he, she, or it.

He have lived here for many years.

He has lived here for many years.

This table shows how the present perfect tense is formed:

AVOID THE Error

Use a complete verb phrase in the present perfect tense. Do not omit have or has.

X	He written several e-mails	-	He has written several today.		e-mails today.

Use the contractions of have ('s and 've) interchangeably with the full forms, has and have, in spoken English.

We've lived here for four years.

We have lived here for four years.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use contractions of have in formal, written English.

- The President's considered the matter, and he's made a decision.
- The President has considered the matter, and he has made a decision.

Have is also a full verb. A full verb can stand alone. As a full verb, have means "possess or own." Have does not have contractions when used as a full verb.

The contractions of has and is are the same: 's.

She's a teacher. ('s is a contraction of is)

She's been a teacher for twenty-seven years. ('s is a contraction of has)

AVOID THE Error

Avoid confusing contractions of is and have when you write the complete forms.

She's visited Rome.	X	She is visited Rome.	1	She has visited Rome.
He' s reading a book.	X	He has reading a book.	1	He is reading a book.
Ed's a nice guy.	×	Ed has a nice guy.	1	Ed is a nice guy.

Spelling Past Participles

With regular verbs, the simple past tense and the past participle are the same.

cook	->	cooked
fix	→	fixed
stop	→	stopped
try	→	tried
play	→	played

With many irregular verbs, the simple past and past participle are also the same. This table summarizes many irregular verbs whose simple past and past participles are the same:

BASE	SIMPLE PAST	PAST PARTICIPLE
cost	cost	cost
cut	cut	cut
hit	hit	hit
hurt	hurt	hurt
let	let	let
put	put	put
put	put	put
lend	lent	lent
spend	spent	spent
build	built	built lose	lost	lost
keep	kept	kept
sleep	slept	slept
C 1	6 I.	C 1.
feel	felt	felt

tell	told	told
find	found	found
hear	heard	heard
hold	held	held
say	said	said
Say	ould	Jaid
stand	stood	stood
understand	understood	understood

With other irregular verbs, the simple past and the past participle are different. This table summarizes some of those verbs:

BASE be	SIMPLE PAST was, were	PAST PARTICIPLE been drive	drove	driven
ride	rode	ridden
write	wrote	written
WIRe	mote	WIRteen
break	broke	broken
choose	chose	chosen
speak	spoke	spoken
steal	stole	stolen
wake	woke	woken
blow	blew	blown
grow	grew	grown
know	knew	known

bite	bit	bitten
hide	hid	hidden
eatate	eaten	6-11
fall	fell	fallen
forget	forgot	forgotten
give	gave	given
see	saw	seen
take	took	taken

The verb read is spelled the same in the present tense, simple past tense, and past participle forms, but is pronounced like the color word red in the past tense and past participle forms.

BASE	SIMPLE PAST	PAST PARTICIPLE
read	read ("red")	read ("red")

AVOID THE Error

Do not use a simple past-tense verb in the present perfect tense. Use the past participle.

✗ He's began to learn French. ✓ He's begun to learn French.

For a list of irregular verbs, see the Irregular Verb List at the back of the book.

Adverbs of Time with the Present Perfect Tense

We use certain adverbs of time with the present perfect tense.

For and Since

We use for and since to talk about how long an action has lasted from the past up until the present.

How long have you lived in Chicago? I've lived in Chicago for seven years. I've lived in Chicago since 2003.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use:

A period of time with since. Give the starting time in the past.

- He's studied English since two hours.
   He's studied English since eleven o'clock.
- A starting time in the past with for. Give the period of time the action has taken place.
- He's studied English for eleven o'clock.
- He's studied English for two hours.

Already and Yet

We use yet to ask whether someone has completed an action up to now. We also use yet to say that we have not completed an action up to now. We use already to state that we have completed the action up to now.

Have you finished your ice cream yet?

No, we haven't finished our ice cream yet. Yes, we've already finished our ice cream.

AVOID THE Error Do not use yet in affirmative sentences. Use already. The mechanic has fixed Markow The mechanic has already fixed my car.

Ever and Never

We use ever and never to talk about whether we have done an activity anytime up to the present.

Have you ever seen the President in person? No, I've never seen the President in person. Yes, I saw him give a speech last year.

AVOID THE Error

In general, do not use ever in affirmative sentences. Only use it in questions.

- X I have ever seen the President. ✓ I have seen the President.
- ✓ I have never seen the President.
- Have you ever seen the President?

We can use ever in sentences with superlative adjectives and the present perfect tense or simple past tense.

This is the biggest pumpkin I have ever seen.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use never in sentences with superlative adjectives and the present perfect tense or simple past tense. Use ever.

He is the cheapest person I have never met.
 He is the cheapest person I have ever met.

We use just to describe an action that was recently completed.

She's just arrived.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use an adverb of time such as yesterday or last week, which implies a completed action, with the present perfect tense. If the action is not yet completed or is recently completed, remove the adverb. If the action is completed, keep the adverb and use the simple past tense.

- We have arrived at ten o'clock.
- We have arrived. (action recently completed)
   We arrived at ten o'clock.
  - (action completed in the past)

Questions in the Present Perfect Tense

Yes/No Questions

To form yes/no questions, invert have or has and the subject, and add a question mark.

They have washed the dishes.  $\rightarrow$

Have they washed the dishes?

Wh- Questions

To form wh- questions, add a question word, invert have or has and the subject, and add a question mark.

He has lived in that apartment for two years.

How long has he lived in that apartment?

AVOID THE Error

The contraction for who has is who's, not whose.

- Whose left already?
- ✓ Who's left already?

Who's is also the contraction for who is. Do not confuse these when you write the full forms.

Who's your favorite actor?

- Who has your favorite actor?
- ✓ Who is your favorite actor?

Who's been to Rome?

- Who is been to Rome?
- Who has been to Rome?

VERBS

Future Tense with Going to and Will

We can talk about the future in several ways. We can use:

- The simple present tense to talk about future actions that are a part of a schedule My plane leaves tomorrow morning at 9:30.
- The present progressive tense to talk about future plans
  - On my way home, I'm stopping at the supermarket and the gas station.

We also use:

Going to or will to talk about predictions about the future
 Tomorrow it is going to rain.
 Tomorrow it will rain.

Going to to talk about plans for the future

- I'm tired of cooking. Tonight I am going to eat dinner out.
- Will (or its contraction 'll) to make promises about the future
   After lunch, I'll buy you some ice cream.
   After lunch, I will buy you some ice cream.

AVOID THE Error

People often pronounce going to as "gonna." Use gonna in informal speech. In writing and more formal speech, use going to.

- I'm gonna do the laundry tomorrow.
- I'm going to do the laundry tomorrow.

Formation

This table shows how to form sentences with will:

I He She It We You They	will ('ll) will not (won't)	cook dinner tonight.
---	--------------------------------	-----------------------------	--	--

AVOID THE Error

Use the apostrophe correctly in the contraction won't. The apostrophe replaces the missing o in not.

- I w'ont be at work on time tomorrow. I have to go to the dentist first.
- I won't be at work on time tomorrow. I have to go to the dentist first.

This table shows how to form sentences with going to:

Ι	am ('m)	(not)
He She It	is ('s)	(not/isn't)	going to cook dinner tonight.
We You They	are ('re)	(not/aren't)

AVOID THE Error

Do not omit a form of the verb be (am, is, or are) in sentences with going to.

- She going to make spaghetti for dinner.
- ✓ She is going to make spaghetti for dinner.

Questions with Going to and Will

Yes/No Questions

To form yes/no questions, invert be (is or are) or will and the subject, and add a question mark.

They're going to buy a new car.	->	Are they going to buy a new car?
I will marry you.	->	Will you marry me?

Wh- Questions

To form wh- questions, add a question word, invert be or will and the subject, and add a question mark.

He is going to arrive in a few	->	When is he going to arrive?
minutes. I'll park my car near the main entrance.	→	Where will you park your car?

Exercises

A Complete the sentences by using going to with the verb in parentheses.

- 1. Tomorrow, it ______ (rain).
- 2. I ______ (get up) early and go swimming every day this week.
- 3. We ______ (go) shopping Saturday morning.
- 4. I ______ (do) the laundry this afternoon.
- 5. They ______ (eat) dinner in a few minutes.

B Complete the sentences by using will with the verb in parentheses.

- 1. I am sure the test ______ (be) difficult.
- 2. The party _______ (take) place on Saturday night.
- 3. Explain the problem to him. I am sure that he ______(understand).
- 4. I ______ (send) you a postcard from Mexico.
- 5. I hope you ______ (have) lunch with us tomorrow.

VERBS Modal Verbs

A modal verb is used with another verb to express ability, permission, obligation and prohibition, necessity, requests, offers and invitations, speculation, and advice.

I can speak three languages. (ability) You may go to the library. (permission) You must pay your taxes by April 15. (obligation) He might be lost. (speculation) You should arrive on time every day. (advice)

AVOID THE Error

Do not add -s, -ed, or -ing to modal verbs.

- X He cans drive a motorcycle. ✓ He can drive a motorcycle.
- He canned speak three languages.
- He musted get his car fixed.
- rie can drive a motorcycle
- He could speak three languages.
- ✓ He had to get his car fixed.

Formation

Modal verbs include:

can	could	may	might
must	should	ought to	would

AVOID THE Error

The modal verbs can, could, may, might, must, should, or would are followed by the base form of a verb. Do not use to after these modal verbs. Use the base form of the verb without to. Do not add -s, -ed, or -ing to the base form of the verb.

They can to come to the party.	They can come to the party.
She might bringing a friend to the party.	<ul> <li>She might bring a friend to the party.</li> </ul>
Use to after ought . Xou ought wash your car.	✓ You ought to wash your car.
Do not add - s , - ed , or - ing to the infinitive that follows ought . She ought to cutting the lawn. ✓ She ought to cut the lawn.

To form the negative forms of modal verbs, insert not or -n't after the modal verb.

I can't dance very well.

You shouldn't go to bed so late on a work night.

AVOID THE Error Can + not is written as one word: cannot. X You can not park in front of a fire hydrant. ✓ You cannot park in front of a fire hydrant.

Meanings of Modal Verbs

A modal verb can have more than one meaning. Here are the meanings of the main modal verbs.

Can and Could

Can expresses an ability in the present. Could expresses ability in the past.

I can dance, but I can't sing. When I was twenty, I could dance all night. I couldn't finish my dinner, because I had a stomachache.

AVOID THE Error

To express ability in the future, use able to, not can.

- After using this book, you can speak English accurately.
- After using this book, you will be able to speak English accurately.

Can and could express requests in the present and the future.

Can you help me with my math homework? Could you bring me a cup of coffee?

Can expresses permission in the present or future.

You can use this computer to send e-mail. John, you can't stay out past 10:30 tonight.

AVOID THE Error

Normally, we don't turn down a request with "No, you can't," or "No, you couldn't," without giving a reason or more information.

Can I go to the movies with Mark? 🗶 No, you can't.

No you can't. You have to do your homework.

Can and could express possibility in the present or future.

If we have time, we can go to the mall after the movie. We could get some ice cream after dinner.

Could expresses a suggestion in the present or future.

We could have a mechanic check that used car before we buy it.

AVOID THE Error

Modal verbs cannot be used as infinitives. Use a verb or an expression with a related meaning. For example, for can, use to be able to.

- I hope to can go to the movies tonight.
- ✓ I hope to be able to go to the movies tonight.

Must

Must expresses an obligation in the present or future.

You must wear a seat belt when you are in a car.

You must not smoke in a movie theater.

The opposite of must is don't have to.

You don't have to take the bus to work. You can walk, drive, or take the subway.

To talk about an obligation in the past, use had to:

I had to file my tax return yesterday.

Have to has a meaning similar to must, but have to is not a modal. It has a past-tense form (had to) and is followed by an infinitive, not a base verb.

We have to leave now. Our car wouldn't start, so we had to call a tow truck.

Should and Ought To

The modal verbs should and ought to make recommendations or suggestions.

You should see the new Harry Potter movie! It's great!

You should get eight hours of sleep every night.

You shouldn't stay out late at night before work.

You ought to visit your mother more often.

You ought to sell that old car and buy a new one!

You ought to go for a walk in the park since the weather's so nice.

AVOID THE Error

The negative form of ought to is oughtn't to, but English speakers normally do not use this form. Use should not or shouldn't instead.

X You oughtn't to drive so fast. Vou shouldn't drive so fast.

Had better is also used to make recommendations or suggestions. Generally, had better is a stronger recommendation than ought to or should. The contraction for had better is 'd better.

You'd better hurry up, or you'll be late for work! You'd better not be late for work again, or you'll get fired!

Would

We use would to talk about what was going to happen in the past.

He said that he would come.

The contraction of would is 'd.

He said he'd come.

The contraction 'd can stand for had or would. Be careful when writing the full form.
He said he'd help us.
He said he had help us.
He said he would help us.
He said he would arrived.
He said he had arrived.

Would and was/were going to have similar meanings. Would sounds a bit more formal than was/were going to.

He said he would come. He said he was going to come.

We use would like (or its contraction 'd like) to make polite offers and requests.

I'd like a double cheeseburger, please. Would you like fries with that?

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse 'd like (want) with like (prefer).

- 🔀 I'd like milk.
- X I like milk.

I like milk. (a preference)
I'd like milk. (a request)

Would expresses repeated actions in the past.

Every winter we would go sledding and skating.

May and Might

May expresses permission in the present or future.

You may have another piece of cake. You may not go out after ten o'clock at night.

AVOID THE Error

May is not normally used in ordinary speech to talk about permission. Most speakers use can.

- May I go skateboarding after dinner?
- You may go to the library now.
- Can I go skateboarding after dinner?
- ✓ You can go to the library now.

Might expresses an optional action in the future or present.

If you miss the bus, you might take a cab to work. You might add a bit of lemon juice to your iced tea.

May and might express possibility in the present and future. Generally, may is considered more likely than might.

Where is Mike? He may be in the bedroom. Tomorrow it might rain. We may be lost. We might be lost.

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse may be (modal verb may and verb be) with may be (an adverb expressing uncertainty).

X He maybe outside.

✓ He may be outside.

X May be he's sick.

✓ Maybe he's sick.

Must Be, Could Be, Might Be

Three modal verb + be combinations express speculation.

John is absent today. He must be sick. (very certain) John is absent today. He could be sick. (somewhat certain) John is absent today. He might be sick. (not very certain)

To speculate that something is not the case, use can't be or couldn't be.

Mr. Fox has been in the hospital for days. He can't be well. George left for the store ten minutes ago. He couldn't be back already.

Polite Requests with May, Can, and Could

We can make polite requests with may, can, and could.

May I have a glass of water?

Can you close the window, please?Can I have some sugar for my coffee?Could you put more paper in the printer, please?Could you pass me the salt, please?

Normally, we agree to these requests with words such as:

Of course.
Sure.
Yes, you can (may).
Here you go!
Sure, help yourself!

AVOID THE Error

Normally, people do not turn down polite requests with "No, you can't," "No, you may not," or "No, you couldn't," which listeners interpret as impolite. Instead, give a reason.

Can/Could/May I have some stamps?

- 🗶 No, you can't.
- X No, you may not.
- X No, you could not.
- Sorry, but we're out of stamps right now.
- Sorry, but we don't have stamps right now.

For more information on polite requests, see page 144.

When can/could, will/would, or may/might follow another clause + that, such as "he says that," use can, will, or may if the first verb is in the present tense. Use could, would, or might if the first verb is in the past tense.

Malcolm says that he will come. Malcolm said that he would come.

If Malcolm said that he is coming, and the speaker and listener are still waiting for Malcolm to arrive, they might say:

Malcolm said that he will come.

Questions with Modal Verbs

To form yes/no questions with modal verbs, invert the subject and the modal verb, and add a question mark. For wh- questions, insert a question word, invert the subject and modal verb, and add a question mark.

Can you help me shovel the snow?Where can I buy some stamps?What time could you leave?Who should we invite for dinner next weekend?

For questions where the question word is the subject, do not invert the subject and modal verb.

Who can help me fix dinner? What could cause this problem?

AVOID THE Error

Do not use do or forms of do to form questions or negatives with modal verbs.

- Maria doesn't can drive.
- Maria can't drive.
- X Do you can drive?
- ✓ Can you drive?

Exercises

- 19. John (might not/could not) work late yesterday. He had a doctor's appointment after work.
- 20. You (ought/should) to get more sleep.

VERBS Subject-Verb Agreement

Subjects and verbs should match, or agree: singular subjects need singular verbs and plural subjects need plural verbs.

Abbie loves her dogs. (singular subject and verb) John and Larry are farmers. (plural subject and verb)

AVOID THE Error

Singular nouns that end in -s, such as politics, news, gymnastics, and mathematics, need a singular verb.

- ✗ I think that mathematics
   ✓ I think fascina
   ✓ I think
  - I think that mathematics is fascinating.
- X The news are on TV at 6:00.
- ✓ The news is on TV at 6:00.

AVOID THE Error

Verbs should agree with the subject of the sentence and not with nouns in phrases or clauses that come between the subject and the verb.

- The causes of the accidentwas analyzed by the police.
- The causes of the accident were analyzed by the police.
- The drivers who caused the accident is in jail.
- The drivers who caused the accident are in jail.

Sometimes subject-verb agreement can be tricky, such as in the following situations:

In impersonal expressions with there, there is not the subject. The noun that follows the verb is the subject, and the verb agrees with that noun.

There is a snake under the table.

There are some snakes under the table.

AVOID THE Error

In impersonal expressions with there, the verb agrees with the subject of the sentence. The subject of the sentence may not be the word closest to the verb.

- X There is several reasons for There are several reasons my decision.
- X There are often more than one cause of these kinds of problems.
- for my decision. (Reasons is the subject.)
- ✓ There is often more than one cause of these kinds of problems. (Cause is the subject.)

For more information on impersonal expressions with there, see pages 270–271.

A compound subject consists of two nouns joined by and. A compound subject is plural and has a plural verb.

Madonna and Prince are my favorite singers.

AVOID THE Error

Not all subjects joined with and are plural.

- Early rock and roll are my favorite music.
- Early rock and roll is my favorite music.

Collective nouns are nouns that include groups of people, animals, and objects but are considered singular and take singular verbs. Collective nouns include team, committee, family, class, pack, and herd.

Our team is winning! My family always orders vegetarian pizza on Friday nights. A herd of elephants lives in this zoo.

AVOID THE Error

Police is always plural, so it needs a plural verb.

- X The police is investigating the robbery.
- The police are investigating the robbery.

The words somebody, anyone, nobody, someone, no one, either, neither, everyone, everybody, anybody, each, and each one are singular and need singular verbs.

Nobody knows the future. Someone ate all the doughnuts. Everyone is here.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use plural verbs with words such as somebody, anyone, nobody, someone, no one, either, neither, everyone, everybody, anybody, each, and each one.

- the kitchen.
- 🗶 Either John or Mary are in 🛛 🖌 Either John or Mary is in the kitchen.

AVOID THE Error

No one is written as two words, not one.

- X Noone knows where Mary Jane is.
- No one knows where Mary Jane is.

The indefinite pronouns both, few, many, others, and several are plural.

Both are important.

Few people are here.

Are you looking for envelopes? Several are on the table.

Most people are sitting on the main floor, but many are in the balcony.

Some of the wedding guests already sent their presents. Others are sending them after the ceremony.

A few indefinite pronouns are singular or plural, depending on the use: all, any, more, most, and some.

All (the neighbors) are invited to the block party. (Neighbors is plural.) All (the furniture) is covered in dust. (Furniture is an uncountable noun.)

Many grammar books say that none is singular because it means "not one."

None of the girls is here.

However, in ordinary speech, people often use a plural verb with none.

None of the girls are here.

Money is an uncountable noun, so it takes a singular verb.

Money isn't everything, but it sure makes life easier.

AVOID THE Error

The word dollars is plural, but it takes a singular verb when it is used to indicate an amount of money.

- I can't believe that twelve dollars are the cost of a movie ticket!
- I can't believe that twelve dollars is the cost of a movie ticket!

However, people sometimes use dollars with a plural verb when talking about amounts of money.

✓ Here are twelve dollars.

Here is twelve dollars.

Words such as scissors, pants, trousers, and pajamas are plural, so they take plural verbs.

The scissors are on the table.

These trousers need washing.

My pajamas are hanging on a hook.

In formal usage, such as written instructions, you may see scissors treated as a singular word.

Use a scissors to cut the package open. A scissors is on the table.

AVOID THE Error

When we use pair of with scissors, pants, trousers, and pajamas, the word pair is the subject and takes a singular verb.

- That new pair of pants look great!
- That new pair of pants looks great!

Numbers are usually plural.

Five are here.

However, in some cases, a singular verb is used if we imagine the number as a unit of something.

Eight is enough. Ten is plenty. Two miles is not long for a hike.

AVOID THE Error

Total, number, and majority can be singular or plural depending on the words that follow them.

- A number of students was absent.
- The number of students absent were surprising.
- X The majority rule.
- A majority of the voters opposes the proposal.
- A total of five students wants to see the movie.
- X The total you owe are small.

- A number of students were absent.
- The number of students absent was surprising.
- ✓ The majority rules.
- A majority of the voters oppose the proposal.
- ✓ A total of 5 students want to see the movie.
- ✓ The total you owe is small.

Exercise

A Circle the correct form of the verb.

- 1. I think that politics (is/are) fascinating.
- 2. That pair of pajamas (is/are) very old. Let's throw them away.
- 3. A pack of wild, bloodthirsty wolves (live/lives) on Bald Mountain.
- 4. The girls in the red car (is/are) going with us to the party.
- 5. There (is/are) some good news for you in your e-mail today.
- 6. Rock and roll (is/are) here to stay!
- 7. Wild deer (live/lives) in Ryerson Forest.
- 8. Twenty dollars (is/are) the cost of a ticket to this concert.
- 9. I found out that none of my friends (was/were) going to the concert.
- 10. Mathematics (was/were) my favorite subject in school.

VERBS Passive Voice

We use the active voice to give importance to the subject of the sentence.

John sold that car weeks ago.

The barking scared off the robbers.

We use the passive voice to give importance to the action.

That car was sold weeks ago. The robbers were scared off.

Only transitive verbs can be used in passive-voice sentences. Transitive verbs can have direct or indirect objects. This table shows active- and passive-voice sentences with direct and indirect objects:

ACTIVE	PASSIVE
Thieves stole the painting.	The painting was stolen.
He told her the news yesterday.	She was told the news yesterday.
	The news was told to her yesterday.

For more information on transitive verbs, see page 121.

AVOID THE Error

Intransitive verbs, which do not have objects, cannot be used in the passive voice.

- The meeting was taken place. (passive voice)
- The meeting took place yesterday. (active voice)

Formation

To form the passive voice:

The subject is deleted.

The object of the verb becomes the subject of the passive sentence.

A form of the verb be is added.

The main verb becomes a past participle.

Here are some examples of active-voice and passive-voice (in bold) sentences.

John sold that car weeks ago. → That car was sold weeks ago. The barking scared off the robbers. → The robbers were scared off.

For a list of past participles, see pages 165–166.

If a verb has a direct object and an indirect object, either one can become the subject (bold) of the passive-voice sentence:

We gave the retirees gold watches.

 Gold watches were given to the retirees.
 The retirees were given gold watches.

AVOID THE Error

When an object pronoun of an active-voice sentence becomes the subject of a passive-voice sentence, change the object pronoun to a subject pronoun.

I helped her. -> 🗶 Her was helped. 🗸 She was helped.

->

->

->

To form the passive voice:

In the simple present or simple past. Use a form of be and the past participle of the main verb.

- This restaurant serves homemade soup daily.
- They served eight different kinds of soup yesterday.
- They bake homemade bread and rolls.

Yesterday, they baked over 100 loaves of bread.

- Homemade soup is served daily.
- Eight different kinds of soup were served yesterday.
- Homemade bread and rolls are baked daily.
- Over 100 loaves of bread were baked yesterday.

In the present progressive tense or the past progressive tense. Use a form of be, the present participle being, and the past participle of the main verb.

Workers are cleaning the → The plane is being cleaned. plane.

In the present perfect tense. Use have or has, the past participle of be (been), and the past participle of the main verb.

The company has fired her.  $\rightarrow$  She has been fired.

With modal verbs (including the future tense with will). Use the modal verb, the verb be, and the past participle of the main verb.

We can't find the keys.  $\rightarrow$  The keys can't be found.

With going to. Use a form of be, going to be, and the past participle of the main verb.

We are going to cook the	$\rightarrow$	The food is going to be food now.		cooked now.

With an infinitive. Add be before the infinitive.

He's going to help her. → She's going to be helped.

This table summarizes the forms of active- and passive-voice verbs:

VERB FORM	ACTIVE VOICE	PASSIVE VOICE
Simple Present	Mark cleans the kitchen.	The kitchen is cleaned.
Present Progressive	Mark is cleaning the kitchen.	The kitchen is being cleaned.
Present Perfect	Mark has cleaned the kitchen.	The kitchen has been cleaned.
Simple Past	Mark cleaned the kitchen.	The kitchen was cleaned.
Past Progressive	Mark was cleaning the kitchen.	The kitchen was being cleaned.
Simple Future	Mark will clean the kitchen.	The kitchen will be cleaned.
Going to	Mark is going to clean the kitchen.	The kitchen is going to be cleaned.
Modal Verbs	Mark can clean the kitchen. Mark would clean the kitchen.	The kitchen can be cleaned . The kitchen would be cleaned .

AVOID THE Error

Do not omit be from passive-voice sentences.

- X Lincoln assassinated in 1865.
- Lincoln was assassinated in 1865.

To state the doer of the action in a passive-voice sentence, use the subject of the active-voice sentence in a phrase with by.

John delivered those pizzas.	$\rightarrow$	Those pizzas were delivered by John.
Sabrina typed this document.	-	This document was typed by Sabrina.

AVOID THE Error

When the subject of an active-voice sentence is a pronoun and it moves to a by-phrase in a passive-voice sentence, change the subject pronoun to an object pronoun.

I called her.	->	X	She was called	1	She was called by I.		by me.

Indirect objects from an active-voice sentence can be stated in a passive-voice sentence with to or for.

The girls bought a present for Alice.

The girls gave a present to Alice.

When the indirect object becomes subject of a passive-voice sentence, remove for or to.

Alice was bought a present. Alice was given a present.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use for or to when an indirect object becomes subject of a passive-voice sentence.

X To Alice was given a present. ✓ Alice was given a present.

AVOID THE Error

Sometimes the noun that follows to or for is not an indirect object. Rather, the prepositional phrase is really an adverb. When the prepositional phrase is an adverb, the noun cannot become the subject of a passive-voice sentence. Only the direct and indirect objects can become the subjects of a passive-voice sentence.

Active: After the accident, the insurance company gave me money for a new car.

Passive:

A new car was given money for to me.

I was given money for a new car. (indirect object) Money was given to me for a new car. (direct object)

Expressing the doer of the action in a by phrase is optional.

For selling the most cars this month, Mr. Baldus was given a free trip to Jamaica by the sales manager.

For selling the most cars this month, Mr. Baldus was given a free trip to Jamaica.

AVOID THE Error

Because the passive voice focuses on the action, and not on the doer of the action, we usually do not state the doer of the action in a by phrase. Avoid stating the doer of the action in passive-voice sentences. If stating the subject is important, consider using the active voice instead.

- The packages were all mailed this morning by Gerardo.
- The packages were all mailed this morning.
   Gerardo mailed all the packages this morning.

Sometimes, the meaning of the sentence changes slightly in the passive voice.

Many people attended the party. The party was well-attended.

AVOID THE Error

When the doer of the action uses a tool to complete the action, use a phrase with with to show the tool.

The vegetables were sliced by a sharp knife.
 The vegetables were sliced with a sharp knife. (The chef used the knife to cut the vegetables.)
 The drainpipe was opened by a heavy-duty pipe wrench.
 The drainpipe was opened with a heavy-duty pipe with a heavy-duty pipe wrench. (A plumber used the pipe wrench.)

When a tool or object does the action itself, use a phrase with by.

- She was cut with flying glass.
- She was cut by flying glass.
   (Flying glass cut her.)

Uses of the Passive Voice

We use the passive voice when:

We are more concerned about the action or the receiver of the action than about the doer.

In Maine Park, more than two hundred trees were damaged by the storm. An oak tree more than four hundred years old was completely destroyed by the storm.

AVOID THE Error

Reflexive verbs are not used in the passive voice.

- She was accidentally cut by herself.
- ✓ She accidentally cut herself.
- After she slipped in the mud, she was completely cleaned by herself.
- After she slipped in the mud, she completely cleaned herself.

The subject is unknown or indefinite.

Rome wasn't built in a day.

The explosion was heard all over the city.

We want to avoid assigning responsibility for something.

His car was totaled in the accident.

Your application will be reviewed, and you will be informed of the outcome.

The subject is vague or unknown.

English is understood in most hotels around the world. This form needs to be signed.

AVOID THE Error

Do not overuse the passive voice. The passive voice is acceptable in speech and informal writing. But good writers avoid the passive voice in more formal kinds of writing, such as business letters and school papers, when it's possible to use the active voice. Overuse of the passive voice makes writing flat and uninteresting. Use the active voice instead.

- That new house was put up in about three months. First a big hole was dug. Then cement was poured to make the foundation. After that, brick walls were built. Finally, the roof was put on. The house was moved into about a month ago.
- ✓ The builders put up that new house in about three months. First, workers dug a big hole. Then a cement truck poured cement to make the foundation. After that, bricklayers built the walls. Finally, carpenters and roofers put the roof on. A family moved into the house about a month ago.

The Get Passive

We can use a form of the verb get and a past participle to form passive-voice sentences. We use the "get passive" in informal English.

Fred got robbed. They got hurt in the accident. We got invited to the party. The students are getting confused. Max got fired.

AVOID THE Error

Avoid using the get passive in formal, written English.

- The shipment will get processed in the warehouse and delivered to the customer by noon tomorrow.
- The shipment will be processed in the warehouse and delivered to the customer by noon tomorrow.

VERBS Two-Word Verbs

English has many two-word verbs. Sometimes these are called "phrasal verbs." They are formed with a verb plus a preposition or adverb.

He woke up at 5:30 yesterday. Then he turned over and went back to sleep. Please sit down. He got out of the car.

Like other verbs, two-word verbs can have an object.

Let's turn on the headlights. Please wake up Jim and Dan. We will get off the train in another hour.

Two-word verbs are either separable or inseparable, depending on whether the object can come before or after the preposition.

Please turn up the sound.	Please turn the sound up.
	(separable)

She's looking after the children. (inseparable)

Inseparable Two-Word Verbs

With inseparable two-word verbs, the object of the verb must come after the preposition. It cannot come between the verb and the preposition.

She's looking after the She's looking after them. children.

AVOID THE Error

Don't separate inseparable two-word verbs with an object.

- She's looking the children after.
  - She's looking after the children.

Common inseparable two-word verbs include:

get in	get over	get through	give up go over	keep off	look into	run into

AVOID THE Error

Return back is not an English construction. Use return or return + a place.

- ✗ We returned back at 2:30. ✓ We returned at 2:30.
  - ✓ We returned home at 2:30.

Separable Two-Word Verbs

With separable two-word verbs, the object of the verb can come after the preposition or between the verb and the preposition.

He turned the TV off. He turned off the TV.

However, a pronoun can go only between the verb and the preposition. A pronoun cannot go after the preposition.

He turned it off.

Common separable two-word verbs include:

bring back call back cross off look over talk over look up pick up put away take out

Exercise

VERBS Reflexive and Reciprocal Verbs

Reflexive Verbs

We use a reflexive pronoun with a verb when the subject and the object are the same. When a verb can be used with a reflexive pronoun, we call it a reflexive verb.

He taught himself Mexican cooking. She introduced herself to the audience. I slipped and hurt myself.

The reflexive pronouns are shown in the following table:

SUBJECT PRONOUN	REFLEXIVE PRONOUN
I	myself
you	yourself, yourselves
he	himself
she	herself
we	ourselves
they	themselves

AVOID THE Error

The only pronouns with singular and plural forms are yourself and yourselves.

- John and Mary, did you hurt yourself on the waterslide?
- John and Mary, did you hurt yourselves on the waterslide?

We often use reflexive pronouns with verbs such as blame, cut, enjoy, hurt, introduce, repeat, and teach.

Mrs. O'Dowd always repeats herself when she's talking. Phyllis sometimes blames herself for her son's problems. It's easy to hurt yourself driving recklessly on a scooter. Let's go around the room and introduce ourselves. Verbs such as wash and shave imply that the subject and the object are the same, but we normally do not use a reflexive pronoun with these verbs.

Remember to shave yourself before a job interview.Remember to shave before a job interview.

In some languages, a reflexive pronoun is used with verbs such as wash and shave, along with a direct object (the part of the body being washed). In English, use only the direct object.

- You should wash yourself your hands before eating.
  - You should wash your hands before eating.

We can use a reflexive pronoun with verbs such as wash, dry, and shave for emphasis.

I dried myself off completely before I got dressed.

Speakers sometimes use reflexive pronouns to emphasize that the subject performed the action personally.

The boss told me himself that we can leave work early today.

If you won't clean the kitchen yourself, then you shouldn't use it.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use a reflexive pronoun as the subject of a sentence.

- John and myself checked the shipment carefully.
- John and I checked the shipment carefully.

The verb enjoy is used with a direct object or a reflexive pronoun.

I enjoyed my trip to Spain. I enjoyed myself in Spain.

When enjoy is used as an imperative, it can be used without a direct object or reflexive pronoun.

Here is your hamburger. Enjoy!

Reciprocal Verbs

Reciprocal verbs have two subjects or a plural subject and imply that the subjects of the verb did the action of the verb to or with one another. With verbs like these, we can use a phrase such as each other or one another.

They met each other in 2007 and got married in 2008.

Those boys keep hitting one another.

Common reciprocal verbs include:

agree	argue	communicate	cooperate	disagree
fight	hit	marry	meet	talk

Exercise

A Complete the sentences by writing the correct reflexive pronoun on the line.

- 1. She fell down and hurt ______.
- 2. I am going to buy ______ a new computer this year.
- 3. Did you and Mark enjoy ______ at the party?
- 4. John always repeats ______ when he speaks.
- 5. Alan and Frank introduced _______ to each other at the meeting.
- 6. Please let us introduce ______.
- 7. I made this bread _____.
- 8. Enjoy ______ in Hollywood, Fred and Ethel!
- 9. Please don't help me. I want to do it ______.
- 10. She sang quietly to ______ as she sewed.

VERBS

Infinitives, Gerunds, and Participles

Infinitives

An infinitive is the base form of the verb with to in front of it.

to eat	to like	to be	to take care of
to seem	to live	to run

An infinitive can come after:

An action verb. As this term implies, action verbs show action.

I hope to go to China this year.

They want him to go to college.

He needs to find his car keys.

The object of a verb. In this case, the object of the verb is similar to a "subject" of the infinitive.

I want my kids to go to the circus tomorrow. He asked his neighbors to be quiet after 10:00. He told his son to do his homework.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use a that clause after want. Use an infinitive.

I want that you wash the dishes.

I want you to wash the dishes.

A verb such as be, seems, and so on.

Their usual pastime is to watch TV every night. Andrew seems to be tired today. You appear to like classical music.

An infinitive can be the subject of a sentence.

To know her is to love her.

To stay indoors on such a nice day would be silly.

To win is my only goal.

An infinitive and all the words that go with it are called an infinitive phrase. An infinitive can have:

📕 An object

The teacher wants all the students to take their seats. We need to buy some vegetables.

We here to buy some vegetables.

My boss told me to clean the bathroom.

📕 An adverb

The librarian told the children to speak quietly.

She wants to leave soon.

I like to work a crossword puzzle every morning.

AVOID THE Error

In formal writing, do not split an infinitive—that is, insert another word, such as a negative word or an adverb, between to and the base form of the verb.

- I told him to not make so much noise.
- ✓ I told him not to make so much noise.
- Please help me to quickly wash the dishes.
- Please help me to wash the dishes quickly.

An infinitive can follow:

It's + adjective

It's easy to make homemade bread.

It's fun to ride roller coasters.

It's illegal to drive without a seat belt.

📕 It's + noun

It's a pleasure to see you.

It's an adventure just to get there!

For more information on impersonal expressions with it's, see page 267.

A question word, such as how, what, or which

He told us how to get to the train station. I don't know what to do.

She knows where to buy delicious imported Greek olives.

A noun such as plan, proposal, recommendation, or suggestion

Her plan to drive for twenty-four hours straight seems unsafe. His proposal to buy the newspaper company surprised everyone. I don't like his suggestion to have the picnic on July 18.

Certain direct objects

I have some phone calls to return.

I have some emails to answer.

She has a lot of work to do these days.

An infinitive can tell the purpose of an action. You can also use in order to + infinitive with this meaning.

She moved to Texas to take a job.

She went to her cottage in order to get away from the city for a few days.

We went to the theater to see Transformers 3.

We went to the theater in order to see Transformers 3.

Use infinitives in expressions with too + adjective + infinitive.

I am too busy to take a lunch break. I am going to eat at my desk.

It's too cold to go to the beach. Let's go to a museum instead.

I am too tired to keep walking. Let's take a rest.

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse two, to, and too.

- I am to tired too watch a movie.
- ✓ I am too tired to watch a movie.
- ✗ They are two sleepy to drive. ✓ They are too sleepy to drive.

Use infinitives in expressions with an adjective + enough + infinitive.

Tanya is old enough to vote. Ward is smart enough not to buy the first used car he sees. You are intelligent enough to get into Harvard University.

AVOID THE Error

In everyday speech, when an infinitive follows going, want, and got, people shorten the verb

+ infinitive to gonna, wanna, and gotta. These short forms are OK in everyday speech, but avoid them in more formal situations and in writing.

- ✗ He is gonna arrive soon. ✓ He is going to arrive soon.
- I wanna buy some milk on the way home.
- I want to buy some milk on the way home.

Gotta is often short for have got to.

- X I gotta leave soon.
- ✓ I've got to leave soon.

Infinitives Without To

Some verbs are followed by an infinitive without to. Do not use to after let, make (force), feel, watch, hear, or see.

The boss let us leave early yesterday. The teacher made the boys stay after school. I heard the choir sing a beautiful song. I watched a bird build its nest. The police officer saw a car run a red light. Can you feel your pulse beat?

We can also use a gerund after watch, hear, see, or feel without a change in meaning.

I heard the choir singing a beautiful song. I watched a bird building its nest. The police officer saw a car running a red light. Can you feel your pulse beating?

For information on gerunds, see page 211.

To is optional after help.

He helped the campers pitch their tents. Let's help him change that flat tire. He helped the campers to pitch their tents. Let's help him to change that flat tire.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use to with these verbs:

The modal verbs will, can, could, may, might, would, should, or must

✗ I can't to lend you five dollars. ✓ I can't lend you five of	dollars.
✗ I should to leave at six o'clock. ✓ I should leave at six	o'clock.
✗ I might to eat a tuna sandwich for lunch. ✓ I might eat a tuna sandwich for lunch.	ndwich
For information on modal verbs, see pages 175–183.
The auxiliary verb do ( did , do , does )
✗ I don't to like coffee. ✓ I don't like coffee.
The verb let 's
Let's to go to the supermarket after lunch.	market
Use an infinitive with to with the modal verbs ought to and ha	ve to/had to.
<ul> <li>✗ You ought move to a bigger house.</li> <li>✓ You ought to move to bigger house.</li> </ul>	to a
✗ They have finish their homework. ✓ They have to finish their homework.	heir

Gerunds

A gerund is a verb + -ing that is used as a noun.

Swimming is great exercise.

Gerunds are spelled in the same way as present participles. For spelling rules, see page 139.

A gerund can be:

The subject or object of a sentence

Skiing is fun.

I love skiing in winter and playing golf in summer.

They started laughing.

As subjects, gerunds are more common than infinitives. Using an infinitive as the subject occurs mainly in writing.

To win is my only goal.	Winning is my only goal.
(less usual)	(more usual)

For more information on infinitives, see page 207.

The complement of a verb

Her favorite pastime is sewing.

The object of a preposition

He's interested in learning English. This pan is good for frying fish. She accused him of stealing her purse.

For more information on prepositions, see pages 239–256.

The object of a verb

I hate ironing, but I like washing dishes.

English has many expressions with go + gerund:

He likes to go fishing. She loves to go shopping. Abbie loves to go hiking.

AVOID THE Error

Not all gerunds are used as verbs, and sometimes the gerunds and related verbs have different forms.

These gerunds usually are not used as main verbs: boating, rock climbing, canoeing, mountain climbing, skateboarding, and weight-lifting. These verbs are usually used in expressions with go + gerund.

X	He boats on weekends.	1	He goes boating on weekends.

✗ Julie will rock climb next weekend.
 ✓ Julie will go rock climbing next weekend.

Others are used as a verb with a direct object.

Steve weight lifts every afternoon.

✓ Steve lifts weights every afternoon.

A gerund can have:

A direct object

He is good at fixing bikes.

📕 An adverb

She likes playing music loudly.

An adjective

The team needs better training.

Mr. Smith has poor hearing.

We can use a name, a possessive noun, or a possessive adjective as the "subject" of a gerund.

I worry about Victor getting into an accident.

Chuck is upset about her asking for a divorce.

A gerund, its subject, its objects, and its modifiers are often called a gerund phrase.

AVOID THE Error

A gerund phrase usually does not require any special punctuation. Do not use a comma, a semicolon, or a colon to set off a gerund phrase.

Getting married for the first time, is a big decision.Getting married for the first time is a big decision.

Most gerunds are uncountable nouns. However, a few are countable nouns. These are some common countable gerunds.

beginning	That movie has a boring beginning , but the ending is better.
drawing	He bought a drawing by a famous Mexican artist.
feeling	I have a funny feeling about that man. I don't trust him.
hearing	The prisoner will have a hearing before a judge on Thursday.
meeting	There is an employee meeting Sunday night.
painting	Here is a famous painting by Leonardo da Vinci.
saying	"Here today, gone tomorrow," is a common saying.
warning	The weatherman announced a tornado warning a few minutes ago.

For more information on countable and uncountable nouns, see page 51.

AVOID THE Error

To can come before an infinitive but not before a gerund. However, a few two-word verbs and other expressions with to can be followed by a gerund. Do not omit to from these expressions before a gerund: used to, look forward to, and take to.

- He is not used getting up early.
- We are looking forward going camping next weekend.
- He is not used to getting up early.
- We are looking forward to going camping next weekend.
- He never really took working in that factory.
- He never really took to working in that factory.

For more information on two-word verbs, see page 201.

Verbs Followed by Gerunds or Infinitives

Some verbs can be followed by a gerund, some verbs can be followed by an infinitive, and other verbs can be followed by either.

They want to go to the video store. (only infinitive) I enjoy reading Harry Potter books. (only gerund) She loves to dance. She loves dancing. (gerund or infinitive) She started working as soon as she graduated from college. She started to work as soon as she graduated from college. (gerund or infinitive)

AVOID THE Error

In sentences with two phrases joined by another word, always join two gerund phrases or two infinitive phrases. Do not join one of each.

✗ It's better to have loved and lost than never having loved at all.	<ul> <li>It's better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all. (a quotation from Tennnyson, an English poet)</li> </ul>
--	---

Verbs Followed Only by Gerunds

These verbs are followed only by gerunds:

enjoy	They enjoy taking long walks on the beach.
finish	He finished watching the movie at eleven at night.
give up	She gave up taking the bus after she bought a new car.
keep on	She kept on talking even after the teacher asked her to be quiet.
quit	She quit smoking last year.
suggest	I suggest selling that old car.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use an infinitive with verbs followed only by a gerund.

 She suggested to order the fish.
 She suggested ordering the fish.

Verbs Followed Only by Infinitives

These verbs are followed only by infinitives:

advise	I advised them to be careful.
appear	The magician appeared to pull a rabbit from his hat.
agree	She agreed to meet us for dinner.
ask	She asked to use the restroom.
decide	They decided to move to California next year.
expect hope	I expect to get paid tomorrow. I hope to meet her.
invite	He invited us to go for a hike on Saturday.
offer	She offered to give us directions.
plan	We plan to leave at 5:15.
promise	He promised to take his daughter to Disneyland.
refuse	Frank refused to take his medicine; now he's in the hospital.
remind	My mother reminded me to take an umbrella today.
tell	I told her to get ready for school.
want	My friends and I want to go camping this weekend.
warn	She warned him not to leave work early.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use a gerund with verbs followed only by an infinitive.

- He reminded her doing her homework.
- He reminded her to do her homework.

Verbs Followed by Gerunds and Infinitives

These verbs are followed by both gerunds and infinitives:

begin	They began to work at 8:30.
	They began working at 8:30.
can't stand	I can't stand to hear this music.
	I can't stand hearing this music.
go	He loves to go swimming.
	He loves going swimming.
hate	I hate to wash dishes.
	I hate washing dishes.
like	Anne likes to sew.
	Anne likes sewing.
love	I love to swim.
	I love swimming.
start	He started to smoke.
	He started smoking .

These verbs are followed by gerunds and infinitives without to:

feel	Can you feel your pulse beat?
	Can you feel your pulse beating?
hear	I heard the band play .
	I heard the band playing.
see	He saw the students study.
	He saw the students studying.
watch	I watched the boys play baseball.
	I watched the boys playing baseball.

For information on infinitives with and without to, see page 210.

These verbs are followed by gerunds and infinitives but with a difference in meaning:

remember	I remembered to take my umbrella. (I didn't forget it.)
	I remembered taking my umbrella. (I remembered that I took it.)
forget	He forgot to take his wallet. (He didn't take it.)
	He forgot taking his wallet. (He doesn't remember that he took it.)
try	She tried to start the engine. (She made an effort.)
	She tried starting the engine. (She experimented to see what would happen.)
stop	He stopped smoking. (He quit smoking.)
	He stopped to buy some ice cream. (He stopped the car to buy the ice cream.)

AVOID THE Error

With verbs such as remember, forget, try, and stop, use a gerund or infinitive appropriately to match your intended meaning.

- He forgot taking his wallet, so he had no money to pay for dinner.
- He forgot to take his wallet, so he had no money to pay for dinner.
- He stopped to smoke ten years ago.
- He stopped smoking ten years ago.

Participles

There are two kinds of participles: present participles and past participles.

Present participles end in -ing. Present participles are used with a form of the verb be to form the present progressive and past progressive tenses.

He is eating lunch. They were watching TV.

For rules on spelling present participles, see page 139. For more information on the present progressive tense, see pages 137–138. For more information on the past progressive tense, see page 159.

Regular past participles end in -ed. There are many irregular past participles. For a list of irregular past participles, see page 165. Past participles are used with the verb have to form the present perfect tense.

He has lived here for many years.

They have moved to Texas.

For more information on the present perfect tense, see page 162.

Present and past participles can be used as adjectives.

Freezing temperatures are expected tonight and tomorrow.

Frozen food is very convenient.

This computer is broken.

I need to use a working computer.

This is a fascinating TV show.

The party was very exciting.

Present-participle adjectives describe the feeling produced by an object or person. Pastparticiple adjectives describe the feelings of a person produced by an object, person, or activity.

This class is interesting.	All the students are interested in this class.
I hate this boring movie.	I was bored during the entire movie.

Present-participle adjectives can be used in front of a noun or after a verb such as be, feel, and seem.

This is a really boring movie.

Past-participle adjectives can be used before a noun.

The bored children went outside to play.

Only a few past-participle adjectives are used after verbs such as be, seem, and become.

He seems bored. She became scared. We felt pleased.

A participle and all the words that go with it, such as adverbs or objects, are called a participial phrase. A participial phrase can modify a whole sentence. An introductory participial phrase is set off with a comma.

Getting ready for the ball, Cinderella had the help of her fairy godmother.

Bored with her homework, Linda decided to watch TV.

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse an introductory participial phrase with a gerund as subject. A participial phrase requires a comma, but a gerund phrase as the subject does not.

- Taking a plane you will arrive much faster than driving.
- Taking a plane, you will arrive much faster than driving. (participial phrase)
- Taking a plane, is faster than driving.
- Taking a plane is faster than driving. (gerund phrase)

An introductory participial phrase needs to refer to the same person as the subject of the clause that follows it.

Driving to work, I stopped to buy a doughnut.

In this sentence, the person who was driving to work stopped to buy the doughnut.

When a participial phrase doesn't refer to the subject of the main clause, it's called a "dangling participle." Dangling participles can be very confusing to readers. Fix a dangling participle by rewriting the sentence.

- Driving to work, a traffic jam slowed me down. (This sentence implies that the traffic jam was driving to work.)
- ✓ Driving to work, I was slowed down by a traffic jam.
- Running to the bus stop, her packages fell on the ground. (This sentence implies that her packages were running.)
- Running to the bus stop, she dropped her packages on the ground.

ADVERBS

Adverbs are words and phrases that modify verbs, adjectives, other adverbs, and whole sentences. Adverbs modify:

Verbs

He ran quickly and completed the race in less than a minute. She gets up early every day. They already finished their work. We stayed up late.

AVOID THE Error

An adjective, not an adverb, follows verbs such as be, seem, become, feel, look, sound, taste, and smell.

- X This cheese smells terribly.
  - This cheese smells terrible.

X You look tiredly.

✓ You look tired.

Adjectives

This book is extremely interesting. The meat isn't completely cooked. His hand was slightly hurt. I am afraid we are totally lost.

The adverbs quite, really, and very can be used to make many adjectives stronger.

The office is quite clean. Mr. Williams is really nice. That question is very difficult.

AVOID THE Error

English speakers usually do not use very with delicious. They say really delicious.

Other adverbs

He worked exceptionally slowly. She ran extremely fast. Chef Smith cooks wonderfully well.

The adverbs quite, really, and very can be used to make many adverbs stronger.

He worked really fast and finished his work in no time. This sports car can go quite fast. Ted always listens very carefully.

Entire sentences

Unexpectedly, the train left the station. Luckily, I found my car keys in my jacket pocket. Suddenly, some fireworks exploded in the air above us.

AVOID THE Error

When an adverb is first in a sentence, it's followed by a comma.

- Happily she cashed her winning lottery ticket.
- ✓ Happily, she cashed her winning lottery ticket.

Forming Adverbs

Many adverbs are formed by adding -ly to an adjective.

sudden	$\rightarrow$	suddenly
slow	->	slowly

A few -ly words are both adjectives and adverbs.

monthly weekly daily early

My son has a weekly piano lesson. (adjective) Turn in your time card weekly, every Thursday. (adverb) I am going to take the early bus to work today. (adjective) I want to get to work very early. (adverb) Not all words that end in -ly are adverbs. Words such as friendly, lovely, and silly are all adjectives.

a friendly way.

He speaks to everyone friendly.
 He is friendly with everyone he speaks to.
 He speaks to everyone in

Spelling Rules for -ly Adverbs

Follow these rules for spelling -ly adverbs:

■ Add -ly to most adjectives.
 glad → gladly proper→properlynice→nicelybeautiful→beautifully

AVOID THE Error

To form the adverb form of full, add -y, not -ly.

If an adverb ends in consonant + -le, drop the -e and add -ly.

terrible	->	terribly
irritable	->	irritably
horrible	->	horribly

If an adjective ends in -y, drop the -y and add -ily.

easy	$\rightarrow$	easily
happy	$\rightarrow$	happily
hungry	$\rightarrow$	hungrily
angry	->	angrily

If an adjective ends in -ic, add -ally.

automatic	-	automatically
geographic	->	geographically
historic	->	historically
graphic	->	graphically

AVOID THE Error The adverb form of public is publicly. x publically v publicly If an adjective ends in -ue, drop e and add -ly. true → truly The adverb form of good is irregular. good → well

I didn't sleep well last night.

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse good and well. Good is an adjective, and well is an adverb.

- My company pays workers good.
   My company pays workers well. (an adverb is needed)
- This company offers well benefits.
- well. (an adverb is needed)
   ✓ This company offers good benefits. (an adjective is needed)

Many common adverbs do not end in -ly.

fast soon

tomorrow hard wrong

AVOID THE Error

Do not add -ly to adverbs such as fast and soon.

X
She ran fastly.

✓
She ran fast.

X
The bus will arrive soonly.

The bus will arrive soon.

Hard is both an adjective and an adverb. Hardly is not the adverb form of the adjective hard. These words have unrelated meanings. The adjective hard means "difficult":

That driving test is very hard.

Preparing a Thanksgiving turkey is not hard, but it takes a lot of time.

The adverb hard means "with great energy or effort."

She studied hard for the test. Kelly always works hard.

The adverb hardly means "barely."

I've hardly lived here a year. Conroy, you're hardly eating. Have some more food.

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse the adverbs hard and hardly.

- She worked hardly all day.
- She worked hard all day. (She worked diligently.)
- He hard worked all day.
- He hardly worked all day. (He didn't work very much.)

Phrases can also function as adverbs.

I like to drink hot cocoa before bed. (prepositional phrase) I rode the bus for half an hour. (prepositional phrase) We hiked in the park all afternoon. (noun phrase) My brother hardly ever writes me a letter. (adverb phrase) He went to the supermarket to buy milk. (infinitive phrase) They went to the party laughing and singing. (participial phrase)

For information on prepositional phrases, see pages 239–240. For information on infinitive phrases, see page 208. For information on participial phrases, see page 219.

AVOID THE Error

Quick and loud are both adjectives and adverbs. These words also have -ly forms. Use the -ly forms in more formal settings.

- ✗ Don't speak so loud. (formal) ✓ Don't speak so loud.
- Don't speak so loud. (informal)
  - Don't speak so loudly. (formal or informal)

Kinds of Adverbs

Adverbs are divided into groups depending on how they modify the verb. The kinds of adverbs include adverbs of manner, time, frequency, duration, place, purpose, and probability.

Adverbs of Manner

Adverbs of manner tell how something happens. Common adverbs of manner include:

wellquicklyslowlyfastwrongHe installed the new switch wrong, so now the washing machine won't start.

Let's finish our work quickly so we can go home before the blizzard hits.

Adverbs of Time

Adverbs of time tell when an action happens. Common adverbs of time include:

today	tomorrow	now
soon	late	lately
next year	in the fall	yet
Monday	already	yesterday

I need to go to the bank today.

Later, we went for a hike.

Victor always arrives late.

AVOID THE Error

Lately is not the adverb form of late. Both words are adverbs and have different meanings.

Late means "after the expected time."

- Victor got up lately every day last week.
- ✓ Victor got up late every day last week.

during March

in winter on New Year's Eve over the summer

Lately means "recently."

- Late, I have been going swimming every morning.
- ✓ Lately, I have been going swimming every morning.

Late is also an adjective.

That teacher is very strict. She won't accept late work.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the adverb lately in place of the adjective late.

X The train arrived lately today. ✓ The train arrived late today.

When days of the week are used as adverbs, on is optional. We can say Monday or on Monday.He will arrive Monday.

Phrases with ago act as adverbs of time. These phrases tell how much time passed since an action happened.

He left an hour ago. The party ended two hours ago. Frank called a minute ago.

AVOID THE Error

Use the simple past tense, and not the present perfect tense, with adverbs of time that imply a completed action, such as yesterday, last year, and phrases with ago.

✗ He has arrived a week ago. ✓ He arrived a week ago.

For more information on the simple past tense, see page 149. For more information on the present perfect tense, see page 162.

We often use already and yet with the simple present, present progressive, present perfect tense, or simple past tenses. Use already in statements. Use yet in questions and negative statements.

Have you eaten lunch yet? Yes, we've already eaten lunch. No, we haven't eaten lunch yet. Are they here yet? Yes, they're already here. No, they're not here yet.

Adverbs of Frequency

Adverbs of frequency tell how often an action happens. Some adverbs of frequency are:

always every day monthly never often

I never walk to work. I usually drive.

Adverbs of Duration

Adverbs of duration tell how long an action happens. Some adverbs of duration include:

all day forever for a week since 2007 still for two years

I have lived in Canada since 2006. We camped in the state park all week.

Adverbs of Place

Adverbs of place tell the location of an action. Some adverbs of place include:

here there in the kitchen in out

Do not confuse there (adverb) with their (possessive) or they're (contraction of they are).

- ✗ I went their after work. ✓ I went there after work.
- X I went they're after work.

Adverbs of Purpose

Adverbs of purpose tell why an action happens. Often adverbs of purpose are prepositional phrases, infinitive phrases, and participial phrases.

I walked to work to get some exercise. (infinitive phrase)

- I went to the park in order to get some fresh air. (prepositional phrase)
- I went to the supermarket for milk. (prepositional phrase)

She walked down the street looking for a restaurant.

For information on infinitive phrases, see page 208. For information on participial phrases, see page 219. For information on prepositional phrases, see pages 239–240.

AVOID THE Error

Introductory infinitive, prepositional, and participial phrases are set off with commas:

An introductory participial phrase should refer to the subject of the clause that follows it.

Feeling hungry, I headed to the kitchen.

AVOID THE Error

If an introductory participial phrase does not refer to the same subject as the clause that follows it, readers may feel confused. To fix this problem, rewrite the sentence.

- K Going home, rain got in my car.
- ✓ While I was going home, rain got in my car.

Adverb of Probability

Adverbs of probability talk about whether an action will happen. Some adverbs of probability include:

probably possibly maybe definitely really

It will probably rain tonight.

Maybe we can go for a bicycle ride later.

Many children believe that Santa Claus really exists.

Position of Adverbs

Adverbs can be put in many different places in a sentence.

Suddenly, a car came out of nowhere and hit us.

A car suddenly came out of nowhere and hit us.

A car came out of nowhere and suddenly hit us.

A car came out of nowhere and hit us suddenly.

AVOID THE Error

In formal writing, do not split an infinitive by inserting an adverb between to and the base verb.

X I told the students to quickly finish.

I told the students to finish quickly.

Adverbs of time, manner, purpose, and place are often put at the end of the sentence.

There was a terrible rainstorm last night. (time) The rain fell hard and fast. (manner) She went shopping in order to buy a wedding present. (purpose) He lives here. (place)

When adverbs of time, manner, purpose, and place are together, they are usually in the order shown in the following table:

		PLACE OR
	MANNER	PURPOSE	TIME
She worked	busily	in the garden	all afternoon.
He made soup		for lunch	today.
They went		to the mall	last night.

An adverb of manner also can go before the main verb.

She happily (manner) planted flowers in the flower beds (place).

AVOID THE Error

Do not place an adverb of time, place, or purpose before the main verb.

```
I last night read a good book. I read a good book last night.
```

An adverb of time, manner, place, or purpose can come at the beginning of a sentence for special emphasis.

Last night, there was a terrible rainstorm.Busily, she planted flowers in the flower beds.In the garden, there are many beautiful flowers.In order to get some rest, he went to his cottage in the country.

AVOID THE Error

In formal English, people usually avoid putting hopefully at the beginning of a sentence. Use the verb hope instead. In informal English, putting hopefully first in a sentence is acceptable.

- Hopefully, they will win the lottery.
- ✓ We hope they will win the lottery.

Adverbs of duration usually go at the end of the sentence.

He was in town (place) for a week (duration).

Adverbs of duration often go before an adverb of time.

My mother-in-law visited us for a month (duration) last year (time).

The adverb of duration still goes before the main verb. Still can go before or after be as a main verb.

He still lives in Texas. He still is a doctor. He is still a doctor.

Already usually goes before the main verb or after be as the main verb. Already can go first or last in the sentence for special emphasis.

We've already seen this Harry Potter movie. We've seen this Harry Potter movie already. The children are already asleep.

Yet is usually at the end of the sentence.

We haven't finished eating yet.

Adverbs of frequency and probability go before the main verb. These adverbs go after be when it is the main verb.

We often have to work late. His plane has probably landed by now. I am usually busy. They are probably lost.

AVOID THE Error

The adverb of probability maybe is usually first in a sentence.

- X It will maybe rain today.
- ✓ Maybe it will rain today.
- X It will rain today maybe.

Adverbs such as very and really usually go before a main verb, an adjective, or another adverb.

We are really going to Disneyland.

I am very busy.

She answered me very angrily.

The order of adverbs is complex, and English speakers often change the order for special emphasis. Pay attention as you listen and read to see how people change the order to emphasize different parts of the sentence.

Comparison of Adverbs

We use comparatives to talk about two things and superlatives to talk about three or more things.

Forms

ADVERBS OF ONE SYLLABLE

SUPERLATIVE
tbe + adverb + -est
the fastest
the hardest

Tim walks faster than Max. Harry walks the fastest. Mary ran harder than Jane. Katie ran the hardest.

The comparative form of well is better. The superlative of well is best.

Lucy sings better than me. Ricky sings the best.

The comparative form of badly is worse. The superlative of badly is worst.

Barbara cooks worse than Laura. Hillary cooks the worst.

ADVERBS OF TWO SYLLABLES OR MORE

COMPARATIVE	SUPERLATIVE
more/less + adverb + than	the most/least + adverb
more quickly than	the most quickly
more beautifully than	the most beautifully
less terribly than	the least terribly

Fred finished the test more quickly than Anne. Irene finished the most quickly. Eleanor writes more beautifully than Jean. Barbara writes the most beautifully.

AVOID THE Error

The comparative form of early is irregular. It adds -er/-est.

- ✗ I always get up more early than my husband.
- I always get up earlier than my husband.

Sometimes we can omit than from comparisons.

Work more carefully, please.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use double comparatives or superlatives.

- Mary swims more better than Anita.
- Mary swims better than Anita.

AVOID THE Error

You may hear louder/loudest and more loudly/most loudly. You may also hear both quicker/quickest and quickly/most quickly. Use the -ly versions in formal speech and writing.

- He ran quicker than Barbara and won the race. (formal)
- He ran quicker than Barbara and won the race. (informal)
- He ran more quickly than Barbara and won the race. (informal or formal)

For rules on spelling words with -er/-est, see pages 106–107.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use the comparative when the superlative is required.

- Barbara ran the faster in the class.
- Barbara ran the fastest in the class.

Do not use the superlative when the comparative is required.

- Between swimming and running, I like running best.
- Between swimming and running, I like running better.

Comparisons with As ... As ...

When the two things being compared are equal, we use as ... as. ...

John ran as quickly as Mary. Michael speaks Chinese as well as a native.

Expressions with So + Adverb + That

We can use so + adverb + that to talk about actions that are extreme and their results.

She worked so quickly that she was finished in an hour. He was so tired that he slept for ten hours.

Exercises

A For each word, write the adverb form on the line.

B Rewrite each sentence using the adverb in parentheses.

1. I'm going to leave for Texas. (in the morning)

<sup>2.</sup> Kathy and Rick don't get along. (well)

3 . I can't find my wallet.	It's lost.	(probably)
------------------------------------	------------	------------

4. My neighbor is going to be on a TV game show. (really)

5. Doris rented a DVD from the video store. (near her house)

6. He works downtown. (for a large company)

7. I stayed up last night to watch old movies. (late)

8. He's finished all his work. (already)

9. He is at work early. (always)

10. Tracy is impolite. (never)

C Give the correct form of the adverb. Use the adverb or its comparative or superlative form. Use than or the as necessary.

1. Mary Jane works ______ (hard) Marcia.

2. My daughter got sick, so we returned home a few days ______ (early) expected.

3. He drove so ______ (fast) that he got a speeding ticket.

4. Of all the students in the dance class, Judy dances ______ (beautifully).

5. David picked up the phone and answered as ______ (politely) as possible.

6. Frank can sing ______ (well) many professional singers.

7. My brother drives ______ (dangerously) of everyone I know.

8. Today the team played _______ (badly) yesterday.
9. Frank speaks English _______ (clearly) Jillian.
10. Debbie entered the room as _______ (quietly) as a mouse.
11. He wrote as _______ (neatly) he could.
12. Of everyone in our family, Julia cooks _______ (worse)!
13. The race car seems to be going _______ (quickly) now.
14. You need to work _______ (carefully)!
15. Tom always works _______ (hard) of everyone on our team.

PREPOSITIONS

We use prepositions and nouns to form prepositional phrases. Prepositional phrases modify, or give information about, other parts of a sentence. Common prepositions include in, on, at, until, since, for, before, after, during, under, behind, opposite, by, above, below, with, and about.

The book is on the table. Your appointment is at 2:30. We went swimming before breakfast. This book is about the history of China. I need a sip of water.

A noun or a gerund follows a preposition.

He is in the office. On seeing the movie star, the fans began to scream. A bus stop is near my house.

An infinitive can follow the prepositions but and except.

You can't park here except to unload. You can't park here but to unload.

AVOID THE Error

An infinitive cannot follow most prepositions. Use a gerund or a related noun instead.

- X Thanks for to help me.
- ✓ Thanks for helping me.
- ✓ Thanks for your help.

A pronoun can follow a preposition.

I bought this present for you. I think that this book is by him, too.

AVOID THE Error

If a pronoun follows a preposition, it must be an object pronoun.

Between you and I, she is a very nice boss.

 Between you and me, she is a very nice boss.

For more information on object pronouns, see page 88.

Prepositional phrases modify other parts of a sentence. A prepositional phrase can modify a noun, a verb, an adjective, an adverb, another prepositional phrase, or a sentence.

A woman with bright red hair just entered the room. (modifies the noun woman) Your shift begins at seven o'clock. (modifies the verb begins) Your shift ends at three o'clock in the afternoon. (modifies the phrase three o'clock) I am worried about these bills. (modifies the adjective worried) He isn't old enough to join the army. (modifies the adverb enough) At lunch tomorrow, let's have a birthday celebration for Kate! (modifies the entire sentence)

Prepositional phrases often give information about time, location, direction, and purpose.

Time

We use the prepositions in, on, at, for, since, from ... to/until, until, by, before, after, during, when, and while to talk about time.

In

Use in to talk about months, years, and seasons.

We always go on vacation in summer. Taxes are due in April.

In 2008, the Olympics were in Beijing.

Use in to talk about morning, afternoon, and evening.

I always feel sleepy in the afternoon.

AVOID THE Error

Use at, not in, with night. Don't use the with night.

Ike to read in the night before bedtime.I like to read at night before bedtime.

Use on to talk about specific days, such as days of the week, holidays, and dates.

I have a day off from work on Monday.

Your appointment is on April 25.

We are going to Aunt Phyllis's house on Christmas Day this year.

AVOID THE Error

Use on, not in, with the day of the week + morning, afternoon, evening, or night.

I have to work in Friday afternoon.

✓ I have to work on Friday afternoon.

In general, on is optional with days of the week:

I have to work Fridays every week. I have to work on Fridays every week.

Use on with weekend.

On weekends, I often go to the zoo.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use at with weekend in American English. Use on.

At the weekend, I will run some errands.On the weekend, I will run some errands.

Many English speakers say over the weekend to emphasize the amount of time.

Over the weekend, I will paint the kitchen and back stairs.

We use on time and on schedule to state that someone or something is following the schedule.

The train is on time today.

We need to stay on schedule, or we won't finish our work on time.

AVOID THE Error

The opposite of on schedule is off schedule or late. However, the opposite of on time is only late.

When we are early, we can say early, ahead of time, or ahead of schedule.

The train is early. The train is ahead of schedule. We finished ahead of time.

At

We use at to state specific times of appointments, meetings, classes, and so on.

Your appointment is at two o'clock.

Please meet us at the restaurant at noon.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use to to say the time of a meeting, appointment, and so on. Use at.

X The meeting is to 1:30. ✓ The meeting is at 1:30.

We use it + be + time to say the current or past time.

It's noon.

It was 8:44 when the train pulled out of the station.

For more information on saying the time, see pages 267–268.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use in, on, or at with this, last, next, and every + time.

- 🗱 I go on vacation on every year. 🖌 I go on vacation every year.
- My husband has a day off at next Tuesday.
- The whole factory had to work overtime in last week.
- My husband has a day off next Tuesday.
- The whole factory had to work overtime last week.

We use for to state a period of time.

We played basketball for two hours after work yesterday. Mr. Jefferson has been our neighbor for eleven years.

Since

We use since to state a beginning point for an action that has continued up to the present. We often use since with the present perfect tense.

He's lived in Chicago since 2000.

That company is very old. It's been in business since 1847.

For more information on the present perfect tense, see page 162.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use since for a period of time. Use for.

He's had the flu since three days.He's had the flu for three days.

From ... to/Until

We use from ... to or until to state a period of time.

```
In this part of the country, it's rainy from December to March.
Today I worked from 8 o'clock until 6 o'clock.
```

Until

We use until to state the end point of a period of time.

They stayed out dancing until midnight. The shop stayed busy until closing time.

AVOID THE Error

In informal speech, many speakers say till instead of until. Use until in formal writing.

- He worked till ten o'clock. (formal writing)
- He worked until ten o'clock. (formal writing)
- He worked till ten o'clock. (informal writing)

By

We use by to state that an action occurs before no later than a certain time. English speakers often use by to state deadlines.

You must file your tax return by April 15. He should arrive by midnight.

Before

Use before + noun to tell what happened prior to another activity.

Before work, I always get a cup of coffee and a doughnut.

After

We use after to tell an action that followed a previous action.

I went to the mall after work.

We can use a noun, gerund, or clause with before and after.

Before leaving home, I closed and locked all the windows. Before I left home, I closed and locked all the windows. He took a nap after finishing lunch. He took a nap after he finished lunch.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use that to introduce a clause following before or after.

- After that he arrived, he checked into his hotel.
- After he arrived, he checked into his hotel.

During

We use during to say when an action happened.

During the afternoon, a blizzard struck. The power went out during the blizzard. He left work during lunch to go shopping.

AVOID THE Error

During the week means during the workweek—that is, Monday to Friday. For weekends, we say during the weekend or over the weekend.

X During the week, I relaxed V During the week, I worked on Saturday and Sunday.

While

We can use while + gerund to talk about actions that take place during another action.

While running, she hurt her foot.

While driving to the store, I saw an accident.

In sentences such as these, the subject of the main clause is assumed to be the subject of the gerund.

While can also be used to introduce a clause.

While she was running, she hurt her foot. While I was driving to the store, I saw an accident.

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse during and while. Different words follow these words. We use during + noun. We use while + gerund or while + clause.

- X We ate popcorn while the movie.
- ✓ We ate popcorn during the movie.
- X We drank soda during watching the movie.
- ✓ We drank soda while watching the movie.
- We drank soda while we were watching the movie.

For more information on gerunds, see page 211. For more information on while, see page 160.

In sentences with while + gerund, before + gerund, and after + gerund, the gerund must refer to the same subject as the main clause.

While talking on the phone, she read her e-mail. Before getting on the train, get your ticket punched. After arriving, you turn your ticket in at the exit gate. If the gerund in a phrase with while, before, or after does not refer to the subject of the main clause, rewrite the sentence.

While eating lunch, the phone in my office rang.

 While eating lunch, I was interrupted when the phone in my office rang.

Location

In

Use in when you think about space as an interior.

Let's go in the train station and buy our tickets. It was raining, so we waited in a bookstore for a few minutes.

Use in for cities, states, and countries.

I live in Dallas, Texas.

People often eat dinner at ten o'clock at night in Spain.

On

Use on when you think about space as a surface.

A coffee shop is on the corner. There are many beautiful houses on my street.

The milk is on the kitchen table.

The milk is on the kitchen table.

Please put these books on the bookshelf.

AVOID THE Error

To talk about people who are riding the subway, train, or bus, we use on. However, we use in for car passengers.

- X Right now he's in the bus.
- ✓ Right now he's on the bus.
- ✗ I think that a TV star is on that car.
- I think that a TV star is in that car.

On a car means "on the roof of a car."

When we talk about how we get from one place to another, we use by. See more information on by on pages 249 and 254.

We use in when someone is performing in a concert, play, movie, or sporting event.

I played in a softball game on Sunday morning. My daughter is in a band concert at school on Thursday night.

At

Use at when you think about a space as a point.

Run! The bus is at the bus stop. Stop at the red light or you'll get a ticket.

We always use at with work:

Usually, I am at work every day except Sunday. I have to be back at work in an hour.

We use at when we state that someone is attending a concert, play, movie, or sporting event.

I was at a baseball game last night.

My oldest son is at the movies with his friends right now.

We usually use in and a kind of school (such as elementary school or college) to state that someone is a student. We use at to state that someone is currently in a school building.

My son is going to be in high school next year. Right now he's at the middle school playing basketball.

Sometimes, we use in or at with a location to stress whether it's a public place or a building.

I have to stop at the bank to deposit my paycheck. (The bank is a public place.)

It's too cold in the bank. (The bank is a building.)

We can use in or at with restaurant, coffee shop, or hotel.

We ate breakfast in a coffee shop today. We stayed in a great hotel. We ate breakfast at a coffee shop today. We stayed at a great hotel.

We use at to state that we are at home.

I was at home all day yesterday.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use at + home, or any preposition, when talking about traveling home.

```
I am going at home right after work.I am going home right after work.
```

I am going to home right after work.

Do not use a preposition to announce that you have arrived home.

🗶 Honey, I'm at home. 🖌 🖌 Honey, I'm home.

Use at or from to say your location when teleworking or telecommuting. (These terms mean working away from your normal workplace using computer and telephone.)

- 🗱 I am from home teleworking. 🖌 I am at home teleworking.
- ✓ I telecommute at home. ✓ I telecommute from home.

Behind

We use behind to describe something that is located at the back of another thing.

Please put these trash bags in the containers behind the building. A school is behind my house.

By

We use by to describe something that is near and along the side of something else.

There is a great restaurant by the river. I walked by the store this morning, but it was closed.

Near

We use near to describe something that is located close to something else.

In winter it's nice to sit near a roaring fire. My house is located near a bus stop.

Above

We use above to describe something that is higher than another thing.

Look! A helicopter is flying above the football stadium.

Over

We use over to describe something that is directly above something else.

A plane flew over the lake.

A car drove over the bridge.

On Top Of

We use on top of to describe something that is above and touching an object such as a table, cabinet, or refrigerator.

Your backpack is on top of the cabinet.

Often, we can use on interchangeably with on top of:

The iron is on top of the fridge. The iron is on the fridge.

Below

We use below to describe something that is lower than another thing or directly under it.

From the mountaintop, we could see a beautiful valley below us. The people in the apartment below us always make a lot of noise.

Under

We use under to describe something that is directly below another thing.

Never stand under a tree during a thunderstorm.

I always forget to vacuum under my bed.

We can use below and under interchangeably when they mean "directly under."

In Front Of

We use in front of to describe something that is directly ahead of us.

Why can't you find your car keys? They're right in front of you. I found a great parking spot right in front of the main entrance to the mall.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use in front of to describe buildings that face one another. Use opposite.

- The bank is in front of the post office.
- The bank is opposite the post office.

Next To

Next to means "to one side of."

A parking lot is next to the museum. The closet is next to the front door.

AVOID THE Error

Use next to and by when the items are directly adjacent to one another. If they are not adjacent, use near.

- The bathroom is next to the kitchen. (They are not adjacent.)
- The bathroom is near the kitchen. (They are not adjacent.)
- The bathroom is next to the kitchen. (They are adjacent.)

Between

Between means "in the middle of two things."

The convenience store is between the video store and the restaurant. Let's put a small table between the sofa and the armchair.

Direction

In and Into

We use in and into to mean "enter."

He walked in the room and sat down. He walked into the room and sat down. I was surprised to see a police officer run in the store. I was surprised to see a police officer run into the store.

Out Of

We use out of to mean "out from inside."

The cookies are ready. Let's take them out of the oven. He walked out of the room.

Off

We use off to describe movement away from the top of another thing.

The antique vase fell off the shelf and broke into hundreds of pieces. Please clear your homework off the kitchen table so we can eat dinner.

То

We use to to describe movement in the direction of something.

Let's go to the park for a picnic. Please open your books to page 101.

Toward

We use toward to describe movement in the general direction of something.

Let's walk toward the park.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use toward and to interchangeably. Toward means "in the general direction of." To means "directly to."

- I am walking toward her office. (I am walking directly to it.)
- I am walking toward her office. (I am walking in the general direction of her office.)
- I am walking to her office.
   (I am walking directly to it.)

From

We use from to describe movement away.

He arrived from China this afternoon.

We use from to state someone's nationality.

Carlos is from Mexico.

AVOID THE Error

To state nationality, do not use of. Use from.

- X Eddie is of Mexico.
- Eddie is from Mexico.

Other Meanings

On

We use on to talk about Internet, TV, radio, the telephone, and other means of communication.

I saw a great documentary on TV last night. I learned about it on the Internet. He is on the phone now.

Use on to talk about the status of something.

Jeans are on sale today. The workers are on strike.

By

We use by to talk about transportation.

He often comes to work by bus. I am afraid to travel by plane.

AVOID THE Error

We use on foot to talk about walking.

He went to the supermarketHe went to the supermarketon foot.

It's possible to say by car, but using the verb drive is more common.

He went to work by car.(less usual)He drove to work. (more usual)

Do not use the with by + bus, train, and so on.

He goes to work by the bus. I He goes to work by bus.

Use on + the + bus, plane, or train to talk about someone or something's location.

I forgot my purse on the bus. I think that John is on the subway right now. He should be at work in a few minutes.

We use by to talk about writers or authors.

This poem is by Shakespeare. His favorite songs are all by Madonna.

We use a prepositional phrase with by to state the passive subject in a passive-voice sentence.

His car was hit by a bus.

For more information on the passive voice, see page 192.

With and Without

We use with and without to talk about things we do or do not have, want, or own.

Jennifer lives with two roommates. I want to buy a car with a sunroof. I'd like some french fries with my hamburger. I feel nervous without my cell phone.

About

We use about to talk about subjects or topics of a book, article, discussion, film, lecture, and so on.

This book is about Abraham Lincoln.

Let's not talk about the accident. It's too upsetting.

We also use about to mean "approximately."

It's about two hundred miles from here to Houston. Right now it's about four o'clock.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use of to show possession. Use a possessive noun or belongs to.

- X This book is of John.
- ✓ This book is John's.
- ✓ This book belongs to John.

Adjective + Preposition Combinations

We use these adjectives and pronouns together.

afraid of	Tim is afraid of horses.
angry with	I am a bit angry with David.
angry about	Voters are angry about high taxes.
bad at	I am bad at math.
fascinated by	He is fascinated by that movie.
good at	Edward is good at singing.
interested in	I am interested in learning more about the Civil War.

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse angry with, angry at, and angry about. Use angry with and angry at to talk about people whom you have a disagreement with. Use angry about to talk about the cause of the anger.

He is angry about his neighbor. (He has a disagreement with the neighbor.)	<ul> <li>He is angry at his neighbor. (He has a disagreement with the neighbor.)</li> <li>He is angry with his neighbor. (He has a disagreement with the neighbor.)</li> </ul>
	He is angry about his neighbor. (He is upset because of something the neighbor did.)

There are many exceptions to the rules about prepositions. As you listen to English speakers and read, take notes on the details.

CONDITIONAL SENTENCES

We use conditional sentences to speculate about the results of actions in the present, future, and past.

If I win the lottery, I'll buy a new car. (future)

If I had time, I'd go to the movies with you. (present)

If we had arrived at the station sooner, we wouldn't have missed the train. (past)

Conditional sentences are formed with two clauses, an independent clause and a dependent clause. A clause has a complete subject and verb.

I am a teacher. She will get a raise.

An independent clause can stand alone as a sentence.

They are my neighbors. Dogs are great pets.

A dependent clause cannot stand alone as a sentence.

If I win the lottery When she arrives

A dependent clause must be linked to another clause. We link dependent clauses to other clauses with words such as if and when. These words are called subordinating conjunctions.

I will always fly in first class if I win the lottery.

This table shows the clauses in future, present, and past conditional sentences:

DEPENDENT CLAUSE	INDEPENDENT CLAUSE
If I win the lottery,	I'll buy a new car.
If I had time,	I'd go to the movies with you.
If we had arrived at the station	we wouldn't have missed the sooner,	train.

Conditional sentences have one independent clause and one dependent clause. Since the dependent clause begins with a word such as if, unless, or when, this clause is sometimes called the if clause.

If you lose your apartment keys, you'll need to call a locksmith. We are going to go to the beach today unless it rains.

When the campfire is ready, we'll cook our hot dogs.

AVOID THE Error

Use a comma between the clauses of a conditional sentence only when the dependent (if) clause is first in the sentence.

- ✗ If I have the money I'll buy a new car next year.
- If I have the money, I'll buy a new car next year.
- I'll buy a new car next year, if I have the money.
- I'll buy a new car next year if I have the money.

The three types of conditional sentences are called conditional 1, conditional 2, and conditional 3.

Conditional 1 Sentences

Conditional 1 sentences talk about actions that are true or possible in the present or future.

If you are ready, we can begin the test.

If my car doesn't start, I'll call a tow truck.

If he has to work tomorrow, we won't go to the mall.

Formation

Conditional 1 sentences are formed with:

A dependent (if) clause in a present tense (simple present, present progressive, and present perfect)

An independent (main) clause in the simple present tense or future tense

If he finishes work early, he will go home.

If he's cooking dinner now, he won't want to go out to dinner with us.

If she has received my e-mail, she will come to work early tomorrow.

If you find his mobile phone, return it to him.

For more information on the present tense, see pages 124 and 130.

For more information on the imperative, see page 143.

For more information on the future tense, see page 172.

For more information on modal verbs, see page 175.

Do not use the simple future tense or going to in an if clause. Use a present tense or imperative.

- ✗ If I will win the lottery, I'll buy a new car.
- ✓ If I win the lottery, I'll buy a new car.

We can also use going to, an imperative, the present progressive tense, or a modal auxiliary verb in the main clause.

When we finish dinner, we can have some ice cream for dessert.

If you lose your driver's license, you should get a new one right away.

If you park near a fire hydrant, you might get a ticket.

If he wins the lottery, he's going to quit his job.

If you smell the odor of gas, turn off your stove and open a window. If the odor continues, leave your home immediately and call the gas company.

For more information on going to, see page 172. For more information on modal verbs, see page 175.

AVOID THE Error

We can also have conditional sentences with the simple present tense in the if clause and the simple present tense or imperative in the main clause. These sentences are often used for giving instructions or stating simple cause-and-effect relationships. These sentences are sometimes called "Conditional 0."

- When my car doesn't start, I'll call my husband.
- ✓ When my car doesn't start, I call my husband.
- If your phone stops working, you'll check the battery.
- If your phone stops working, check the battery.

Clauses with Unless

Unless means "if not" or "except if."

Unless it rains, we will go swimming. They should arrive in a few minutes unless they are lost.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use unless when it does not mean "except if."

Conditional 2 Sentences

We use the conditional 2 to talk about actions that are not true in the present or future. We form the conditional 2 with an if clause in the simple past tense and a main clause with would or could. Even though the verbs appear to be in the past tense, the meaning of the sentence is in the present or future.

If I had a million dollars, I would buy stocks and bonds.

If your car was working, you could pick up Joan at work.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use would in an if clause. Use the simple past tense.

- I would buy a new car if I would have the money.
- I would buy a new car if I had the money.

English speakers frequently use were instead of was in the if clause, especially when giving advice with, "If I were you, …"

If I were you, I'd stop smoking.

AVOID THE Error

In formal settings, use were in place of was in the if clause. In informal settings, you may hear speakers use was or were in these clauses.

- X If I was rich, I'd move to New York. (formal)
- ✓ If I were rich, I'd move to New York.
- ✓ If I were rich, I'd move to New York. (informal)
- ✔ If I was rich, I'd move to New York. (informal)

Conditional 3 Sentences

We use conditional 3 sentences to talk about past actions that are contrary to fact. We often use conditional 3 to express regret about things that didn't happen.

If I had finished high school, I would have gotten a better job. If she had driven straight home, she wouldn't have had an accident.

We form the conditional 3 sentence with a modal verb such as would, could, or should + have + a past participle in the main clause.

MODAL	HAVE	PAST PARTICIPLE
should	have	gone
would	have	written
could	have	avoided

For a list of past participles, see pages 165–166.

The contractions of these verb forms are would've, could've, and should've.

If we had left home earlier, we would've arrived on time.

The contractions of the negative forms are wouldn't have, couldn't have, and shouldn't have.

If you had paid attention to the traffic, you wouldn't have had an accident.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use would of, could of, or should of in place of would've, could've, and should've.

×	If they had bought their plane tickets earlier, they would of got a better price.	1	If they had bought their plane tickets earlier, they would have got a better price.

Do not use wouldn't of, couldn't of, or shouldn't of in place of wouldn't have, couldn't have, and shouldn't have.

🗶 If I ha	ad studied harder, I	<ul> <li>Image: A second s</li></ul>	If I had studied harder, I
woul	dn't of received such		wouldn't have received a low	grade.		such a low grade.

Use the past perfect tense in the if clause. The past perfect tense is formed with the past tense of have (had) and a past participle.

PAST TENSE OF HAD	PAST PARTICIPLE
had	left
had	finished
had	driven

AVOID THE Error

In the past perfect tense, do not use the simple past-tense form of the verb in place of the past participle.

- If I had went to the supermarket, I would have bought some cheese.
- If I had gone to the supermarket, I would have bought some cheese.

The past perfect form of have is had had. Though this construction sounds unusual, it is perfectly correct.

If we had had a first aid kit, we could have bandaged his wound.

Nevertheless, you may want to revise your sentence to avoid the repetition.

If we had brought a first aid kit, we could have bandaged his wound.

AVOID THE Error

In independent clauses, do not use the past perfect tense in place of the simple past tense.

✗ He had gone to the market✓ He went to the market at 5:00.

Exercises

A Complete the sentences by writing the correct form of the verb on the line.

- 1. If I had a million dollars, I ______ (buy) a big house.

If I had studied more, I would have passed the test.

- 2. It may be hot out today, so you might go swimming.
- 3. Tom doesn't have a car, so he can't give his friend a ride to work.
- 4. A blizzard may hit tonight. Then schools will be closed tomorrow.

5. You have the flu. You can't go to work.

IMPERSONAL EXPRESSIONS

Impersonal Expressions with It

A number of impersonal expressions are formed with the pronoun it. A pronoun is a word that replaces another noun. I, me, you, he, him, her, and it are all pronouns. We use the pronoun it as a subject or an object of a verb:

What's that? It's Tim's new car. (subject) I bought it for Mary. (object)

For more information on pronouns, see page 88.

We also use it in several impersonal expressions. In these expressions, it doesn't replace a noun.

It's 3 o'clock. It's sunny and warm. It's getting cooler. It's nice to go to the beach in hot weather.

We use impersonal expressions with it + be to say the time, to describe the weather, to describe actions, and to describe commonly held beliefs.

AVOID THE Error

Do not confuse it's (contraction of it + is) with its (possessive form of it). Use it's in impersonal expressions with it.

X Its raining

It's raining.

Saying the Time

We use it and a form of be to say the time.

It's noon—time for lunch.

What time is it? It's five o'clock.

We can also use it + morning, afternoon, or evening.

It's morning.

Do not use a plural subject or verb when saying the time. Do not omit the subject.

- ✗ They are eleven o'clock. ✓ It's eleven o'clock.
- X Are eleven o'clock.

Describing the Weather

We use it + be + adjective to describe the weather.

It's very rainy this afternoon. It was sunny and warm at the beach. It will be hot all afternoon.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use make to describe the weather. Use a form of be.

X It makes cold.

✓ It is cold.

We use it + verb to describe the weather. The verbs include rain, snow, sleet, hail, and pour.

It snowed all day yesterday. It's hailing now. It never rains in the Mojave desert. It snows every winter in the Rocky Mountains.

We also use it + adjective to describe the weather. The adjectives include sunny, dark, light, rainy, stormy, cloudy, cool, damp, hot, humid, icy, misty, muggy, warm, wet, and windy.

It's stormy tonight. It was cold yesterday. It will be hot and muggy again tomorrow. It's freezing outside this morning.

AVOID THE Error

Do not use it's + participle to describe the weather when an adjective is required.

X It's storming.

It's stormy.

✓ It's sunny.

X It's shining.

We can also use other linking verbs in impersonal expressions with it.

It looks sunny. It seems hazy. It appears cloudy.

For more information on linking verbs, see page 122.

We use it and a form of get or become to describe changes to the weather.

It's getting colder and colder. It's becoming cloudy.

Describing Actions

Expressions with it, a form of be, and an adjective are used to describe actions. A gerund or an infinitive can follow the adjective. For more information on gerunds and infinitives, see page 207.

It's easy to make chocolate chip cookies. It's interesting living in a foreign country. It was stupid to drive the car on the beach.

Expressing Ideas Many People Hold

Expressions with it and a form of be are used with verbs such as believe and think to express ideas that many people hold.

It's thought that nearly three million visitors come to our city each year.

It's said that Lincoln was one of the best U.S. presidents.

It's believed that Lincoln was born in 1809.

Describing Conditions

We can use it + adjective to describe conditions in a time or a place.

It was difficult during the Depression.

Impersonal It as an Object

We can use the impersonal it as the object of a verb such as like, dislike, or hate to describe our feelings.

I like it here in Taiwan.

Do not omit the impersonal it.

- Is twelve o'clock.
- Is hard to get up early.
- ✓ It's twelve o'clock.
- ✓ It's hard to get up early.

Impersonal Expressions with There

There is an adverb used to describe location.

He moved to Los Angeles in 2004. He lived there for three years.

For more information on adverbs, see page 222.

There is also used with a form of the verb be in a number of impersonal expressions.

There is a spider under the table.

Describing the Existence of Something

Impersonal expressions with there and a form of be are used to describe the existence of something.

There's a nice restaurant on Main Street.

For information on singular and uncountable nouns, see pages 47 and 51.

In expressions with there, use a plural verb when the noun following the verb is plural.

There are three children in the Ramos family. (Children is plural.)

There are several reasons for this request. (Reasons is plural.)

For information on plural nouns, see page 47.

AVOID THE Error

When two nouns follow there, use a singular verb if the first noun in the series is singular or an uncountable noun.

- There are a mother duck and some baby ducklings in the pond.
- There are some flour and some chocolate chips on the kitchen table.
- There is a mother duck and some baby ducklings in the pond. (The first noun, mother duck, is singular.)
- There is some flour and some chocolate chips on the kitchen table. (Some flour is uncountable.)

When the first noun in the series is plural and the second is singular or an uncountable noun, the verb is plural.

- There is three books and a magazine on the table.
- There are three books and a magazine on the table.

We form questions with there by inverting there and be.

Are there more folding chairs in the storage room? Why is there a clown costume on the kitchen table?

AVOID THE Error

Do not use exist in place of there are.

- Exist various reasons people choose to live in large cities.
- There are various reasons people choose to live in large cities.

Language of Technology

New computer technology has given us a lot of new words:

```
Internet
e-mail or email blog home page web browser or Web browser text or text message
```

There is not complete agreement on the spelling or capitalization of these words. Choose one style and use it consistently.

You should, however, capitalize technology tools that are brand names.

Twitter Facebook

Google

Some of these brand names have related nouns and verbs. There is not complete agreement on the capitalization of these words, though the tendency is to capitalize nouns but not verbs.

The president tweets many times a day. Many people read his Tweets. I googled that online. (common) The president Tweets many times a day. (equally common)

I Googled that online. (less common)

AVOID THE Error

In informal English on the Internet, users use many abbreviations to type more quickly when writing e-mails, instant messages, and blog entries. These abbreviations are OK in informal online communication, but they should be avoided in more formal writing.

BTW, when do you get off work tomorrow?	<ul> <li>By the way, when do you get off work tomorrow?</li> </ul>
X Please do it ASAP .	<ul> <li>Please do it as soon as possible.</li> </ul>

A My friends and me went out together on Saturday. First we had gone to see a movie on the Downtown Cinema on around 5 oclock. After seeing the movie, we went to Patricca's Pizza to have pizza. Than Mike invited my friends and I to go to his house to play pool and watching the TV. We stayed until 11 AM. I didn't want to stay late, because I wanted to go at church on the Sunday.

B My roommate and I go to the supermarket usually in the Saturday afternoons. The supermarket is more busier on the Saturday mornings, which is why we go at the afternoon. As a matter of fact we just gotten back from the supermarket a few hours ago. We bought a milk, some meats, two boxes of cereals, and a lot of fruit and vegetable. We also bought a yogurt and a biggest bottle of laundry detergent. Next, we are going to go to the laundromat to wash our cloths.

C I had a bad day yesterday. First, I had woke up late because the alarm no go off. So I putted on my clothes and run out the door. I hurryed to the bus stop, but just as I came around the corner the bus pulling away. I had to wait twenty minutes for the next one. I tryed to call my boss, but my cell phone was'nt working. Then it started rain. I hid under a tree until the bus comes. When I finally got at work, the boss yelled at me. He said, "If you will be late again, you will to be fired!" So at lunch, I buyed a new alarm clock.

We also bought some yogurt and a big bottle of laundry detergent. Next, we are going to go the laundromat to wash our clothes.

C I had a bad day yesterday. First, I woke up late because the alarm didn't go off. So I put on my clothes and ran out the door. I hurried to the bus stop, but just as I came around the corner the bus was pulling (orpulled) away. I had to wait twenty minutes for the next one. I tried to call my boss, but my cell phone wasn't working. Then it started to rain. I hid under a tree until the bus came. When I finally got to work, the boss yelled at me. He said, "If you are late again, you will be fired!" So at lunch, I bought a new alarm clock.

D Robert's favorite sport is rock climbing. He practices at a gym near his house. The gym has a high wall with some rocks in it. He wears special equipment to climb up the wall. Last weekend, he invited me to join him at the gym. I took one look at the rock wall and said that I never would climb up. Then Robert began climbing. But while he was climbing, he slipped. Luckily, the harness caught him, so he wasn't hurt. After that, I was really glad I didn't climb the wall.

My uncle Don is an amazing man. He is over seventy years old, but he still gets up at 5:30 every day and walks for five miles. Even if it is raining, he still walks. If the weather is very bad, he goes to an indoor swimming pool near his house. Then he swims for an hour. Then he goes to work. On weekends, he has a stand at the flea market. He sells and repairs old bicycles. On Saturday nights he is never too tired to go dancing with his girlfriend. When I am old, I hope I am like my uncle.
